TROOPS REBEL, TAKE CONTROL OVER MADEIRA

Mutineers Seize Civil and Military Powers in Island Revolt.

LISBON GOVERNMENT ACTS TO HALT MOVE

Two Ships Prepared to Carry 600 Soldiers to Fight Down Rebellion.

Lisbon, Portugal, April 5 (A.P.).—Rebellious troops at Funchal, Madeira, succeeded last night in wresting control from civil and military representatives of the Lisbon government, it was learned today.

An emergency session of the cabinet here directed that troops be ordered to Funchal immediately. A strict censorship has been clamped down on all messages between here and the island.

Reports reaching here despite the censorship said two army officers, both lieutenants, had incited the mutiny.

They raided the military barracks and arrested Col. Silva Leal, the high commissioner, and other officers who refused to join them.

Taken Without Resistance.

They took over the town without resistance and raided the government here its representatives had been overthrown and the military junta in control would take orders only from a legally constituted "national" government at the capital.

Today, it was reported, Funchal was plastered with proclamations announcing the overthrow of the island government and assuring the people adequate measures had been taken for the preservation of law and order.

But instead of negotiating with the rebels, the government here determined to retaliate in kind.

Until after dawn today such members of the cabinet as could be gathered quickly met in emergency session to formulate its program, then met again late tonight with almost a complete membership present. The others were scattered through the country for the Easter holidays.

Two Ships Prepared.

Already two ships have been prepared to carry 600 soldiers from the Lisbon garrison to the islands, and the cruiser Carvaleo Adaujo and the destroyer Guduiana were expected to sail tonight.

Paris, April 5 (A.P.).—The Reuters correspondent at Funchal, Madeira, sent word today that troops had mutinied in the barracks there, seizing the civil and military powers and placing them in the hands of Gen. Sousa Piaz, the senior officer present.

Word of the rebellion in the islands first came out of Lisbon late last night in reports which indicated the movement was directed against the Carmona dictatorship. The original reports said the civil population was in sympathy with the action of the army, and the objective of both was

Calvin Coolidge Says:

To those who recall how important the United States Army appeared on the 6th of April, 1917, this anniversary will seem a fitting time for the Nation to give some thought to its military establishment. Human nature takes things for granted that have long existed. We forget that the constant effort and care of some one makes them so. In spite of all our other precautions, the peace we enjoy still has in it a large element of preparation for national defense. No self-respecting people desiring to live under a reign of law at home and abroad can afford to neglect their army.

Public security depends to a large extent on the knowledge that the Government has power to enforce its decrees.

Our own Army is not merely an instrument of war. It serves in peace. The Engineering Corps built the Panama Canal and supervises Mississippi flood control and river and harbor improvement. The Medical Corps overcame the scourge of yellow fever. For many years the War Department administered our insular possessions. The people can look on the past and present of their Army, its distinguished soldiers and its great accomplishments with satisfaction and confidence. We have an Army that is not militaristic.

EASTER CEREMONIES ATTRACT THOUSANDS

President and Mrs. Hoover Lead Nation at Rites; Churches Filled.

Chill winds and nonappearance of the famed cherry blossoms failed to discourage the Easter festival spirit in Washington yesterday.

Led by President and Mrs. Hoover, and Vice President Curtis, residents of the city and approximately 100,000 visitors thronged to religious observances in various parts of the city and later took part in the "Easter parade," which was modified somewhat because of the cold, gloomy weather.

The President and Mrs. Hoover made their first appearance of the day when they joined about 8,000 men and women in the white circle of the Arlington Amphitheater for patriotic and religious services held under the auspices of the Grand Commandery, Knights Templar. Hundreds were turned away from the services.

The President appeared in a new silk hat for his gesture toward the Easter tradition. Mrs. Hoover was simply attired in a dark blue coat, with a plain hat of the same color and a soft straw hat which fitted closely on her head. Her shoes were plain—black tie oxfords—worn with light beige hose.

At her first appearance, at the sunrise services, she wore a dark brown fox scarf over her coat, but this was left off when she attended church with the President later at the Friends Meeting House.

Five automobiles were in the Presidential party. White House guests and attaches having been invited to attend the services at Arlington. In the party were Miss Peggy Large, Mrs. Hoover's niece; Miss Susan Dyer, a friend, and Miss Ruth Fessler, her confidential secretary. All three were attired in winter clothes.

The President caught a slight cold as he sat in the cold wind which breezed through the amphitheater from the Potomac, but it did not prevent him from attending a second Easter service later in the day at the Friends Meeting House.

The Vice President made his appearance in the afternoon when he laid the cornerstone of the new Metropolitan Memorial Methodist Episcopal Church, at Nebraska and New Mexico avenues, of which he is a member.

In the services, the gavel and trowel used by George Washington in laying the cornerstone of the Capitol were wielded by the Vice President.

Easter pilgrimages to Washington Cathedral drew a record number of visitors to Mount St. Albans, approximately 14,000 climbing the hill to take part in the services.

Visitors from many parts of the United States, Government officials and representatives of the Diplomatic Corps were members of the congregations, giving a national aspect to the many services held throughout the day.

The procession of worshipers was led at the service at 11 o'clock by the ornamental gold and silver processional cross, sent by the Emperor of

BANDIT'S SHOT DURING HOLDUP KILLS WOMAN

Mrs. Lizzie Jaynes Dies of Wound Suffered in Shop Robbery.

$300 REWARD SPURS HUNT FOR 2 SLAYERS

Searchers Without Tangible Clews to Identity of Masked Pair.

Bandit guns claimed their second victim in less than three weeks when Mrs. Lizzie Jaynes died last night in Garfield Hospital.

Following closely after James H. Lane, street car motorman, died from a robber's bullet, Mrs. Jaynes, 59-year-old cashier at the Garden T Shoppe at Eighteenth street and Columbia road northwest, succumbed to a bullet wound sustained Friday night from the automatic pistol in the hands of one of two armed and masked bandits who held up and robbed the restaurant.

Mrs. Jaynes died at 6:15 o'clock from the wound in her abdomen.

Search on for Slayer.

When police were notified of the death, all the members of the homicide squad available were assigned to the search for her slayers. They are without any tangible clews to the identity of the men, for, although several persons witnessed the robbery and shooting, none of them would be able to identify the criminals, who were masked.

The car in which they escaped after the holdup was found abandoned near the Connecticut avenue entrance of the Zoo Saturday night by Fourteenth Precinct police. It was stolen from Leo Finn, of 3832 Grammercy street northwest, and equipped with tags stolen from the car of Edmund Wilson, of the Ontario Apartments.

Apparently Accidental.

Apparently the shooting was accidental, for the bandits had taken the money from the cash drawer and one of them was asking Miss Mildred Colt, another employe, of 1712 Summit place, if there was any more money in the place.

Suddenly a pistol was discharged, but Mrs Jaynes did not flinch, and did not realize that she was wounded. She gave police her report of the affair and then went to her home, 1316 New Hampshire avenue northwest. Here, two hours later, she felt her leg becoming numb and discovered her wound. She was then removed to the hospital.

Police said last night they believed the bandits were residents of the lo-

Retired Tailor Dies From Fall Injuries

Coroner Withholds Verdict Pending Police Report on Theater Plunge.

Julius Sheers, retired tailor, of Spring road near Fourteenth street northwest, who fell from the eighth floor of the Earle Theater Building late Saturday afternoon, died yesterday morning at Emergency Hospital.

Coroner J. Ramsay Nevitt withheld a verdict pending a report on the facts of the case from the homicide squad.

Mr. Sheers fell from the top of the fire escape of the theater building and landed on the last stage of the escape near the ground. He received a crushed right leg and internal injuries. He was a victim of heart disease, according to physicians at Emergency Hospital.

$10,000 to Be Given Zain Ad Test Victors

$1,000 Grand Award and $9,000 More in Cash and Merchandise to Go to Amateur Ad Writers in Open Competition.

ZAIN—that magical, curiosity-arousing name that has appeared for days in the advertising columns of The Post—may mean $1,000.

Certainly it will mean that amount for some one, and $9,000 more for all in cash and merchandise awarded over a period of seven weeks.

And all you have to do to win one or more prizes is to write an ad for one or all of the 35 local business concerns whose names appear elsewhere in The Post.

The Post-Zain Ad-Writing Contest opens today, and is strictly an amateur contest. If you're a professional advertising writer or newspaper employe you can not enter.

That lets us out. But we are going to have just as much fun as you in this fascinating, educational and mentally stimulating game of amateur ad writing.

For writing ads, as you are going to find out, is easy, and the best of fun, even if professional advertising men are paid salaries for it. While you are playing a game you will be learning something perhaps you have always wanted to learn—the principles of advertising.

At the end of seven weeks The Post will pay $1,000 for the most original, striking and all-round best ad written by an amateur in the entire contest. And every seven days of the contest a weekly prize of $100 will be paid. Every week five additional prizes in merchandise will be awarded through each of the 35 business firms cooperating with The Post in the contest.

There are no restrictions on the number of prizes you can win. Anybody can enter.

The Post believes the contest will stimulate interest in ad writing and ad reading, and boost Washington business at a time it most needs a boost.

All it takes to write an ad is a pencil, a piece of paper and an idea. Sit down now and try to write one, just to see how easy it really is. It may be a slogan, a clever phrase, a testi-

SECOND U.S. WOMAN DIES OF QUAKE HURTS

People Celebrate Easter in Baseball Field; Men to Work for Food.

Managua, Nicaragua, April 5 (A.P.). Every able-bodied man in this prostrate city will have to work for the food that is being distributed among the homeless thousands under the supervision of a food-relief committee headed by Col. Dan Sultan, of the United States Marines.

Matthew E. Hanna, United States Minister, said today the committee would divide the city into districts over each of which a subcommittee will superintend distribution of rations. There is plenty of work to be done, cleaning up the debris left by last week's tearthquake and fire, and the pay will be in food.

Although the business of reconstruction is uppermost in the minds of Nicaraguans, government officials are giving much thought to the advisability of removing the seat of government from Managua.

Former President Adolfo Diaz, commenting today on a proposal to set up the capital at Matagalpa, pointed out that city was better suited geographically for governmental purposes, but it would be necessary to link it by rail with the terminal at Managua and funds for such an undertaking are not in eight.

In the midst of the misery and ruins, Managua's people celebrated Easter as best they could today at a mass in a baseball field on the outskirts of the city. All the churches

THREE BANDITS ROB GARAGE IN MARYLAND

Escape Is Made in Light, Speedy Coupe With District License Tags.

Driving up to Huddleston's Garage, in Bladensburg, Md., three men in a coupe held up Eddie Gorrell, employe at the garage, and took an unestimated sum of money from a safe in the rear office of the establishment.

Two of the men are reported to have entered the garage while one remained at the wheel of the small, speedy automobile. Gorrell was forced to face the wall while one of the men rifled the safe.

"We'll blow your brains out if you turn around," one of the men is quoted as having told Gorrell.

As soon as he heard the car speed off, Gorrell dashed from the garage in time to see it rapidly disappearing. The machine did not have a tail light and bore a District tag, the garage employe said.

A check of the week-end receipts of the garage was being made at a late hour last night to determine exactly how much was stolen. The sum is expected to reach several hundred dollars as a record day's business was done with the large Easter crowds on the Bladensburg highway, it was reported.

Watch was kept on all roads leading to Washington and Baltimore, and a radio look-out was broadcast. Constables Andrew Gasch and Charles Wilson, of Prince Georges County, are investigating the case.

City Bridge Fans Hail Post's Tournament

Prominent Players From the Various Embassies Insure Social Aspect of Event; Teams and Contests Are Planned.

Washington bridge fans are responding with enthusiasm to the announcement of The Washington Post yesterday that it will sponsor the first city-wide bridge tournament in the National Capital.

The social aspect of the event is emphasized by the assurance of prominent bridge players, who are affiliated with the leading clubs, that it is their intention to organize teams for participation. The announcement also has served to disclose the fact that there are a good many members of the diplomatic set who are experts at the game and are keenly interested, and some of them are willing and anxious to match their skill against the best that can be developed in Washington.

Herbert B. F. Brett, of the British Embassy, is rated as one of the top-notchers, as all who have ever encountered him at the bridge table are ready to admit. He played abroad long before being assigned to Washington, and during his residence here has played much in social circles and at the defferent clubs where he has won distinction as a player and added greatly to his personal popularity. Mr. Brett has given the tournament his hearty indorsement, and will cooperate to the fullest extent toward making it the success that is predicted for it.

Dr. E. L. Baer, of the German Embassy, is another member of the Diplomatic Corps who is a bridge enthusiast, and while he is very modest in discussing his prowess at the game, those who have had the good fortune to draw him as a partner do not hesitate to place him in the front ranks as a player. Dr. Baer plays bridge for its mental stimulus and social enjoyment.

The French Embassy puts forward as its star player Jules Henry, now counselor, and formerly first secretary of the embassy. No one who has ever had the pleasure of his delightful company at bridge will gainsay his popularity, or attempt to discount his skill at the game.

It is a source of much regret to the players in diplomatic circles that M. Lipkowski, the Counselor of the Polish Embassy, will not be in Washington next month to take part in the tournament, and this regret is shared by others who have had occasion to learn of the science of the game which his playing reveals.

M. Lipkowski is soon to sail for Poland, otherwise there would be opportunity to observe in his play the same sort of technique at bridge which not a few of his countrymen have shown the world at the game of chess in which they are acknowledged experts.

The Polish counselor is one of those who began playing contract when it was first introduced, having played in Warsaw and other European capitals long before he came to Washington, and, in fact, for several years

Autogiro Experiments Win Collier Award for Pitcairn

Philadelphia Aviation Expert and Associates Develop and Apply Spanish Inventor's Peculiar Craft; Hoover Is Expected to Present Trophy.

(Associated Press.)

Harold F. Pitcairn, Philadelphia, and his associates were named yesterday to receive the Collier trophy award for 1930 for their development and application of the autogiro—the airplane which is sustained in flight by four horizontal, paddle-like blades.

Announcement of the award "for the greatest achievement in aviation in America, the value of which has been demonstrated by actual use during the preceding year," was made by Senator Bingham, Connecticut, president of the National Aeronautic Association.

It was expected that President Hoover, following a custom, would present the trophy at the White House ceremony.

The trophy, donated by the late Robert J. Collier, was first awarded in 1911 to Glenn H. Curtiss, for his development and demonstration of the hydro-airplane.

Mr. Pitcairn brought to the United States the first autogiro, a plane invented in Spain by Juan de la Cierva in 1928. The award announcement terms the autogiro "the most revolutionary development in heavier-than-air craft since the first flights of the Wright brothers in 1909."

The autogiro has stub wings and four long wing-like rotors which give it lift while it is pulled through the air by a conventional propeller.

The horizontal "butter paddles" rotate without engine power, allowing the craft to take off with a short run at low speed, climb steeply, hover at a near standstill, and come down with little landing run. It can descend with a "dead" engine at a speed less than that of a man falling with a parachute.

RASKOB POLLS COMMITTEE ON RUM ATTITUDE

Democratic Chief Writes Letter to Members; Backs Home Rule.

SEEKS TO RECONCILE DIVERGENT OPINIONS

Favors Submission of Issue to People; Airs Views on Other Questions.

(Associated Press.)

An appeal to each member of the Democratic national committee that he forward to Washington his individual recommendations for the 1932 platform—"particularly" on prohibition—went forward yesterday from Chairman John J. Raskob.

In letters made public yesterday, the chairman repeated the "home rule plan" recommendation he advanced before the recent meeting of the committee here, which stirred the ire of Southern Democrats, led by the party's Senate leader, Joseph T. Robinson, of Arkansas.

Mr. Raskob wrote that he had advanced the plan, proposing a substitute for the eighteenth amendment under which the States could be wet or dry, in the hope that the committee might come to "a common and definite understanding on this question."

Would Reconcile Attitudes.

He begged members from dry States "to realize that perhaps the most outstanding problem" facing the committee was "to attempt in some way to reconcile the dry attitude of the party in the South with the liberal attitude of the party in the North."

"If these opposing factions can not be reconciled," Raskob contended, "we must squarely face the fact that our party is really divided into two parties, because there is no gainsaying the fact that the Northern Democrats, electing candidates on the prohibition issue in such great States as New York, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Ohio and Illinois, three of which States are normally Republican, are strongly demanding some constructive change in our present prohibition laws."

Mr. Raskob termed prohibition "the issue on which there is the gravest controversy within our own ranks, and, therefore, the one demanding our closest, most thoughtful consideration."

Silly to Ignore Issue.

"Perhaps it is a dangerous complication," he said. "So is cancer a dangerous complication. How silly it would be to disregard the symptoms

4 Dead, 12 Injured, In Japanese Storm

Buildings at Air Station Are Leveled; Loss Put at $5,000,000.

Tokyo, April 5 (A.P.).—Four persons were killed and twelve injured by a terrific whirlwind which early today swept the army aviation station at Tachiarai, on the Island Kiushiu. Twenty-one airplanes were destroyed and 50 others were damaged.

A number of houses also were destroyed by the wind, which was accompanied by hail. Damage was estimated at approximately $5,000,000. The whirlwind swept a path only about 35 yards wide. It leveled all the hangars at the air station except one.

Those killed were women and children, crushed beneath falling walls.

QUESTIONS FRAMED FOR FLAG CONTEST

Questions designed to impart a broader vision of real patriotism and a greater knowledge of the United States Flag and the ideals and institutions symbolized by it are now being prepared by officials of the United States Flag Association for use in the written examination and oral quiz of contestants in the patriotic pilgrimage in this country and the good will trip to Europe contest being sponsored by the Flag Association with the cooperation of The Washington Post. This examination and quiz will take place at the preliminary tert Saturday in the Franklin Administration Building, Thirteenth and K streets northwest.

One of the objects of the contest, officials of the Flag Association state, is to inculcate into the youth of today a broader spirit of rational patriotism, a more profound knowledge of the real ideals and institutions of the United States as embodied in the soul of the Declaration of Independence and in the charter provisions of the Constitution, and to instill into them a spirit of world friendship that will permit reason at a conference table, rather than force on the battlefield, to settle any dispute which may arise between the United States and other countries when the boys and girls of today shall be in control of the America of tomorrow.

There is in this no spirit of pacifism, as the term is generally understood, Flag Association officials say, and point to the fact that such famous fighters as Gen. Pershing, Admiral Sims, Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Admiral Pratt, Maj. Gen. Fuller and others of like ilk would never have given the project their hearty indorsement, as they have done, had this been the case.

Study of history has been stimulated in the high schools of Washington by the announcement of the contest. Libraries have been besieged for books and the demand of students for "The American Flag Its Glory and Grandeur," has been so great that the libraries of the city have been unable to meet it, many of the contestants going to stores for copies of the book.

Based on these facts, Flag Association officials point out that every contestant will win, through acquiring knowledge which he otherwise would never have gained, and, in addition to that, there are a large number of material awards, including the "Old Glory Medal" for every pupil qualifying for the preliminary test; the patriotic service medal, second highest award of the Flag Association, for the six boys and six girls who reach the finals, and the cross of honor, the highest decoration of the United States Flag Association, which was bestowed on Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, and former President Calvin Coolidge, for the two ultimate winners. This last award, in

Minister, Allegedly Shot By Rival Cleric, Succumbs

Jailed Missouri Pastor May Face Killing Charges; Police Believe Successful Revival at Church May Have Been Cause of Fight.

Nevada, Mo., April 5 (A.P.).—The Rev. George Rider, 43-year-old evangelist, of Kansas City, died here today from bullet wounds allegedly inflicted yesterday by another minister, the Rev. J. A. Brown, 67, at Halleys Bluff, in northeast Vernon County.

Brown, under arrest in the Vernon County Jail here, will be charged with first-degree murder, Webster Hallett, Vernon County prosecutor, has indicated. An inquest is scheduled for tomorrow.

Officers said they have not established a direct motive for the shooting, but believe Rider's recent successful revival at the Christian Union Church, from which Brown resigned as pastor last December, may have been a factor. The church has no regular denominational affiliation.

Mrs. Rider told officers she and her husband went to Brown's home to ask him to conduct Easter services at Halley's Bluff today so the Riders could attend a funeral in Kansas City.

She said Brown twice struck Rider with his fist and then shot him as he was leaving the yard to get in his car. Rider's only antagonistic gesture, she said, was to push Brown away from him following Brown's first blow.

G. P. McCumber, Vernon County deputy sheriff and a member of the Christian Union Church, arrested Brown soon after the alleged shooting. He said he found Brown leaving his home with a pistol and a shotgun in his hands. Physicians said Rider was wounded twice by revolver bullets.

SHOT-RIDDLED BODY IS LINKED WITH OLD FEUD

Victim, Emanuel Thorne, Missing From Barracks Since January 17.

MURDERED PRIVATE HATED BY COMRADE

Foe Jailed Six Months and Discharged From Naval Service.

VINCENT SELBICKY STILL IS IN CUSTODY

Musician Maintains Silence While Awaiting Hearing in Maryland Today.

The body of the man whose bullet-riddled body was found Saturday in a shallow grave a short distance over the District line in Greater Capitol Heights, Md., was positively identified yesterday as Private Emanuel Thorne, 23 years old, a Marine. Private Thorne had been absent without leave from his station at the Marine Barracks here since about January 17.

Identification was established by Private John Edgar Harmon, 26 years old, a resident of 901 Eleventh street southeast, a fellow Marine at the barracks and Thorne's intimate friend since their rookie "devil dog" days at the Marine encampment in Parris Island, S. C.

Coupled with the identification came a report from another Marine on duty at the barracks, whose name police are zealously guarding. Thorne was bitterly hated by a one-time Marine, who had been sent to jail for six months and dishonorably discharged on Thorne's testimony after a fight betwee nthe pair approximately two years ago. Marine Barracks, informed that statements were being solicited from Marines, issued an order forbidding any of their men from talking about any matter concerning the post.

Selbicky Held in Jail.

Meanwhile, Prince Georges County authorities continued to hold in jail incommunicado, at Upper Marlboro, Md., Vincent Selbicky, a musician with the United States Marine Band, who was arrested shortly after the body was found about 300 yards behind his home.

Selbicky has maintained a stolid silence regarding the case. Judge Thomas D. Griffith, of Forrestville, Md., whose coroner's jury impaneled Saturday night found that the dead man met death from three bullet wounds, said yesterday that Selbicky probably will be grilled at length today. He indicated that the inquest, originally set for next Monday, may be held sooner. Selbicky was being held on a technical charge of investigation.

Spurred to redoubled effort after identification had been made in the late afternoon, county officers at once sought to establish the nature of any possible friendship that might have existed between Thorne and Selbicky. A check showed that in the ordinary performance of their duties, they would not have been brought together. Selbicky, always residing out of the Barracks, went there only for band practice in the auditorium, while Thorne's duties there had consisted only in kitchen duty and guard duty.

No Weapon Found.

Another search in the vicinity of the grave failed to reveal any clue or the weapon used in the crime. The lead bullets, of .32 caliber, were found to be of a type used only in revolvers.

Of the three bullets, one pierced the spine, another lodged in the head and a third splitthe left elbow.

Private Gorman, uninformed that the Marine order for silence had been issued, promptly notified authorities when he recognized the body as Thorne's from the description of the dead man in newspapers.

Taken by a reporter of The Washington Post to the funeral parlors of Ritchie Bros. at Ritchie Station, Md. where the body had ben removed, the Marine without hesitation made a positive identification of his friend and shortly afterward submitted all facts in his possession to Judge Griffith at the latter's home.

Description Leads to Identification.

"Even before I viewed the body I knew that it was that of Thorne because of the general description, the finding in his pockets of a leather wallet bearing the initials 'E. T.' and the presence of the single initial "T." on his belt buckle," declared Gorman.

"Thorne a couple of months ago liked a wallet I made for myself, and at his request I made him a similar one, carved out his initials on it and also on the other side carved out, 'My Own.' He always wore a belt with the letter 'T.'

"Except for the now distorted appearance of his face, all else fits. He was about my size, about 5 feet 6 or 7 inches, very stocky, with bulging legs and sandy hair. These clothes are his. I remember him showing me the suit when he bought it not long ago at a credit shop. It's the same one, with double-breasted vest, a funny diamond-shaped design on the lining of the vest and coat. This is his light gray-colored overcoat, too.

Home in Georgia.

"His home was in Augusta, Ga., where, I'm almost sure, he enlisted during the latter part of 1927. After I had enlisted in New York City at that time, we met while we were receiving training at Parris Island, S. C., and formed a close friendship. We went around a lot there together. He was transferred here in February, 1928, and I was sent up in August, both of us working together on kitchen duty at the barracks for quite a while.

were wrecked, but great congregations attended the open air services.

Three more names were added tonight to the list of the dead.

Mrs. Louis R. Rossich, wife of a gunnery sergeant in the Marines, died of a fractured skull in the Red Cross Field Hospital.

Lieut. Humberto Castillo and Quartermaster Mora, of the Nicaragua national guard, died of injuries at a hospital in Granada.

Will Rogers, sometimes called America's ambassador-at-large, is coming down here by airplane next Tuesday, it was announced today. President Moncada said he was looking forward eagerly to the visit, and in many quarters the announcement was regarded as the best news Managua has had since the first relief supplies arrived.

(Associated Press.)

The Navy announced last night that doctors, attaches and women nurses for quake-stricken Managua, along with tons of medical and surgical supplies, had reached Corinto during the morning aboard the "relief" Navy hospital ship.

The Relief transferred her patients in midocean to battleships off Lower California to race toward Corinto shortly after the earthquake destroyed the Nicaraguan capitol. She carried several hundred cots, tents, and, in addition to other medical supplies, 73,000 units of tetanus antitoxin.

The oiler Salinas, now at Balboa, will sail Tuesday for Corinto with 30,000 food rations which Rear Admiral Arthur St. C. Smith estimated would supply present need.

Admiral Smith reported to the Navy that the transport Chaumont sailed Saturday night for Balboa, carrying 185 American women and children, some of whom will be reshipped from the Canal Zone on other vessels, while 75 will be brought to American Atlantic Coast ports on the Chaumont, due to arrive at Hampton Roads April 13.

THOUSANDS ATTEND SERVICES AT EASTER

Ethiopia. The cross was presented last week to Bishop Freeman by State Department officials in behalf of the Abyssinian soverign.

Open-Air Service Necessary.

Festival services conducted simultaneously in the Bethlehem Chapel, the Chapel of the Ressurrection and the Chapel of St. Joseph of Arimathea at 11 o'clock and 4 o'clock were thronged. Hundreds were unable to gain admittance to the 11 o'clock service and an overflow service in the open air amphitheater on the cathedral hillside were necessary. Others services were held at 7:30, 9:30 and 10 a. m.

Approximately 10,000 were drawn to the sunrise services at Walter Reed Hospital at 7:30 o'clock yesterday morning.

About 600 nurses and hospital attaches in white uniforms formed the traditional "living cross" in the garden amphitheater. A concert of sacred music was presented by the Army Band in conjunction with a huge chorus. The Rev. Julian E. Yates, chief of Army chaplains, delivered the sermon, and members of the Army Student Nurse Corps presented a tableau, "The Empty Tomb."

Bedridden Hear Chaplain.

Patients in wheel chairs were out for the services and the voice of the chaplain, standing beside a great cross of lillies, was carried by radio to bedridden soldiers.

Easter services were held in all Catholic churches throughout the city. Solemn Pontifical High Mass was celebrated by the Right Rev. John M. McNamara, auxiliary bishop of the archdiocese at St. Gabriel's Church.

The Fifth Annual Easter Eventide Services, under the auspices of the National and International Community Bible Readers League were held at the Sylvan Theater on the Monument Grounds from 4:30 to 6 o'clock. A prelude of religious music was presented by the Elks Boys Band and Boy Scout musicians figured in the services.

Many of the Protestant churches presented special cantatas and programs of religious music at their evening services.

Excursions Bring Crowds.

Crowds were brought from outside points to enjoy Easter in the Capital by 15 special trains which reached the city Saturday. In addition to these trains there were the half dozen regular excursions which run into Washington every week-end, and the 110 regular trains which normally operate into the Capital.

While the lack of cherry blossoms proved a disappointment to the visitors, the cold weather having kept them from bursting into bloom, Easter was not entirely without floral beauty.

Brilliant yellow forsythia was blooming in many private and public gardens and on the White House lawn the Japanese magnolias were blooming.

TAX-INCREASE PLAN AROUSES PROTESTS

Leaders of All Factions Are Unanimous in Opposing Senator Bingham.

(Associated Press.)

The proposal of Senator Bingham for a blanket increase in income levies and a lowering of existing exemptions to curb extravagant Federal spending was given a frigid reception yesterday by leaders of all factions in Congress.

The Connecticut Republican, a member of both the finance and appropriations committees, meanwhile pointed out that hardly more than 2,500,000 persons pay income taxes now. He insisted the thousands now unobligated should have it brought home to them that they should bear a share of the increased cost of government.

Commenting on the New Englander's sweeping tax program, Senator Watson, of Indiana, the majority floor leader, said:

"I am opposed to any further taxation because I don't think it is necessary under existing conditions."

The Indianan believes the huge Treasury deficit can be met by sale of short-term securities, which the Government already has succeeded in marketing at low interest charges.

Senator Norris, of Nebraska, a leader of the independent wing of the Republican party, said he did not agree with Bingham's "method of taxation."

"I'm not opposed to an increase in taxes if there's going to be a deficit, but the increase should be applied on inheritance taxes and on the higher brackets, or larger incomes," he said, adding:

"I am opposed to issuance of bonds. I don't want to increase taxes on the smaller incomes, nor do I want to cut down the exemptions, as Senator Bingham proposes."

Senator Harris, of Georgia, ranking Democrat on the Senate appropriations committee, said it was idle to talk about shifting the burden of taxation on the people with small incomes.

"The income tax never was intended to fall upon the people of small means," he added. "Every argument for it was based on the ground that men of great wealth did not pay a fair share of the taxes.

Says Small Incomes Safe.

"There is no chance of putting this tax on small incomes. I believe in holding down expenditures and I do not believe it will be necessary to increase taxes. I am opposed to Senator Bingham's plan in toto."

Regarding Senator Bingham's suggestion for a revival of some of the "nuisance" taxes, including levies on automobile sales and bank checks, Senator Harris said:

"A stamp tax on checks in peace time with our rate of income is not worth while discussing. Automobile users already are paying heavily through license and gasoline levies."

Only 20 Votes for Increase.

Declaring "accommodating Hiram has guessed wrong again," Representative LaGuardia, of New York, a leader of the independent Republican group in the House, said Senator Bingham's plan would not get more than 20 votes in the House.

The proposal, he added, would have no importance "were it not for the fact that it represents the tendency of the very rich who are getting richer by the depression and who are seeking to crush the small business men, the farmers and the salaried classes.

"It seems to me that this plan must have been handed to Senator Bingham by that same group who used him to plant one of their lobbyists in the Senate committee considering the last tariff.

Hoover May Get Blame.

"The people the senator would tax are now bearing more taxes than they can stand, and are the people who are suffering from the present business depression. It is the same class of people who lost their savings in securities which were purchased by the small minority Senator Bingham seeks to relieve of the inevitable increase in taxes."

Holding that Senator Bingham on several occasions has been "an administration spokesman" in the Senate, Mr. LaGuardia said nothing less than an immediate repudiation of the plan by the administration would prevent the people from thinking his proposal was a "feeler" for those in power.

"There will be tax increases to meet the deficit which the senator points out," he continued. "But there will be no lowering of the present tax exemption and that is just as certain as day follows night, and there will be none of the excise taxes the senator places on the shoulders of the farmers and producers and that is also certain. The tax increases in the next Congress will be such that Senator Bingham and his half dozen in the Senate will surely vote against."

American Speed Flier And Wife Reach France

Cherbourg, France, April 5 (A.P.).—Capt. Frank M. Hawks, the American flier, debarked here today from the liner Europa, for an "air tour" of Europe with his wife.

He denied rumors that he contemplated trying to establish a speed record for a flight from London to Paris and Rome and return in a single day.

STATEMENTS ASSAIL AND DEFEND DRY ACT

Two Organizations Attack Law as Church Group Hits Repeal Cry.

(Associated Press.)

Two of the major wet oranizations yesterday launched fresh attacks against the dry law, while one of the leading dry groups assailed antiprohibitionists and another rallied to the defense of the law.

The Methodist Episcopal Board of Temperance openly hit out at the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, charging that "it systematically incites the poorly informed to resentment" against the Government.

The Association Against the Prohibition Amendment countered with a statement on Norway's "noble experiment," contending that the failure of prohibition there presented a situation similar in many respects to that in the United States.

Solid South for Prohibition.

F. Scott McBride, superintendent of the Antisaloon League, who has just returned from a 5,000-mile trip through ten Southern States, issued a statement to the effect that "the solid South is as solid as ever for prohibition."

From the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform came an announcement of a two-day "demonstration" against the dry law in Washington, April 14 and 15 and a statement that since women were credited largely with having adopted prohibition, the feminine vote now would be organized for its repeal.

Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, chairman of the women's organization, said she expected 600 women from 32 States would attend and aid formation of plans to organize votes for anti-prohibition candidates in 1932.

Women Ready to Fight.

Mrs. Sabin said she was "confident that the vast majority of women in this country have had enough of prohibition and are now ready to 'say it with ballots.'"

The Methodist board based its attack upon the financial statement of the association against the prohibition amendment for January and February, declaring the reported expenditures of $103,281 to be "astonishing and significant."

"It is financed," the board said, "by a few millionaires residing in four States, which are dominated by great cities having large segregated colonies of bewildered immigrants, cities notorious throughout the world for corruption in the administration of municipal affairs."

No Sentiment For Repeal.

Dr. McBride said "there is no noticeable sentiment for the repeal of the eighteenth amendment or modification of enforcement laws in the Southern States." He added, however, that "the people down there resent what they consider to be an effort to attach the Democratic party to the wet organizations."

In the study of Norway's prohibition experience, the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment said that for more than a century there was a steady improvement in temperance conditions under controlling laws.

Norway repealed its dry law in 1926 and set up the wine monopoly, which controls the wholesale distribution of wine and spirits. The association contended there was "practically no increase" in drunkenness since the repeal of prohibition and that liquor seizures have been reduced.

One Dies in Church Fire Riot.

Mexico City, April 5 (A.P.).—Dispatches to the newspaper La Prensa from Iguala today said one person was trampled to death at a pre-Easter service in a church there yesterday when the building caught fire. The fire was caused by a short-circuit in the electric wiring. The congregation stampeded.

EUROPE TO RENEW WAR ON PROBLEMS

Navy Pact, Jerusalem Arms and Roumanian Crisis Hold Attention.

London, April 5 (A.P.).—With the lull of Easter holidays ended, Europe will tackle anew an array of complex problems, including the hitch which has occurred in the formal drafting of the tripartite naval treaty of Great Britain, France and Italy.

A more immediate disarmament problem exists in Jerusalem, where Easter was observed while machine guns and armored cars were stationed at strategic points to keep peace. Meanwhile, clear across the continent nearly every nation faces a variety of difficulties in affairs of state.

Roumania has both a cabinet crisis and rumors of royal marriages to engage her attention.

Even Dublin has become a source of news of international interest in these days of peace. She has an urgent problem in disentangling Emilio Scala, proprietor of a Battersea lunch counter, who held the winning ticket on the Irish sweepstake, worth several million dollars, from the meshes of high finance, due, it is said, to a too enthusiastic sale of shares in the lucky ticket.

Return to Capitals.

But the European problem of the most international concern is that of the Anglo-Franco-Italian naval accord. Naval experts have retired to their respective capitals of London, Paris and Rome. On the surface it would appear the agreement reached after the visits to Rome and Paris of Arthur Henderson, British foreign minister, and A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, was in jeopardy.

Difficulty has arisen over the question of France's replacement of obsolete tonnage after 1933. France is holding to figures which it is stated would give her superiority of 40,000 tons greater than was provisionally agreed upon during last month's negotiations.

Although this situation has appeared serious during the past week, it is recalled that such incidents are recognized part of the technique of disarmament negotiations. Such hitches are often untangled and hailed as new triumphs.

Arrive at Agreement.

The basic position is that the three chief European naval powers have arrived at an agreement. In principle this eliminates European naval squabbles, at least until the world naval situation can be reviewed at the Geneva Conference early next year, and probably will hold until 1936.

Discouraging as the situation may appear at the moment, government leaders in England, France and Italy have proclaimed the agreement on the larger principles of the European naval problem. It is not considered likely the unexpected difficulties encountered by experts in putting this agreement into international legal terms will upset the tripartite accord.

The spirit of reconciliation and cooperation in Europe is held by many nations to have received a setback during recent weeks in the effect on other countries of the surprise action of Germany and Austria in announcing agreement on a proposed customs treaty. Objections have been raised to the accord and the council of the League of Nations is expected to consider the economic treaty between the two countries.

Women Plan National Disarmament Meetings

(Associated Press.)

Mrs. Hannah Clothier Hull, national chairman of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, yesterday announced Nation-wide meetings May 18 to urge President Hoover to send "peace-minded" delegates to the International Disarmament Conference.

Mrs. Hull said that on that date, the anniversary of the first Hague conference, disarmament would be featured at mass meetings, dinners and pagents in every State. A resolution calling upon the President to instruct American delegates to strive for substantial armament reductions for all countries, she added, would be presented at each meeting.

Parkway Is Authorized As Mather Memorial

(Associated Press.)

Establishment of the Mather Memorial parkway in the Rainier National Forest, Washington, in commemoration of the work of the late Stephen T. Mather, former director of the National Park Service, has been authorized by Secretary Hyde.

The parkway will comprise 24,300 acres of forest land, extending a half mile on either side of the Naches Pass highway. When completed this year it will provide a new entrance to the Puget Sound region from the Yakima Valley and the East.

Diversion of Legal Alcohol At Lowest Ebb, Says Doran

Commissioner Believes Bootleggers Are Now Getting Much Less of Product; No Bad Break in Industry in More Than Year.

(Associated Press.)

Commissioner Doran, of the Industrial Alcohol Bureau, believes that the diversion of legal alcohol into bootleg channels is at the lowest level since the advent of prohibition.

There has not been a "bad break" in the legalized alcohol industry in more than a year, Dr. Doran said. He attributed this in part to a spirit of cooperation evidenced by both industrial producers and consumers.

The alcohol commissioner cited the attempt at diversion by a small group in the lacquer industry about a year ago as one of the last major "leaks," adding that suspected violations now are reported regularly by producers and consumers so "the whole industry may be kept clean."

Dr. Doran also attributed more successful enforcement to the separation of the prohibition and alcohol bureaus when the former was transferred from the Treasury to the Justice Department. Formerly the director of both bureaus, he has since worked entirely on the alcohol problem.

Still another factor, he said, has been the successful working of the oral agreement with producers as to the volume turned out each year. Without this, he added, there would be overproduction and consequent dangers of greater leakage.

RASKOB SEEKS RUM ATTITUDE OF CHIEFS

Democratic Committeemen Asked to Express Views Through Letters.

of cancer. How silly it must be for the Democratic party to disregard the prohibition issue because of its supposed peril."

The letter, a lengthy document, dealt with Mr. Raskob's recommendations regarding tariff, government in business, farm relief, old age and unemployment insurance and the five-day week, and public utilities.

The chairman asked careful consideration of his recommendations, which he said "endeavor to write the word 'fair' across the Democratic banner.

"We should be fair to all alike," the letter added, "poor and rich, labor and capital. In treating with the tariff, regardless of specific differences as to individual schedules, which apply to our membership in Congress as well as to the personnel of this committee, we agree that our party advocates fair trade and not free trade. That is what an honest competitive tariff means."

Would Let States Decide.

Mr. Raskob said that the home rule plan of liquor control, after ratification by a majority of people in three-fourths of the States, would provide "that any State may thereafter direct and control absolutely the manufacture and transportation and sale of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes within that State, provided the plan under which that State is to do this is first approved by the people of that State in a State-wide referendum."

"I want no State to have liquor forced upon it," Mr. Raskob said, "and I want no State to have sumptuary laws forced upon it against its will."

About half the letter, approximating 4,000 words, was devoted to prohibition.

Mr. Raskob expressed hope the platform would provide its representatives in Congress be committed to vote in favor of a resolution to give the people of the several States an opportunity to express their will on the home rule plan for liquor control.

Danger of Rebellion.

If the dry members in the party oppose this plan, he continued, "they say in effect that even though a majority of the people in 36 States may favor the plan, they are still unwilling to allow this vast army of people the right of self-government."

"A little reflection on this position," he added, "must convince any patriotic citizen of the danger of rebellion growing out of such an attitude."

It would seem reasonable, the chairman said, that "any patriotic dry" could conscientiously vote in favor of such a resolution because he would be "merely supporting a resolution which will take this matter entirely out of the hands of politicians and thus out of politics by placing the responsibility for decision squarely up to the people themselves," and that "under the Constitution, he could do no less."

"Can any patriotic citizen," Mr. Raskob asked, "deny the people opportunity to vote on this important and vital question and properly call himself a Democrat?"

Unfair to Public.

A simple declaration for law enforcement in the platform, Raskob said, would be "unfair to the public whose suffrage we are soliciting."

"Either pledge the party dry," he said, "or manfully return to Jeffersonian doctrine and give the people themselves opportunity to decide this question, thus taking it definitely out of politics."

States should exercise police control over public utilities, Mr. Raskob said, adding "some ask for Federal curbs * * * which is another of the regrettable tendencies to extend the powers of the central government."

The party chairman urged changes in the antitrust laws to "correct an injustice," which would permit groups with merger plans to lay them before a Federal agency and obtain permission to carry them out.

Summarized Recommendations.

Mr. Raskob summarized others of his recommendations as follows:

"Take the Government out of business and relieve trade from unnecessary and unreasonable governmental restriction, interference and manipulation, at the same time safeguarding the public in every proper way by regulation against monopoly and unfair trade practices.

"Clearly define our tariff policies.

"Decry policy of governmental price fixing schemes and attempts to maintain prices artificially.

"Develop some plan of cooperation between our national committee and the duly elected Democratic members of the Senate and House of Representatives, for the purpose of better understanding and better national organization.

"Realize the absolute necessity of strong leadership in order to deal intelligently with problems of government, which are ever becoming more complex.

"Develop some scheme of farm relief which will redound to the benefit of our whole country.

Insurance for Workmen.

"Develop old age and unemployment insurance based on cooperative effort between capital and labor.

"Advance the movement for a five-day week without diminution of weekly wage."

Concluding his letter with an appeal for a frank and fearless campaign, Mr. Raskob wrote:

"Suppose we nominate a man who in his campaign promises to fight for a return of liquor control to the several States and thus leads the people to support our party because they think that it is liberal.

"What position will our leader be in if, when President, he has to tell the citizens of our country he can do nothing to change our prohibition laws, because the Democratic Congress elected with him will not vote to submit this question to the people, claiming the Democratic platform was silent on this question and the people they represent are so dry they are unwilling to even give their fellow citizens the right to express their will?

"We Democrats can not and must not tolerate deception of this kind if we ever hope to win the respect and confidence of the people."

They had gone aloft for Smith to take a lesson.

BUS TRAGEDY HERO HAS 13TH BIRTHDAY

Letters and Visitors Flood Youth on Biggest Day of His Life.

Lamar, Colo., April 5 (A.P.).—Bryan Untiedt, who professes to be just an ordinary sort of "guy," had a birthday yesterday.

It was Easter, too, but that was second. Bryan, who is 13 years old, lay in a hospital bed and grinned, a little self-consciously, and suffered odd and sundry persons to surge through his room and make endless remarks about heroism and stuff like that.

It was, undoubtedly, the busiest birthday Bryan ever spent. It was busier than any day since that one week before last when he sat in a snow-bound school bus near Towner, Colo., watching over a brood of near-hysterical youngsters while death crept on them for 36 harrowing hours.

Was Hero of Tragedy.

Bryan was the hero of that tragedy—so those who know about it insist—because he managed to keep his head as the cold claimed five of his companions. He was left in charge of the bus when the driver went off to get help, and Bryan assumed command stalwartly, knowing his task was grim.

Then help came, almost too late to save the survivors, and Bryan Untiedt came to the hospital here for treatment.

He'd been invited to visit President Hoover and the oldsters look on him with moist eyes and make abstract comparisons with Lindbergh and other heroes, but today was a guy's birthday and Bryan was 13. Letters have been pouring in to the hospital ever since the tragedy and today brought almost a hundred.

Money Sent in Letters.

There were so many that only the special deliveries were opened promptly. These contained $35 from admirers and people who wanted to do something for Bryan. Then a lot of people came to the hospital to shake his hand—several hundred, in fact—and very few of them forgot that it was his birthday.

Shortly after noon a news reel cameraman came to take some pictures of Bryan and his mother and father, and there was a birthday cake, and then some more people came, and on top of it all his father said sure, he could go to Washington and see President Hoover if he wanted to, and he wants to all right.

"Gosh," said Bryan, "I don't deserve this, but it's been a swell birthday, hasn't it, for a guy like me."

Charity Eggs Rain At Theater Show

Children Are Resentful When They Are Denied Admission.

Mattoon, Ill., April 5 (A.P.).—A Mattoon theater manager's offer of admission to children last night for one egg each for charity brought more than 2,000 eggs—and nearly half of them were plastered on the theater front, pedestrians or policemen.

Two thousand children, each carrying an egg, appeared, but the theater could seat only 1,132 of them. The resentment of the late-comers broke and so did their eggs—in a lively and promiscuous shower.

Finally the theater manager braved the storm and announced a second show, but most of the "admissions" had been used. His hesitancy about admitting those without eggs was only momentary—just long enough to bring out a few that had been held in reserve. All, he announced, would be admitted, egg or no egg—and retired to the showers.

CURRENT EVENTS IN VIRGINIA AND MARYLAND

VIRGINIA MERCHANTS TO CONVENE IN JUNE

Retail Association to Hold Two-Day Meeting; Has 2,500 Members.

Richmond, Va., April 5 (A.P.).—The annual convention of the Retail Merchants Association of Virginia will be held here June 23 and 24.

John M. Gelphausen, chairman of the program committee, who now is arranging the program of the convention, said today that retailers in small communities where a local organization is impracticable will be invited to affiliate themselves with the State association, and to attend the convention.

The State body now has 2,500 members in twenty cities, but merchants in the smaller communities heretofore have not been in a position to gain the share in the benefits to be derived from the association with others engaged in the same line of business, the program chairman, a Richmond merchant, said. He expects the new plan to enlarge the State association and to broaden its activities.

An attendance of 1,000 is expected at the Richmond convention. During both days of the meeting business sessions will be held from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m., after which the visitors will be entertained with various features. There will be a buffet supper the first day and a banquet is being arranged for the second.

Officers of the State association are G. Leslie Hall, of Norfolk, president; E. W. Broidy, of Richmond, vice president; Leo F. Henebry, of Roanoke, second vice president; Miss Winifred Pendleton, of Norfolk, secretary, and C. Page Walker, of Alexandria, treasurer. Among the district vice presidents is E. G. Schmidt, of Richmond, and S. P. Hazle is a director.

reestablishment of constitutional government.

Such members of the cabinet as could be assembled quickly met at Lisbon in emergency session last night, imposed a strict censorship immediately and decided, it was understood, to send troops from the Lisbon garrison to put down the mutiny.

Recent Serious Riots.

There were serious disturbances at Funchal last month when civilians rioted in protest against a government decree which would have raised the price of bread. Soldiers were sent from Lisbon but the troubles were settled only after the government reconsidered its decree.

Gen. Antonio Carmona, president of the Portuguese republic, is in fact dictator of Portugal.

Only yesterday the government newspaper, Diario Damanha, carried an interview with the president in which he dwelt with considerable satisfaction upon the "political and financial miracle" which the dictatorship had accomplished. He definitely ruled out the possibility of an immediate return to constitutional government on the ground that any change in the status quo would undo all the good work the dictatorship has accomplished in the past three years.

Chauffeur Killed As Car Overturns

Son of Mrs. J. L. Postley, of New York, Hurt in Accident.

Special to The Washington Post.

Staunton, Va., April 5.—Thomas Handsbery, 35, chauffeur for Mrs. James L. Postley, 420 Park avenue, New York City, was instantly killed today when the latter's car was wrecked one mile west of Craigsville, near here. Brooks Postley, 23, son of the owner, suffered minor cuts and bruises. Handsbery and Postley were en route from Hot Springs, Va., to New York when the accident occurred. The car turned over three times.

Handsbery's body is being prepared for shipment to New York tomorrow. County authorities at conclusion of the investigation decided an inquest would not be necessary.

AUTOMOBILES KILL PAIR IN ANNAPOLIS

78-Year-Old Caretaker Hit While Crossing Street; Youth's Neck Broken.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., April 5.—Two persons were killed in automobile accidents in West street early this morning. One was a 78-year-old man and the other a 20-year-old boy who was driving an alleged stolen car.

The man, James Goodwin, veteran caretaker of the Sherwood Forest resort, was killed almost in front of his home as he crossed the street. Robert Edward Herzog, of Eastport, a nearby village, is held under $1,000 bail pending a coroner's inquest tomorrow night before Police Justice Louis M. Hopkins. Justice Hopkins said that if reports are borne out, Herzog, who is 22, may be held for manslaughter, as it is alleged that he was traveling in excess of 50 miles an hour.

The unfortunate youth is William O. Fowler, 20, of Weems Creek, West Annapolis. The young man is alleged to have stolen a machine belonging to William Bloom. The lad had only driven a few blocks when he lost control of the machine, crashing into a building and tearing away a plate glass window and part of the partition. He broke his neck, but lived nearly two hours.

Both were taken to the Emergency Hospital by a Washington truck, where they died. The accidents occurred within an hour, within two blocks of each other.

Easton Man Is Killed In Collapse of House

Meridian, Miss., April 5 (A.P.).—The porch of a vacant house looked invitingly restful yesterday to C. D. Fletcher, young geologist. As he sat there eating his luncheon a wall of the house collapsed, injuring him so severely he died today.

The body will be sent to the home of his parents at Easton, Md. He is survived also by his widow and two children, of Jackson, Miss.

Leonard Fisher, Jr., 46, Is Dead in Cumberland

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., April 5—Leonard Fisher, Jr., 46, advertising salesman, was found dead in his room at a hotel here early last night.

Mr. Fisher served in the World War. He was a son of Frank L. Fisher, sr., a pioneer in the operation of motion picture houses in Cumberland. Besides his father, to whose home the body was removed, he is survived by three sisters.

DIED

HENDRICKS—On Saturday, April 4, 1931, at Children's Hospital, GORMAN M. HENDRICKS, Jr., aged six years. Services at the home at 405 Morton street, Lyon Village, Va., Monday, April 6, at 2 p. m. Interment in Cedar Hill Cemetery.

HERNDON—Departed this life on Saturday, April 4, 1931, ADDIE LINTON HERNDON, beloved mother of Lucien H., Neal N. and Anna L. Herndon and sister of Mrs. John G. Herndon, aged seventy-nine years. DROWNING IN AUTO HELD AS ACCIDENT

Verdict Found After Death of Alexandria Man Who Saved Woman.

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Clarendon, 2324-W-2.

Fairfax County Coroner C. A. Ransom, of Falls Church, rendered a verdict of accidental death in connection with the accident late Saturday night in which Richard J. Hayden, 31 years old, of 200 Duke street, Alexandria, was drowned, when the automobile in which he was riding plunged from the road into a creek at Accotink Station.

According to the testimony, Hayden and his companion, Miss Clara Grove, of 928 Duke street, Alexandria, were driving along the road from Accotink to Accotink Station. Miss Grove, who was driving, became confused as to which road to take where the Accotink road joins the old abandoned railroad bed, which has been converted into a county road. Turning the corner sharply onto a bridge over the creek, she was unable to keep the car from plunging over the side of the bridge into the creek. The bridge has no guard rail and normally there is but little water in the creek bed, but the recent rains had filled the hole beneath the bridge to a depth of 8 feet of water.

As it left the bridge the car overturned, landing on its top with only the rear wheels above the water. Hayden managed to shove his companion through the window but was unable to save himself. George O. Cawman, of Potters Hill, who was returning to his home from Accotink heard the car strike the water and a few seconds later heard the woman's scream. Calling for help, he ran to the scene and found Miss Grove standing near the submerged car.

Justice of the Peace Harry Shepherd and Deputy Sheriff George McCann were notified and rushed to the spot with a wrecking crane. They managed to pull the car on its side and recovered Hayden's body. Physicians from the Fort Humphreys Hospital responded to a call and after working over Hayden's body for almost an hour, pronounced him dead. Miss Grove was taken to Fort Humphreys for emergency treatment for minor injuries and shock, and later was taken to her home in Alexandria.

Hayden was a motorman for the Washington, Alexandria and Mount Vernon Railway. His parents live at Solomons Island, Md.

Capt. Thurlow White, of Baileys Cross Roads, chairman of the George Washington Bicentennial committee of the Fairfax County Chamber of Commerce, has called a meeting of the committee for this evening at the home of Mrs. Edward D. Vosbury, at Merrifield. Members of the committee include Edward C. Gibbs, Mount Vernon; Martin T. Webb, Annandale; Ludema Sayre, Sarah E. Thomas and H. B. Derr, Fairfax, and Mrs. E. D. Vosbury. The committee will discuss organization of a series of committees in various sections of Fairfax County to insure the participation of the communities in the Bicentennial next year. They also plan to organize committees to take charge of the problems of housing, traffic, beautification and clean-up projects.

The Fairfax Town Council will hold a meeting this evening in the office of Mayor Thomas P. Chapman. The committee, composed of Councilmen O. B. Campbell, Albert R. Sherwood and James E. Nickell, recently appointed to select the site of the second well to be drilled in connection with the town's new municipal water system, has practically decided to have it drilled on the site offered free by W. F. Carne, instead of at the fair grounds, as originally planned. Miss Ludema Sayre has granted the town a right-of-way along the edge of her property on Cedar street from the well to the water main.

This afternoon at 3 o'clock the children of St. Timothy Episcopal Church Sunday school at Herndon will be given an Easter egg hunt on the lawn of the home of the Rev. and Mrs. Alexander Galt.

Pastors and Sunday school superintendents of the Protesant churches of Falls Church will meet this evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Crossman Methodist Church to discuss whether a nondenominational teacher training class will be held this year. The Arlington-Fairfax Council of Religious Education referred this question to the local church leaders for a decision, with an understanding that any plan is to be referred to leaders of religious education of the different denominations for confirmation before being put into effect.

The Fairfax County Democratic committee will hold an executive meeting this morning at 10 o'clock in the county courthouse on the call of Chairman Judge J. M. Love.

The Fairfax County Board of Supervisors will hold a special meeting this morning at the gravel pit near Baileys Cross Roads operated by Harry Birch, from which the county has been purchasing gravel. After the pit has been inspected the board will make a tour of the roads on which the gravel has been used. A complaint was filed with the board at its last meeting by James Foster, of Lincolnia, who asked the board to instruct County Engineer F. Novell to purchase gravel from his pit at Lincolnia.

The McLean School and Community League will hold its monthly business meeting this evening in the auditorium of the Franklin Sherman School. Plans will be formulated for the annual McLean Day Carnival.

A parish social will be held tonight by the members of the St. Mary's Episcopal Church at McLean. Reports of the various church organizations will be given and election of a vestry will be held.

A business meeting of the Presbyterian Church at Falls Church will be held this evening. The Women's Aid Society of the church will serve a dinner preceding the business meeting.

The 4-H Club at Falls Church will meet this afternoon at the Madison School at Falls Church. Miss Sarah E. Thomas, Fairfax County home demonstration agent, will give a practical demonstration on the preparation of economical meat cuts.

The Laurel Rebekah Lodge will hold a regular business meeting this evening in the Odd Fellows Hall in Falls Church.

The Falls Church Ministerial Association will meet tomorrow morning at the parsonage of the Crossman Methodist Church.

RETURN TO DISTRICT PLAN GAINS IMPETUS

Movement for Upbuilding of Capital Finds Support in Arlington.

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

The movement being sponsored by the Washington Board of Trade for the building of a "Greater Washington," and which has resulted in the creation of a permanent organization is received by more than 600 supporters for the return of Arlington County as a part of the District of Columbia with a great deal of encouragement, declared Richard L. Eacho, president of the Back to the District Association.

"While of course this movement is not taken by the supporters of the back to the District movement as one that has that as its aim, but we in Arlington County who would welcome such a move feel that it is possible that it might well be made a part of the program.

"With the completion of the new Arlington Memorial Bridge, the Mount Vernon boulevard, which takes the greater portion of the county's waterfront, in addition to the Arlington National Cemetery, the experimental farm and more than 22 miles of Federal roads in the county, it appears to me, as it does to the followers of the back to the District movement, that Arlington County will develop much more rapidly and in a far more uniform manner if it again becomes a part of the District of Columbia.

"Nothing could be done, in my opinion, that would be more fitting as a part of the bicentennial celebration in 1932 than to bring the thousands of visitors over the highway, the Key and Memorial Bridges and point out this area as again a part of the District of Columbia," Mr. Eacho said.

President Eacho stated that a letter will go to the committee without delay, offering the hearty cooperation of his organization to make Washington the greatest city in the world.

With the Boy Scout movement in Arlington County growing rapidly, William L. Leitch, scout executive for northern Virginia, announces the following program for scout activities in the county:

April 18, at 8 p. m.—Intertroop first aid contest, at which time each troop will enter a team of five members and will work out and apply such first aid as is indicated in a series of five problems. There will be, following the test, an address on first aid by John L. Vandergrift, assistant vice president of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co.

May 2, at 8 p. m.—Public court of honor, at which time such awards as were won by scouts during the year will be presented. There will also be a demonstration of scout tests.

Both of these programs will be given at the Washington-Lee High School, to which the public is invited.

The annual overnight competitive test will be held the afternoon and night of May 16. While definite arrangements have not yet been completed, plans are being made to hold it in the wooded section of Lyon Village.

Ballston Council, No. 20, Daughters of America, will give a bingo party in the auditorium of the Firemen's Hall tomorrow night.

Election of officers will be the principal business at the meeting of the League of Republican Women of Arlington County, to be held tonight at 8 o'clock in the Rucker Building, at Clarendon.

Members of the senior class of the Washington-Lee High School are completing plans for their annual class play, to be presented in the school auditorium Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. The title of the play is "Nothing but the Truth," a comedy in three acts. Leading roles will be portrayed by Hortense Davis and Allan Willis. Other members of the cast are George Cummings, Harry Chase, Lloyd Warrenton and Doris Burke. The play will be presented under the direction of Miss Sallie Loving and Miss Sadie Williams, members of the school faculty.

The proceds will be applied to the Blue and Gray Year Book.

The Neighborhood Garden Club, of Ballston, will hold its monthly meeting tonight at the home of Mrs. Claude Thomas.

County Commissioner of Revenue Harry K. Green, who recently underwent an operation at the Georgetown Hospital, has returned to his home in Chestnut street, Clarendon, where he is reported as rapidly recovering.

The county health department announces the monthly chest clinic for April will be held Thursday, April 9, at the Virginia Highland Health Center from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m. The clinic will be conducted by Dr. H. A. Latane, of Alexandria. Any child under 10 years of age may receive the tuberculin test, and it is urged that all children under that age who are under weight or who have a persistent cough be given the test.

Chief A. C. Sheffel, of the Arlington Volunteer Fire Department, announces that plans are progressing for the annual carnival to be given under the auspices of the department the week of July 13.

The monthly meeting of the Clarendon Woman's Christian Temperance Union will be held tomorrow night at the home of Mrs. W. L. Smith, 144 North Oak street, Clarendon.

Episcopal Rector Quits Pastorate

Rev. Julius Velasco, Who Argued With Bishop, Is Silent on Plans.

Dayton, Ky., April 5 (A.P.).—The Rev. Julius A. Velasco, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church here, who engaged in a controversy with Bishop H. P. Almon Abbott, of the Lexington Diocese, after Mr. Velasco married a woman of the Catholic faith in Ellicot City, Md., more than a year ago, has resigned his pastorate, effective June 1, it was learned tonight.

Mr. Velasco, confirming a report that his resignation was submitted to the vestry last Wednesday, said he had no plans for the future, but intended to return to the East.

Virginia Chemical Section to Meet

Two-Day Session Is Slated to Begin April 24 in Norfolk.

Norfolk, Va., April 5 (A.P.).—Papers dealing with original chemical research will be the subject of discussions on the first day of a two-day session of the Virginia section of the American Chemical Society, meeting here April 24 and 25.

Members of the Virginia section have been invited to contribute scientific papers on the subject, many of them having already been sent to the secretary.

Since members of the Virginia section are also members of the academy, those submitting papers are eligible to compete for a cash prize of $50 to be awarded for a meritorious paper based on original research presented during the meeting.

10,000 SEE EASTER RITES OF MORAVIANS

New Leader Intones Ritual at Annual Service in North Carolina.

Winston-Salem, N. C., April 5 (A.P.).—Across the green sward of a historic ground 10,000 persons filed at sunrise this Easter morn to listen in the rain while Moravians of this section reiterated their faith in the risen Lord.

For 158 years Moravians of Salem Congregation have conducted the annual service at Old Home Church, founded in 1766. Its beauty has attracted thousands of visitors each year. Today, for the first time in half a century, a new leader intoned the ritual of the service and led the quarter-mile march from the church to God's Acre, Moravian burying ground.

He was the Rev. J. Kenneth Pfohl, who succeeded the late Bishop Edward Rondthaler as pastor of Salem Congregation.

Three hundred musicians, grouped in eight bands, interspersed the brief early morning service at the church doorway with ancient chorals.

Dr. Pfohl then led the throng in the solemn march to God's acre.

Spaced at intervals along the route were the bands, trained and led for 42 years by B. J. Pfohl, brother of Dr. Pfohl. As the sound of instruments in one group faded upon the early morning air, another band a little farther along the line of march took up the choral.

On the narrow paths between the graves the congregation stood while the minister concluded the Easter litany.

Suspect Is Shot Fighting Police

Baltimore Man, Sought in Slaying in New Jersey, Wounded by Gunfire.

Merchantville, N. J., April 5 (A.P.).—In a pistol battle with police early today, W. Linton Dowdy, 25, of Merchantville and Baltimore, was severely wounded before being captured as a suspect in the killing of the alleged proprietor of a speakeasy a short time previously. Dowdy, before lapsing into unconsciousness at a Camden hospital, declared: "I am an innocent citizen."

The slain man was George McGuire, 53. A neighbor of his reported having been awakened by shots and of having seen McGuire running in his night clothing, with a man in close pursuit. McGuire fell, the pursuer stood over him and fired another shot, dragged the body to a field and fled.

Police later found Dowdy standing in the driveway of a nearby roadhouse. They said when they sought to question him he opened fire and backed into a nook. The shooting continued for nearly a half hour before Dowdyo fell.

Powder Company Official Succumbs

Nelson S. Greensfelder, 40, Victim of Pneumonia; Rites in Missouri.

Wilmington, Del., April 5 (A.P.).—Nelson S. Greensfelder, 40, advertising manager of the Hercules Powder Co., died today of pneumonia. He was born in St. Louis and was graduated from the Colorado School of Mines.

Mr. Greensfelder was one of the organizers of the National Industrial Advertisers Association and became its president. He also aided in forming the American Mining Congress, the National Crushed Stone Association and other advertising bodies. He was identified with the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, National Safety Council, Institute of Makers of Explosives and Pine Institute of America.

He is survived by his widow, one son and his parents, Judge and Mrs. J. B. Greensfelder, of Kirkwood, Mo., where the funeral service will be held on Wednesday.

Central High Football Star Takes Lead in Play

A former Central High School football star, Eugene Stevens, will have the principal male role in "Rain," which is to be presented by the Virginia Players of the University of Virginia in Cabell Hall at the university Wednesday and Thursday nights. Miss Roy Land, of Martinsville, Va., will have the role of Sadie Thompson made famous by the late Jeanne Eagels.

The play is being presented as part of the Easter Week festivities. It is the first offering of the Virginia Players for the third university term. Prof. H. R. Pratt, of the school of dramatic art, is in charge of the production which is being staged by Luther Greene.

Weather Delays Hop Of Plane in Virginia

Hampton Roads, Va., April 5 (A.P.).—Unfavorable weather conditions today caused postponement until tomorrow morning of the take-off from the naval air station here of a trimotored plane piloted by Maj. Roy S. Geiger and destined for Managua with relief medical supplies.

ALEXANDRIA LEGION DINNER SET TONIGHT

Post Will Celebrate Entry Into World War; O'Neil to Be Speaker.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

Tonight will inaugurate the first annual banquet of the Alexandria Post, No. 24, American Legion, to commemorate the entrance of the United States into the World War and observe Army day. The banquet will be at 7:30 o'clock in the auditorium of the Virginia Public Service Co., and the special guests will assemble at the George Mason Hotel, where they will be met by the committee and escorted across the street to the banquet hall, with all in readiness to welcome the national commander, Ralph T. O'Neil, of Topeka, Kans., and the department commander, Roby C. Thompson.

Commander O'Neil is expected to arrive in the city during the afternoon and will be taken to Gadsby's Tavern, the home of the Alexandria Post, for a tour of inspection, and also to other points of interest in the city.

Among those who have accepted invitations to be present are Maj. Gen. Amos Fries, U. S. A., retired; Representative Howard Worth Smith, Col. E. L. Dent, commanding officer, Thirteenth Engineers, Fort Humphreys; Col. E. H. Schulz, commanding officer, Engineer School, Fort Humphreys; Col. A. R. Embrey, commanding officer, Fort Hunt; Maj. A. M. Patch, commanding officer, Fort Washington; Maj. Howard Davidson, commanding officer, Bolling Field; Capt. Richards, United States Navy Department, Washington; Vice Mayor Edmund F. Ticer, Councilman Arthur Herbert, Department Vice Commander Harry C. Breckenridge, Department Adjutant Glenn Elliott.

Clyde B. Lanham, chairman of the committee on arrangements, will act as master of ceremonies; Dan S. Hollenga will be toastmaster, and the invocation will be by the chaplain of the post, Norman Roberts.

Section B of St. Paul's Episcopal Church will hold an Easter egg hunt this afternoon on St. Agnes Episcopal School grounds, the bus leaving King and Washington streets at 3 o'clock and returning to the school at 5, to bring the children back to town, in case the weather conditions permit, but in the event of rain the hunt will be held tomorow or the first clear day thereafter, the bus starting at 3:30 o'clock for the patrons.

Mrs. C. S. Taylor Burke is in charge of arrangements, assisted by Mrs. Richard L. Ruffner and Mrs. L. H. Dudley. Hundreds of colored eggs will be hidden about the grounds, but the children are requested to bring their own baskets.

Col. Clarence Deems, jr., U. S. A., retired, will be the speaker at the special devotional service of the Epworth League of the Methodist Episcopal Church South on Sunday evening, April 12, the closing service of the "Joy Week" program of the league, while a vocal solo will be by Miss Elizabeth Chamblin.

Tomorrow, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday a play will be featured by the Epworth Players, and 400 tickets will be sold, as that will take care of the capacity of the hall. R. Clyde Smith is in charge of the ticket committee and has stated that already 350 tickets are out.

The meeting of the Allison Women's Christian Temperance Union will be held at 8 o'clock this evening with Mrs. Percy E. Clift at her home, 217 North Columbus street.

Funeral of Richard J. Hayden, about 30 years old, will be held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon from Wheatley's Funeral Home, 809 King street, and burial will be in St. Marys County, Md.

Attorney Threatens Suit To Free Murder Suspect

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., April 5.—If the State does not bring a formal charge tomorrow against William R. Dayton, 44, held on suspicion in connection with the slaying of John R. Cesana, whose body was found in his home on Charles street Tuesday evening, former State's Attorney Fuller Barnard, attorney for Dayton, said tonight that he would sue out a writ of habeas corpus to secure his release.

Mr. Barnard said the accused could not be kept in the old city jail indefinitely without some formal action being taken against him.

WALKER RETURNS TO BEGIN BATTLE

New York Mayor Hails His City as Cleanest and Best in World.

New York, April 5 (A.P.).—Mayor Walker, well tanned by several weeks in California, came home this brisk Easter Sunday morning to defend his administration.

The mayor appeared in good health, and one of his chief concerns was the welfare of Chauncey and Molly-O, two Irish setter pups given him by a Western admirer.

The mayor spoke a few words for the sound reel men—that was all. There was no mention of the answer he is to make to charges against his official conduct, nor of the forthcoming legislative investigation of city affairs.

"I am glad to be back in the city of my birth, which has honored me," he said. "I return with renewed health and vigor to the cleanest and best city in the world."

Then he and his party walked through Grand Central Terminal to Forty-third street to St. Agnes Catholic Church for 9 o'clock mass.

"Hello, there, Jimmie," a boy shouted as the mayor appeared at the church. Walker grinned broadly and waved a greeting at the urchin. In church he refused a front pew and sat with his party near the rear. After services he entered his car and was driven home, where he said he would rest to be at his desk early Monday morning.

There was little or no fanfare as the mayor stepped off the Fifth Avenue Special at the terminal. Down to greet him were his sister, Mrs. Nan Walker Burke, and her two children, Paul and Rita. With Commissioner Edward P. Mulrooney they entered the mayor's private car and came out with him, Walker carrying one of the pups.

There was a scattered handclapping as he went through the gate. A battery of flashlights blazed sporadically in the gloomy underground tunnel a few moments, and then the mayor went to church.

Ohio Fire Kindlers Face Judge Today

Hearing Comes on First Anniversary of Deaths of 320 Convicts.

Columbus, Ohio, April 5 (A.P.).—On Easter Monday a year ago one of the most tragic prison disasters in the history of the Nation snuffed out the lives of 320 Ohio Penitentiary convicts.

Easter Monday of tomorrow will find two convicts from the prison facing a judge in criminal court, to plead to indictments charging them with first degree murder in connection with the disastrous fire.

Charged with the crime are Clinton Grate, a Virginian, and Hugh Gibson, of Pennsylvania, confessed kindlers of the fire, who are serving terms for robberies in Cleveland and Dayton. Gibson and Grate had planned to plead guilty if Judge C. J. Randall, of the criminal court, would guarantee them death sentences. But this the judge refused to do, saying that before he accepted any plea they must confer with the attorneys he will name to defend them. They do not want to return to the prison for life, preferring death instead.

Argentina Returns To Rule by Ballot

More Than 600,000 Voters Are Registered in Local Election.

Buenos Aires, April 5 (A.P.).—Thousands of Argentines today cast their first vote since last fall's revolution. Provincial officers and members of the forthcoming congress were elected in the province of Buenos Aires.

Heavy balloting was reported throughout the state and the voting was generally peaceful. In the afternoon President Uriburu conferred with police officials and reported his satisfaction at the progress of the election.

More than 600,000 persons had qualified to register their votes, but it was not known how many had taken advantage of the privilege. There were three tickets in the field, Conservative, Radical and Socialist. Much interest centered in the election of a governor and vice governor of Buenos Aires.

WESTMINSTER PLAYERS WILL PRESENT COMEDY

Louis Johnden, Post Staff Photographer.

The Westminster Players will present a three-act comedy, "The Odd Job Man," Tuesday and Wednesday nights at the Westminster Church, Seventh and R streets southwest. The cast includes William Keller (sitting) and little Margaret Schwenk. Rear, left to right—Emily Mueller, Richard Babcock, Mel Church, Kathryn Foltz, Edna Sanders, Alan Sanders and Irma Gordon.

WEATHER IS FACTOR IN CHICAGO ELECTION

Thompson Would Benefit by Rain and Cermak by Sun Is Belief.

Chicago, April 5 (A.P.).—The weather man today was conceded to be a vital factor in Chicago's mayoralty election Tuesday, in which more than a million ballots are expected to be cast.

Should it rain election day, Mayor William Hale Thompson, Republican, has said the "silk stocking" vote will be kept indoors. This, he believes, will lessen the strength of his opponent, Anton J. Cermak, Democratic candidate.

A sunshiny, spring day, on the other hnad, was looked to as Fortune's smile upon the chances of the Democratic campaigner.

Although both "Big Bill"—descendant of American revolutionists—and "Tony"—immigrant Czechoslovakian, risen from coal mining in southern Illinois to a commanding position in the Democratic party in Cook County—spent a quiet Easter Sunday, their supporters were active. Mass meetings, radio addresses and preparations for the final campaign appeals tomorrow kept election interest at its quickest tempo.

The mayoralty campaign itself has contrasted decidedly to the primary race in which "Big Bill" loosed his vituperative eloquence in full flow upon his opponents and was, in turn, object of their bitter assaults. A jackass and elephant and daily circus parade through the Loop kept him in the spotlight then. But in his duel with Cermak much of the old showmnaship and fire have moderated, lacking the scorching vigor familiar to Chicago voters.

Vallance to Lecture On Floating University

Prof. William Roy Vallance, of Southeastern University, will lecture on the French Line's floating university this summer, it was announced yesterday by Dr. James A. Bell, head of Southeastern University.

Prof. Vallance is assistant solicitor of the State Department and president of the Federal Bar Association. He is professor of international law and conflict of laws in the law school of Southeastern. On the cruise, he will lecture on "Treaty Relations Between the United States and Great Britain and Between the United States and France."

Kidnaping Case Bond Allowed.

Laredo, Tex., April 5 (A.P.).—C. C. Julian, wealthy oil operator, was free on $15,000 bond tonight awaiting action by a county grand jury on charges that he kidnaped L. S. Bolling, of San Antonio, and attempted to rob him of $50,000.

CAPITAL TO JOIN BRIDGE TOURNAMENT

before that form of the game was played in the United States.

It has not yet been decided whether there will be one or more teams organized exclusively among players from the various embassies and legations or whether those who wish to participate will enter as individuals and select their partners and teammates from among other single entrants.

It is certain, however, that the tournament will witness the performance of some of the foreign players, who are temporarily residing in Washington as the representatives of their respective governments.

While the play of the game is essentially the same abroad as it is in the United States, some of the foreign players have developed a technique, and in several instances forms of bidding which it will not only be interesting but instructive to observe.

Like all bridge tournaments, the first annual tournament in Washington sponsored by The Post is open both to men and women, and teams may be made up exclusively of men, exclusively of women, or they may be mixed teams.

Partners Are Selected.

Where entries are made in pairs, or as individuals, the committee on arrangements will aid in the selection and assignment of partners and teammates, although in a large number of cases independently organized teams will be the contenders.

It is in this method that a score or more of bridge instructors and teachers are planning to formulate teams among their pupils for participation. Of course, any teacher who enters a team that is fortunate and skillful enough to capture a major trophy or any one of the other prizes will enjoy a proud distinction and one that will be a testimonial to his or her ability to instill a knowledge of the science of the game to those under his or her tutelage.

How many social bridge foursomes and double foursomes there are now playing in Washington it would be difficult to estimate, but there are hundreds, most of them playing regularly on stated afternoons or evenings every week. Among these players there is a high degree of interest in the tournament. Some of them play contract and others auction, and for the benefit of both the event is arranged so that the devotees of each may have opportunity to participate.

Players Have Choice.

Moreover, they may participate either as advanced players, or if they are doubtful of their skill, as some are, they may enter in the intermediate classes, and thereby be enabled, without any expense to themselves, to improve their game, which is the wish of every true lover of this form of entertainment.

Fill out the blank printed elsewhere in The Post and make your entry. Then organize and begin practice. You may win one of the grand trophies, or if not that, then a lesser prize. It will cost you nothing; you will have a great amount of enjoyment and you are certain to gain a wealth of valuable experience in playing this most popular of all indoor games.

Watch The Post daily for news of the event and for the discussion and comment which is being made regarding it. For information concerning the tournament, or the details of the arrangements, address the Bridge Editor of The Washington Post.

SPANISH MONARCHY ATTACKED, PRAISED

Last Big Political Rallies Are Held Before Elections Next Sunday.

Madrid, April 5 (A.P.).—The monarchy was attacked by Republicans and Socialists and defended by Monarchists in several thousand political rallies throughout Spain today. The meetings were the last big political gatherings before next Sunday, when the first municipal elections in eight years will be held in the country.

Shouts of "death to the king!" and "Long live the republic!" puntuated various Republican meetings. Police did not interfere, presumably having been instructed not to molest the demonstrators. It was generally peaceful in Madrid.

Many Spaniards ignored the political campaigns and spent the day observing Easter. In Madrid there were ten Left meetings to one Monarchist.

There are about 150,000 candidates for some 50,000 aldermen's offices in approximately 10,000 towns in the country. Republicans have about 8,000 candidates, mostly in the cities.

The general theme of Republican and Socialist orators was to the effect that the dictatorship of the late Primo de Rivera had destroyed the Spanish constitution and liberty. They charged that King Alfonso was responsible for the dictatorship and must go, if not quietly, then perhaps otherwise, although Republican speakers emphasized they do not wish violence.

Monarchist speakers asserted that the Republicans, Communists, Socialists, and Anarchists are all of the same stripe in wanting to make Spain another Russia, repudiate foreign debts and destroy all religion.

Republicans continued their agitation for amnesty for all political prisoners. In the capital police confiscated news and antigovernment billboards.

Niceto Alcala Zamora, Republican leader, who was recently released from jail for plotting last December's revolution, predicted establishment of a republic after victory for his party next Sunday. He expressed the belief that Alfonso would take refuge in the civil guard after defeat of the Monarchists.

Alcala and other speakers referred to the execution of the two leaders of the Jaca revolt as "assassinations."

New Evidence Is Claimed In Nixon-Nirdlinger Case

Nice, France, April 5 (A.P.).—Residents in the American colony here said today that attorneys for Charlotte Nixon-Nirdlinger have discovered new evidence which they plan to use in an attempt to obtain their client's liberty without a jury trial on a charge of killing her husband.

These unconfirmed reports said the new evidence was of such a nature as to make possible the intervention of United States officials. The courts, meanwhile, still plan to bring the woman to trial early next month.

Mohair Institute Director Resigns.

New York, April 5 (A.P.).—Resignation of A. C. Gage as director of the Mohair Institute, of Chicago, effective April 1, was announced today. He took office in January.

KING'S SLIGHT COLD STIRS APPREHENSION

Sovereign Avoids Chill in Easter Observance at Fireside.

Windsor, England, April 5 (A.P.).—While Britons were observing Easter Sunday under drizzling skies and chilly winds, King George today was nursing a slight cold before a snug fire at Windsor Castle.

Although the monarch's cold is not considered serious, a flutter of apprehension ran through the country last night when it became known he was confined to the royal apartments. Since his serious illness several winters ago, his slightest indisposition causes national concern.

The rain and wind gave Windsor a cheerless air today. The king is not confined to his bed and is able to carry on necessary official business. However, he did not attend divine services at the castle chapel today since this would have necessitated a walk through the drafty corridors and passages of the old castle, which are not heated.

No bulletins are being issued in regard to the king's health. The presence of a nurse, one of the four who attended the king during his siege three years ago, is explained by the fact she now is permanently attached to the royal staff and is in residence at the castle with the rest of the court.

Harry Thaw, at English Port, Stays Aboard Ship

Southampton, England, April 5 (A.P.).—Harry K. Thaw arrived today on the Europa at this port where he was forbidden to enter England in 1928, but this time he did not try to go ashore.

"I have no intention of trying to land in England," he said. "Why should I come to a hell-fire country like this? I'm going to Germany, which is much more interesting, and after that to Czechoslovakia. I have an invitation to stay with the President."

King Faisal Buys New Plane.

Bagdad, Irak, April 5 (A.P.).—King Faisal, sometimes called the flying monarch of Asia, today ordered another cabin monoplane from England to supplement his present fleet of five moth biplanes.

A penny saved really doesn't look like an awful lot all by itself

BUT—

this runs into real money:

Each year the average American family eats approximately ten times its weight in food. It eats about 1329 pounds of fresh vegetables, 111 pounds of canned vegetables, 584 pounds of fresh fruit, 44 pounds of canned fruit, 587 pounds of meat, 371 pounds of bread, 424 pounds of sugar, 74 pounds of butter, 115 pounds of eggs—to name only a few items.

Figure it out for yourself. You buy thousands of pounds of food every year. A & P stores offer savings all the way from a fraction of a cent to several cents a pound on different foods. When you buy food by the ton—as you do every year—these savings run into real money.

Modern Laundry Expert Explains "Net Bag System"

Tells How Manhattan Saves You Money By Saving Your Clothes

Present day laundry methods, which preserve clothes as well as clean them, are far superior to the old home method of rubbing and scrubbing, according to Mr. E. F. Wesely, chief of the Research Department of Manhattan Laundry. Mr. Wesely attributes a large part of the Manhattan Laundry's success to their Net Bag System.

Manhattan's famous Net Bag System of washing, as described by Mr. Wesely, follows: First, the clothes are assorted according to their color and material and placed in individual net bags which bear the customer's name and contain only that customer's articles. Safe in the nets and protected from all metal or other hard surfaces, the clothes go into the washers. Here they are subjected to the gentle cleansing action of swirling hot suds which penetrate each garment and loosen every particle of dirt. Only the purest of Palm Oil soaps and soft, filtered water are used, after first having been inspected and tested by the Research Department. Many rinsings of fresh, clear water follow, removing every trace of dirt. This thorough care in washing is one reason why Manhattan laundered clothes stay new-looking so much longer.

Customer Praises Net Bags

In a recent letter to the Manhattan Laundry, Mrs. E. R. D. writes:

". . . But the one actual fact that pleases me most is that the clothes do not show as much wear as they did when I had my laundry done at home . . . It is indeed a pleasure to recommend you . . ."

This letter is typical of the many received by Manhattan from satisfied customers throughout the District of Columbia and Virginia.

3-Day Collection and Delivery

Quite another Manhattan feature which has found great favor with Washington housewives is their 3-Day Collection and Delivery Service. In this highly developed system your clothes are collected one day, laundered to your order the next and delivered to you promptly the afternoon of the third day. For instance, if your clothes are collected Monday morning they are delivered Wednesday afternoon; called for Tuesday, back home Thursday, and so on. No delay. No worry. And there is no additional charge for this extra service.

Services to Fit Every Need

Manhattan offers the housewife a wide selection of economical services — from Complete Finished Family to individual piece work. There is a service to fit every need and purse, and every service receives Net Bag Care—which saves you money by saving your clothes.

YOUR other washables—even the daintiest—are actually safer at Manhattan than at home. For here they are laundered in soft net bags which keep out the wear that wears clothes out. Suds of Pure Palm Oil soap loosen all the dirt without any rubbing. Gallons of soft, filtered water wash it away. And, after a brief 3 Day Visit, home come your clothes—beautifully fresh and clean. (Modern equipment—not haste—makes this fast service possible.)

Is it any wonder that so many Washington women send their entire wash to Manhattan? Decide as they have that washday has no place in the home—and let us show you how we save you money by saving your clothes. Just phone Decatur 1120 . . . . . we're waiting for your call!

Cantata Over Air Hook-Up Tells of Lindbergh's Flight

Theme, Composed by Kurt Weill, Picks Up Story at Roosevelt Field and Lands Noted Birdman at Le Bourget.

New York, April 5 (A.P.).—The story of "Lindbergh's Flight," probably the way some imaginative romanticist will tell it a few centuries hence, was related in the descriptive cantata, composed by the German, Kurt Weill, to a radio audience today for the first time.

The work was given over a WEAF-NBC network by the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra, Leopold Stokowski, conductor, and was sung by the Mendelssohn Club of Philadelphia as the feature of its special Nation-wide Easter broadcast.

The theme is highly imaginative, with a touch of the sort of composition sometimes seen in futuristic photography. Historically, it picks up the story at Roosevelt Field and takes the gallant St. Louis birdman to Le Bourget.

Instrumentally, it is a dramatic picture, although without any sensational departures. Vocally, the composer has used the recitative style to describe the exploit in Homeric proportion.

"I fly alone!" "I dare to fly!" lines read by a tenor voice, stand out at the beginning against a background of many voices speculating, doubting, predicting. The composer later has a voices exclaim "Seven hours over the water—no word!" and lets this be swallowed up by a multitude of other voices.

The fog speaks loudest among the sotto voce of the thousand perils above the Atlantic and the Lindbergh solo part, at this moment, cries out: "How was I to know that up here there was ice? I can't go on!"

The composer brings in also the threatening voice of a storm, and, to the siren-like woodwinds, the lulling tones of sleep inviting the flier, who hurls the reply, "I will not sleep; I am not tired." The whole thing runs in the same vein then until the flier, battling his exhaustion as well as the elements, talks encouragingly to his weakening airplane, telling it that the wind, the lapping waves and the fog are his business.

"Now it's not so far. We must pull ourselves together."

Distant voices brought nearer and nearer, at length acclaim the hero as he makes his landing.

It seems quite convincing in the light of the prose narratives of "Lindy."

Another notable broadcast was given tonight over the same system when Lily Pons, newest soprano sensation of the Metropolitan Opera, made her radio debut.

Mlle. Pons revealed excellent "radio qualities" of tone in three such widely different numbers as "Bell Song" from the opera, "Lakme," by Delibes; "Cara Nome," from Verdi's opera, "Riggoletto," and the romantic "Rossignol," from "Paryattis," by Saint Saens.

The young French artiste displayed none of the microphone "nerves" noticeable in the radio debuts of some other operatic stars, now highly successful and popular on the air.

MACKEY ARRESTED ON LIQUOR CHARGE

Former Arlington Attorney to Defend Son; Denies Store Sold Rum.

Darlington Mackey was arrested charged with violation of the prohibition law early yesterday as a result of a raid on his store near his home at Chain Bridge, Va., which was conducted by Federal Agents John Mellan and A. K. Camlin and State Officer Virgil Williams.

Mackey was taken to the Arlington County Jail, where he was later released on $500 bond pending a hearing before Police Judge Harry R. Thomas today.

In a statement issued by Capt. Crandal Mackey, former commonwealth attorney for Arlington County, who will defend his son, he said:

"A prohibition agent came to my son's store on Friday night and wanted to buy some liquor. He was told he could not purchase any liquor at that place, and that there was not a drop on the place. Five persons were present at the time. The man said he wanted it for two ladies in a car outside which was parked on the opposite side of the road.

"The man came back Saturday night. The raid followed. My son was away, and a man from whom they claim, they bought the liquor, has nothing to do with the store. Is not employed there, but comes out to fish.

"The officers had no search warrant for the store, but had one for the gasoline station which I have had closed for the past year. Despite the fact that they had no warrant to search the store, they did so and even went into the cellar.

"I am confident that my son does not sell liquor there, and I shall defend him to the utmost," Capt. Mackey said.

Japan's Premier Reported Better

Nation Cheered by Success of Operation, Result of Attack.

Tokyo, April 5 (A.P.).—Japan was cheered tonight by the announcement of surgeons that the condition of Premier Yuko Hamaguchi was entirely satisfactory.

The 61-year-old premier underwent an operation shortly after midnight today for the removal of an obstruction in the abdomen resulting from a would inflicted last November by a young Japanese whose mind had been deranged by opposition to Hamaguchi's acceptance of the Lodon naval treaty.

Surgeons said the premier was feeling so well he probably would be allowed to see a few callers tomorrow and predicted he would leave the hospital within ten days or a fortnight.

Two Towns Fight For Right to Gold

1,600 Prospectors in Mexico Mark Time Awaiting Boundary Decision.

San Ignacio, Sinalos, Mexico, April 4 (A.P.).—Discovery of a mother lode of gold on El Tambor Hill, near here, has brought a dispute between two towns over ownership of the hill, as 1,600 prospectors rushed to the site in hope of finding quick fortunes.

Cosala, which lies to the other side of El Tambor, claims the hill to be within its municipal boundaries. San Ignacio always has taken it for granted that El Tambor, a great, clumsy mass, previously considered of no value, was its property.

The government has been appealed to and a commission of engineers from the interior department will attempt to straighten out the dispute. Meanwhile, mining operations have been virtually suspended.

Coins and Cigarette Case Stolen.

Nathan Frank, Founder of St. Louis Star, Dies at Age of 79.

St. Louis, April 5 (A.P.).—Nathan Frank, former representative, wealthy real estate owner and lawyer, died at the Jewish Hospital this afternoon from a streptococcus infection. A blood transfusion was performed a week ago in an effort to save his life. He was 79 years old and a bachelor. Mr. Frank was elected to Congress in 1886 and reelected in 1888.

Mr. Frank was founder and first owner of the St. Louis Star, as a daily newspaper, the daily edition having developed from the Sunday Sayings. After absorption of the St. Louis Chronicle in 1905, he sold the newspaper.

In 1928, running on a wet platform, he sought the Republican United States senatorial nomination, but was defeated by Roscoe C. Patterson, who subsequently was elected.

Few of 400 to See Mrs. Iselin Buried

Queen of Original Group in New York Society Is Dead at 80.

New York, April 5 (A.P.).—When funeral services are held tomorrow for Mrs. Sara Gracie King Bronson Iselin, "queen" of New York society; there will be in attendance only a few who were of the one and only "400." Mrs. Iselin died in her sleep in her Fifth avenue apartment Friday night. She was 80 years old.

Descendant of a long line of colonial families, she made her own standards for society and refused to swerve from them. In the past 25 years she had not added a name to her invitation list.

Rufus King, Minister to the Court of St. James before the United States had ambassadors, was an ancestor. Her grandfathers were William Duer, president of Columbia University more than 100 years ago, and Archibald Gracie, whose home overlooking the East River is a museum of New York life and manners. Mrs. Iselin is survived by her husband and a brother, Frederick Gore King.

GANDHI RULE DRAWS OPPOSITION IN INDIA

Virtual Dictatorship Is Seen as Threat to Future Democracy.

Karachi, India, April 5 (A.P.).—Critics of Mahatma Gandhi say the National leader is becoming a virtual "dictator" through having used steam-roller methods in the recent session of the All-India National Congress. They assert the congress is "just Gandhi" and little more.

It is said the identification of the Mahatma's name with any measure was sufficient for its immediate passage, and other Nationalists were hesitant to oppose him. This was held to be the case with a resolution embodying Gandhi's declaration of rights which went through the convention in a few hours with no serious opposition.

The same thing was said to have occurred when he brought about the appointment of ten of his own nominees on the Natichalist cabinet, which has only fifteen members.

Gandhi Threatened Starvation.

When some criticism developed to Gandhi's new Delphi peace pact with Viceroy Lord Irwin, the little leader threatened to retire to private life or to starve himself to death if the extremists showed no confidence in him by rejecting the truce.

In selection of the Nationalist delegation to the second round-table conference in London, his voice is expected to prevail.

This "nonviolent dictatorship" has caused Gandhi's critics to remark there is a vast difference between the Mahatma's democratic teachings and his "autocratic" practices. They hold this bodes ill for the future constitutional advance of India.

Newspaper Opposes Mahatma.

Jamnadas Mehta, another Nationalist leader, said he considered Gandhi's complete domination of the congress an "unhealthy sign," tending to prove India's unfitness for self-government. His newspaper in Karachi yesterday took Gandhi to task on this score.

"It remains for serious-minded Indians to impress upon the British Government—which introduced and is furthering democratic ideals regarding government of India—that such autocratic methods will not be tolerated in any future constitution," the newspaper said.

"Safeguards must be embodied in the constitution to prevent an autocratic Hindu oligarchy from seizing the reigns of office and thereby introducing a bondage, not only of the classes, but of the classes."

Governor Pinchot Starts Reform on Letter-Writing

Request to State Departments Pleads for Discontinuance of Such Expressions as "Even Date," "Contents Noted," and "Your Favor."

Harrisburg, Pa., April 5 (A.P.).—The governor's office proposes to improve the composition of letters written in various State departments, and to accomplish that purpose has appointed a committee representing five departments to draft recommendations for the aid of letter writers. The committee, at a meeting tomorrow, will consider a number of recommendations from the executive's office.

"Letter writers in the State's employ waste a great deal of valuable time by the use of unnecessary words and phrases," the committee was informed in the letter from the governor's office. Among the phrases classed as cumbersome and old-fashioned and which were recommended for discard were:

"Your letter of even date—What is even date?

"Twelfth inst.—In use since the tenth century; it deserves a rest.

"Your favor at hand—Let this phrase die a natural death; a letter never has been a favor.

"Contents noted—Utterly inane; if you read the letter the contents were noted.

"As stated above—Charles Lamb, the great English humorist, poked fun at that phrase. He called the writers of it 'the above boys and the below boys.'"

"Thanking you, we remain—A foolish, weak participal ending, probably used because the writer's grandfather used it.

"And oblige—Hoary with old age.

"Your letter to hand—This expression has already grown white with whiskers.

"Trusting to hear from you—Don't be so trusting; give that phrase a well-earned rest.

"I. O. E.—Rome had her decline and fall. Why, oh, why, must we use her ancient expressions today?

"In re—Latin again. Isn't English good enough?

"E. G.—Good enough for the twelfth century.

"Shall and will—Watch your shalls and wills. An Oxford University professor says that they show whether one is educated or uneducated."

Reply to Screen Voice Puts Theater in Uproar

Oklahoma City, Okla., April 5 (U.P.).—A bashful youth entered a movie theater in the middle of a picture. Cautiously he groped down the darkened aisle. He walked to the front of the theater, then turned to go back in search of a seat.

"What are you doing there?" queried a voice from the talking screen.

"Nothing, just looking for a seat," answered the startled youth.

He left the theater in embarrassment as the audience burst into a roar of applause.

W. A. HARPER DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Brother of District Financier Helped Establish Bank in Capital.

Leesburg, Va., April 5.—Wells A. Harper, 70, brother of Col. Robert N. Harper, former president of the District National Bank in Washington, D. C., died this morning in the Loudoun County Hospital here after an extended illness.

Mr. Harper, who was a son of the late Robert Harper, was one of the leading farmers of Loudoun County, where he spent practically his entire lifetime.

He was one of the founders of the District National Bank and a member of its first board of directors.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Presbyterian Church here, with interment in Leesburg Memorial Cemetery.

The District National Bank will be represented at the funeral by Leon Ulman, John F. Maury and C. J. Gockler.

SPRING BUSINESS.

Last week was remarkable for the number and variety of sources and authorities that furnished optimistic reports on the business situation and conditions throughout the country. The changes are mostly seasonal in character, but they show such a definite improvement as to warrant the belief now generally held that the prolonged depression has passed its worst stages.

Washington, with larger cash bank balances on hand than ever before, indicates a more conservative spirit among investors than that of New York, where the March absorption of flotations was one of the largest on record. The placing of a total of $275,000,000 in new issues was only exceeded by the figures for December, 1929, and June, 1924. March of this year was in decided contrast to the two preceding months, when the total flotations for both fell short of $170,000,000.

The three-for-one oversubscription of the last Treasury offering shows that there is still available a large amount of capital for investment in absolutely sound securities, even at minimum rates of interest. Treasury officials express satisfaction that the refinancing of the first quarter of 1932 was accomplished without dislocation in any degree of the money market, although the total turnover exceeded $3,000,000,000. Member banks of the Federal Reserve system, also, are apparently in a more independent position than they have been at any time since the war. The statement of the Federal Reserve Board for April 2 shows borrowings of $163,630,000 by the banks, the lowest figure since September, which was the only exception in more than twelve years.

HOW TO STOP WAR.

Few problems have brought forth such a remarkable display of genius in recent years as the prevention of war. The great powers have concentrated their attention on the question, and after many years of diligent effort have come to the conclusion that there is no way on earth of preventing war if people want to fight. Endeavors to make a sudden end of armed conflict have brought forth the spectacle of war to end war. World opinion seems to be simmering down to a conclusion that only by a process of gradual evolution toward justice will the old globe be able to shake off its belligerency.

But the world is full of geniuses who know better. A fair sample of these peace-promoting philosophers is Charles L. Delbridge, of St. Louis. Mr. Delbridge has worked out a perfect "war preventive" and offered it to the anxious world. He has figured out that it costs $37,000 to kill a soldier in war. That is by all odds too much. Why not end all wars at far less cost and without bloodshed? Here is the formula:

Let nations at war offer the soldiers of the enemy $1,000 each for desertion or surrender. This means that it would cost only one-thirty-seventh as much to deprive the enemy of a living soldier as it would to shoot him. Furthermore, soldiers thus surrendering would be paid full value for any equipment they might steal from their government. This plan, says Mr. Delbridge, would bring about conditions that would make war impossible.

It should be noted that this is not some idealistic scheme which Mr. Delbridge is offering the world. Let him not be accused of indulging in idle dreams, for his plan, he says, has been tried out in China, and it works. Chinese soldiers were bought from the opposing general at the ridiculous rate of $10 per head.

There seems to be, however, a few details to this world peace panacea which Mr. Delbridge has not yet thought out. How would he dispose of the headstrong recruit who refused to sell his honor, his country and his chances of future happiness for $1,000? Doesn't Mr. Delbridge dote a little too much on the gullibility of man when he assumes that rewards for surrender would not be counteracted by rewards for the capture of the enemy? Why didn't Mr. Delbridge suggest that the United States use its wealth to buy up all the soldiers of the world and put them in cold storage? War would then be unthinkable.

For the present it seems that Mr. Delbridge's brain child must rest upon the shelf along with those noble schemes to prevent war through a monopoly on munitions and by withholding from belligerent governments the instruments of warfare. But by all means let these footbridges to peace be preserved, so that future generations may know that man's failure to end war was not due to any lack of genius in the race, but only because of governmental stupidity.

JOBLESS INSURANCE.

A select committee under the chairmanship of Senator Hebert, of Rhode Island, has undertaken an investigation of unemployment insurance. Its first meeting convened here Friday to hear a representative of the West Virginia Mine Workers Union. The committee listened to a realistic portrayal of conditions in this mining district. Thousands of miners are out of work, others are employed only part time, and many families are destitute. There seems to be no question that this section is in need of relief. But what has that to do with unemployment insurance?

It is well known that unemployment exists throughout the country. Estimates placed the number of men out of work in January at about 6,000,000. Compared with this total the miners who are jobless in West Virginia are but a tiny handful. Without any danger of error the committee can proceed on the basis that an unemployment problem does exist. If there had been no such emergency this committee would never have been appointed.

The task of this committee is to decide the efficacy of unemployment insurance. Even if 30 per cent of the entire working population were without jobs, that would have no bearing upon the question of insurance. What the public wishes to know is whether unemployment insurance is practicable. Would unemployment insurance cure unemployment, or merely tend to make idlers of men?

Of course it is unfair to judge the committee's work by its first meeting, but it does look as if the committee had started off on the wrong foot. The question of insurance must be decided upon economic and social grounds which are much broader than the immediate need for relief.

SOVIET TRADE.

The Department of Commerce has issued a memorandum for the press, showing that the Soviet was America's third best customer during the last fiscal year. Goods valued at nearly $150,000,000 were shipped from this country to Russia—and not paid for. The Soviet purchased more machinery and raw materials here than in any other country in the world. In return America spent only $31,000,000 for Russian products.

It is particularly significant that the Department of Commerce should issue its report just as Moscow is getting ready to send a delegation to Berlin to sign an agreement that will divert a good deal of this trade to Germany. The Soviet has made an expensive bid for American recognition and found that it can not be bought with commercial orders. In quiet disregard of these so-called lucrative orders the Treasury has put an embargo on lumber handled by Soviet convict labor. At the beginning of next year the tariff act will exclude the products of forced labor. This country will not compete with slave labor, no matter how many orders the reds may place with American business.

Having failed to gain recognition from the United States or even encouragement for extension of trade, the Soviet has turned its interest toward Germany. European nations are becoming alarmed at the Russian dumping program and are tightening up their restrictions against Soviet goods. The Soviet is anxious, therefore, to throw its favors into Europe's lap. It is reported that $75,000,000 worth of orders will be placed in Germany as the result of recent negotiations.

There are other reasons, of course, why the Soviet monopoly is withdrawing from the American market. Only a fraction of the goods that American business has "sold" to Russia has been paid for. Apparently financiers in this country are not willing to go on financing the five-year plan. They are going to let Germany do her part. The German government has graciously arranged to guarantee against loss those business interests dealing with the reds. Should the Soviet default the national government would pay 40 per cent of the loss and the state governments would make up another 30 per cent. When the Russian trading machine has used up all the credit that is available in Germany it may be expected to turn to some other country with offers of lucrative trade.

NICARAGUA CANAL.

A good deal of speculation is heard as to danger of earthquakes along the line of the proposed Nicaraguan Canal. Apparently those who are opposed to a second water connection between the Atlantic and Pacific are preparing to use this argument to defeat the project in Congress. But, as a matter of fact, seismographic disturbances will probably have little influence upon the ultimate decision.

Engineers who are studying the Nicaraguan route for the Government point out that Nicaragua is not more subject to earthquakes than is Panama. Much of the Nicaraguan route lies along the San Juan River and through Lake Nicaragua. This fact suggests that this proposed canal might be less liable to disturbance than the Panama waterway.

A quake of the intensity of that which has just shaken Managua to ruins might not damage an interoceanic canal. Most of the damage caused by earthquakes results from tottering buildings. Not much vibration is needed to demolish structures that have no steel framework. But it would take a violent disturbance to destroy a canal and its locks imbedded securely in the earth. Maj. Gen. Lytle Brown, Chief of Engineers, points out that several quakes have jarred Panama since the canal was built, without making a dent in the canal locks.

It may be assumed, however, that an earthquake might destroy a canal, either in Panama or in Nicaragua. This possibility is a powerful argument in favor of constructing a second waterway. If the Panama Canal should be damaged the commerce which passes through it would be paralyzed, and the national defense would be impaired. Such a contingency could be averted by construction of a second canal remote from the first.

The need for another canal will probably not become urgent for a number of years. But there seems to be no question that in the not distant future the Panama Canal will not accommodate all interoceanic traffic. In anticipation of that probability the United States may be expected to construct a second canal through Nicaragua. Since the Panama Canal has become a successful business enterprise there is no reason why construction of this second project should be delayed beyond the time of probable need.

MR. CAPONE VINDICATED.

Once again Al Capone, the most eminent chief in Chicago's leading industry, has offered himself upon the altar of justice and has been found guileless. Al's presence in court is occasionally demanded in the Windy City, just to let the rest of the world know that Chicago has courts. But the police regard him with compassionate eyes and pronounce his record as white as snow. Then the court tells Al to go forth and let his light so shine that others, seeing his good work, will follow after him.

Chicago takes great delight in vindicating the characters of its distinguished citizens. Once Al had the misfortune to be sent to jail in Philadelphia. His stock suffered a severe depression. On his release he went rushing home to Chicago, presumably for vindication. He visited the district attorney and the police. They wiped his record clean and told the public that no one in Chicago "wanted" Al.

Time fled, and malicious rumors were circulated against the Chicago gentleman. He was called a gangster, a thug and many other vile names, all of which are loathsome to Chicago. To make matters worse the Federal court stepped in and gave him a six-month jail sentence for contempt. But the Windy City will not tolerate vilification of its favorite sons. Al was haled into court on a charge of vagrancy and given an opportunity to redeem his prestige once more. But Al did not have to speak for himself. When the judge asked the police to bear witness to his vagrancy, not one would do so. Once more this distinguished gentleman is free to return triumphant to his business.

It is not surprising that Mr. Capone has become the symbol of Chicago justice in the public eye. The surprising thing is that Chicago hasn't made Al its mayor.

In view of Secretary Wilbur's latest move to "conserve" the Nation's oil, it is to be hoped that the Interior Department will never be called upon to revise the dictionary.

While the Government is doing all it can to create jobs Col. Woodcock launches a new drive to swell the ranks of unemployed bootleggers.

There's one thing to be said for America's insurgents. They haven't ever boasted that heads will roll when they come into power.

It is estimated that rackets in the United States cost the people more than $12,000,000,000 per year, not including Congress.

CALENDAR REFORM

From the Boston Transcript.

The World's Calendar Association and the Fixed Calendar League have been holding a conference in New York in preparation for submitting to the League of Nations a definite practical scheme for reforming the Gregorian calendar. Unfortunately, they are not yet in agreement as to the details of their proposals. The Fixed Calendar League advocates a year of 13 28-day months, every month to begin, like our recent February, on Sunday, and to end on Saturday, with one extra day in ordinary years and two extra days in leap year. But the lady who heads the World's Calendar Association protests that the thirteen-month year would introduce "a ghastly system of monotony," with all the holidays coming on the same day of the week year in and year out. Much of the joy of life lies in figuring ahead whether we can squeeze in a day or two more of junketing when a holiday falls on Friday or Monday; our birthday and other anniversaries are now movable feasts, but the thirteen-month calendar would compel us to celebrate many of them on Sunday.

The plan of the World's Calendar Association provides more latitude in this particular. The year would be divided into four quarters of thirteen weeks each. January, April, July and October would have 31 days each; the other months 30, except that the present December 31 would be known as year day. Leap day in leap year would be inserted between June and July. The great advantage of this plan lies in making the basic business unit of the calendar the quarterly instead of the monthly period. Accounts would be rendered quarterly instead of monthly as now, "with an enormous saving in stationery for bills and statements." The lessened waste of stationery would cut down the demands upon the paper mills, and this in turn would result in a saving of the forests. The rent collector, the installment man and the meter man would call once a quarter and there would be a great conservation of shoe leather.

We are told by the enthusiastic promoters of this plan that business men are in favor of it. As to that, we await further information. There is no doubt, however, that from the standpoint of tenants and those who have charge accounts at the stores, this reform can not be put into operation at too early a date. The only amendment they could suggest would be the elimination of the quarterly payment plan and the substitution for it of the wise Chinese custom of squaring accounts once a year. It should be clear to every unprejudiced mind that there is a greater saving of stationery and shoe leather and clerk hire when bills are rendered annually than would be possible under the quarterly system. Whether this in its turn would lead to pay days once a year is something that causes the exuberant fancy of the average wage earner to be sickled o'er with the pale cast of thought. If the reform in the calendar were left to him we have no doubt that he would begin by suggesting that the year be divided into 300 pay days with a full week's pay on each and double on leap day.

Not one policeman would testify against Capone. Their motto is: Keep Chicago a health resort for minions of the law.

Prohibition is characterized by Mr. Raskob as the greatest serial experiment ever undertaken by the civilized world, thus distinguishing it from the cereal experiment of the Farm Board.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE JUDGE.

They'd loved him once and voted him to sit
As Judge of all the sinners to be caught,
For such a post by nature he seemed fit,
And at the outset so I think he thought.

But he was quick to pardon and forgive
And soon the public questioned his decrees.
Then he resigned and went his way to live,
As he explained, where he could be at ease.

"So many came for punishment," said he,
"Whose sins were mine, if but the truth were known.
No erring culprit ever made a plea
Whose faults did not remind me of my own."

If the Killer Isn't Guilty, How Does the Jury Account for the Dead Man?

By ROBERT QUILLEN

THE institution that does most to encourage crime and dishearten the friends of law and order is the jury.

The business of a jury is to safeguard the rights of the man accused, but it also owes a duty to the whole people.

By failing in its duty it betrays a trust and thus makes itself a supporter of society's enemies.

Do you know why prosecuting attorneys labor so zealously to win convictions?

It is because their jobs depend upon the good will of the people. They are servants of the people and the people demand convictions.

Do you know why the people require convictions?

Because they know the accused are guilty.

Nine times in ten the man arrested for a crime is guilty as charged.

There is no question about his guilt. The only question is whether the jury will convict him.

In America the theory is that every man is innocent until proven guilty, but in nearly all cases the fact of guilt is apparent before the trial begins.

Nearly all crimes, except those defined by sumptuary laws, are crimes against property or crimes of violence.

In every case the fact of crime is apparent and conceded. That is, the stolen money is actually missing; the body of the slain man lies there for all to see. No one denies that a crime has been committed.

That being true the only question left to answer is whether the law has the right man.

If the man arrested did not commit the crime some other man did. If the jury finds this one not guilty it is the obvious duty of the law to look further and find the man who is guilty.

The law seldom does that. It drops the case. For everybody knows, despite the jury's verdict, that the man accused did commit the crime. The jury's treachery is confessed by the very fact that no effort is made to find another man to convict.

We blame lawyers who defend the guilty, and in many cases the blame is just, but no defense would save the guilty if juries were faithful to decency and right.

PRO AND CON

Press Comment Upon Acts and Actors in the Great American Show, "Politics."

Why Sectionalism?

Atlanta Constitution.

Leaders in the political world are deploring the certainty they see that "sectionalism" will figure largely and distractingly in the presidential election next year. But why there should be more sectionalism in the politics of next year than in any national campaign since 1865 they do not plausibly explain.

They say that the power issue is quite likely to be a salient issue. Possibly so, but it is hard to see it as a sectional issue or a partisan issue. Power problems have their repercussions in the East even more than in the West or in the South. Senator Norris may accentuate it as a reason for legislative insurgency, but Gov. Roosevelt is as strong an advocate of power regulation as a Democratic principle as Gov. Pinchot is a Republican apostle of the same principle. Why, then, power should become a partisan sectional issue is more than difficult to figure out at this time.

Curry Approved.

Brooklyn Citizen.

Gov. Roosevelt put an end to all talk of a "break" between Tammany Hall and himself, when he appointed Chief Magistrate Corrigan general sessions judge to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Judge Bertini and Mr. Dore, head of the Tammany law committee, Supreme Court justice in place of Justcie Dowling, resigned.

Neither of these appointments would have been made without the approval of Mr. Curry. This is well understood by the politicians, even though the newspapers seem to be in doubt about the matter.

Cheaper in the Long Run.

Los Angeles Times.

Somebody has estimated that the legislatures of the 48 States of the country are costing us in the neighborhood of $15,000,000 this year. If that were the only cost we might be willing to give them a bonus to stay at home.

Vermont Stays Republican.

Houston Post-Dispatch.

Democratic hopes of getting control of the Senate through election of a senator in Vermont to succeed the late Senator Frank L. Greene were dashed Tuesday when in a special election in Vermont Warren V. Austin, a Republican, was chosen for Greene's seat over Driscoll, the Democrat.

Those hopes, to be sure, rested on not a very secure basis. Vermont, native State of Calvin Coolidge, has not sent a Democrat to the Senate since the War Between the States. For more than 60 years it has been classed as a rock-ribbed Republican State. This year, however, the Democrats tried the strategy they worked successfully in two other New England States. They nominated a wet and undertook to make prohibition the issue. In Massachusetts that succeeded, securing for them the election of Marcus Coolidge as the successor to Senator Gillett, thus giving the Democrats both senators from Massachusetts. And in Connecticut, a State heretofore considered predominantly Republican, the Democrats elected a governor on a wet ticket.

Voters Otherwise Engaged.

Louisville Courier-Journal.

Warren R. Austin, Republican, won the race in a light vote for United States Senator in Vermont. Naturally it was a light vote at this time of year, what with the sap running and the roads thawing.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

New Director of Traffic a Good Man, But Washington Ought to Develop Its Own Experts.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Every once in a while for a number of years past I have been stirred to kick at the employment of outside experts to manage civic activities in Washington. Although I had made up my mind not to do any more kicking in that connection, I can not resist the temptation to comment on the recent appointment of William A. Van Duzer, assistant chief engineer of the Pennsylvania department of highways, to be our director of vehicles and traffic, the new office created by the traffic act passed at the last session of Congress.

Pennsylvania deserves great credit for its early and liberal provision for the needs of modern traffic. Its highway system is a model for other States, and, of course, Director Van Dusen's efficient work in that extensive development gives us assurance that our traffic tribulations will receive intelligent attention. Nevertheless, I fail to see how that in itself makes him better fitted than our own experts to meet the special difficulties of motor congestion in the National Capital.

Surely, if I may repeat what has been remarked time and again, it does seem strange that a municipality of approaching a half million of inhabitants can not furnish experts to solve its own problems. We have means of education here which, it seems to me, should develop the natural talent of students ready to meet any civic requirement.

Our Board of Trade or our Chamber of Commerce, I feel very certain, could furnish, if that were within their province, more than one Washingtonian of unquestioned ability to deal with the riddle of motor traffic with as much satisfaction to as great a number of motorists as is possible under present conditions.

In accounting for bad conditions we must enter the field of psychology. Human nature is at the bottom of all our traffic woes. If all motorists were entirely public spirited the benefits and safety of motor traffic might at once be increased at least 50 per cent. In fact, my opinion is that traffic regulation will never be established on anything at all like a satisfactory basis so long as the public at large fails to understand and uncomplainingly submits to the material limitations which are involved in the use of motor vehicles.

F. J. PARSONS.

Let Uncle Sam Put in Gangways and Sell Pure Likker at Cost, and Crime Will Disappear.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: As long as we have the enormous profit that is made in liquor, we are going to have criminals. Take away the profit and there will be nobody who will care to manufacture or sell it.

Let the Government build or buy a distillery, say one on this side of the Rocky Mountains and another on the Pacific Slope, and hire the best distillers to be found in the country to take charge and manufacture the liquor as pure as can be made, and let it be sold strictly at cost.

I would build a building something on the order of a voting booth, with a door at each end, one to come in and one to go out. A counter would be along the whole length of the room, with the barrels on the back shelf. Allow no treating, loafing or visiting in there. Simply go in, purchase your drink and come out.

The man or clerk in charge should be appointed like the postmaster and he should be obliged to give them what they want. Let him understand that less liquor handled through the place the surer he can be of his job, and it will also prevent the encouragement of drinking.

They should start with, say, 2 cents a drink and run for a certain length of time, say, two months. If they find it too much, let them reduce it, and if they find it not enough, let them raise it, but under no circumstances let any profit get into it. I think this will stop crimes if that law went into effect.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The item about the old apple man who rescued a wounded dog touched me as nothing has for a long time. I am a great lover of dogs myself, and any one who has time to stop and do a kind deed to them, especially when hurt as this one was, surely deserves credit.

I am poor myself, working for a living and having a time making ends meet, but I am sending you one dollar and feel sure that you will see that it is given to this poor soul. Urges the Appointment of More Colored Police.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The District Commissioners, officials and personnel officers of the Metropolitan Police Department have been asked by the Rev. H. R. Randolph, of the A. M. E. Zion Church, Philadelphia and Baltimore Conference, to select more colored applicants from the Civil Service Commission lists to fill vacancies in the Police Department created by deaths, retirements, promotions and resignations.

There are approximately over 1,000 officers on the District police force, but only 43 colored officers are on the force.

According to the colored population in the District of Columbia, which is 132,000, more colored men should be on the police force. F. P. C.

RED CHIEF IN BERLIN ON $75,000,000 DEAL

Piatakov Arrives to Settle Russia's Huge Purchase of Machinery.

Berlin, April 5 (A.P.).—G. L. Piatakov today arrived in Berlin as head of a Russian trade delegation which will direct details of $75,000,000 worth of orders for German machinery to be shipped to the Soviet Union. The deal resulted from the recent visit of a group of German industrialists to Moscow.

Piatakov is head of Russian chemical industries and formerly was director of the Russian State Bank. He also has led business delegations to Paris.

The Russian industrialist will be joined here in a few days by a dozen fellow countrymen, including representatives of the mining, machinery construction, agriculture and financial interests. Two secretaries accompanied him today.

Both Reach Accord.

Both countries have agreed on the principles of the big commercial deal. The German government also has agreed in principle to guaranteeing the contracts.

Intricate details still remain to be worked out concerning the manner and method of delivery, payment and credit terms which the Russians desire should range from 14 to 20 months, instead of from 12 to 24 months as hitherto, according to the class of business.

Since the first payments are not due until July, 1932, the German government intends to set aside a reserve fund in the 1931 budget amounting to from $14,000,000 to $15,000,000. The Russians already are reported to have agreed to pay 20 per cent cash on delivery.

Germany Limits Liability.

Germany will decline liability for damages to machinery in transit, caused by careless handling in Russian territory. They also urge the necessity of their representatives inspecting local conditions in Russia. This is in connection with the machinery to be installed, and the desirability of several German firms having joint agencies in Russia to cut down expenses. Hitherto Soviet authorities had been unwilling to concede this.

It is understood that the Germans also demand that all foreign skilled engineers in Soviet employment should be paid the same scale according to their various qualifications. It is alleged Americans at present are singled out for special high rates of pay.

Lumbermen Cite New Red Charges

Association Says Russia's Doctoring News May Bar Entry of Timber.

(Associated Press.)

The National Lumber Manufacturers Association announced yesterday alleged Russian "doctoring" of press dispatches from that country dealing with convict labor would be used in opposition to entry of 6,000,000 feet of Russian lumber expected to arrive soon at an Atlantic port.

The shipment for a time was regarded at the Treasury Department as a test of its recent ruling that lumber from northern Russia would not be allowed entry, unless positive proof was presented no convict or forced labor was used. Latest information, however, is that the shipment is from southern Russia and is not in the nature of a test.

The association, in its statement, said it had officially called the attention of Treasury officials to alleged Russian censorship of press dispatches to the Chicago Tribune from its Archangel correspondent. The censors, the association asserted, had "Absolutely changed as well as suppressed" statements in the press dispatches.

FLAG CONTEST QUIZ IS BEING PREPARED

Questions Framed to Give Broad Conception of National Ideals.

addition to the patriotic pilgrimage to historic spots in America, includes a voyage across the ocean on a palatial liner to England and France, where the winners will meet with the children of these two countries in a good-will mass meeting, which will be broadcast across the Atlantic and thence throughout the United States.

A wonderful program will be prepared for the group of boys and girls who make the trip, beginning right here in Washington, where they will meet the President of the United States and will participate in a number of interesting things, including, on Flag Day, a pilgrimage to the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, when they will place on the tomb a beautiful American flag made of red, white and blue flowers as a tribute from the youth of America. The boys and girls will be guests at the Mayflower Hotel pending their start for the trip to historic American spots and the voyage to Europe.

Many of the questions now being prepared will be based on the short essays, written by Col. James A. Moss, president general of the Flag Association, and printed daily in The Washington Post. Therefore, it behooves every contestant to read The Post carefully each day and to make a note of the facts contained in these essays, as they will be vitally important in connection with the preliminary test Saturday, April 11.

It is safe to say that the fortunate boys and girls who make the trip to Europe will be one of the most outstanding groups that have ever gone on a good will trip, for each boy and girl will have been picked on his or her ability to write, think and lead, three qualifications that will go far toward giving them a bright chance to be among the future leaders of the United States.

British Flier Down in Africa.

Many Countries Gave Qualities to America

This is the sixth of a series of essays of the Flag which are intended to assist entrants in The Post-United States Flag Association "Envoy of Friendship Contest," in preparing for the preliminary test to be held April 11.

QUALITIES OF OTHER COUNTRIES REFLECTED IN AMERICAN FLAG.

By COL. JAMES A. MOSS,
U. S. A., Retired, President General United States Flag Association.

Many are the countries whose qualities, through the glories of their own great men, we see reflected in the greatness of the American Flag. The courage of Italy we see in the bravery of Columbus, discoverer of the Mississippi, and in the extensive America; the daring of Spain in the adventure of De Soto, who discovered explorations of Spaniards in the Southwest; the patriotism of France in the generalship of Lafayette and Rochambeau, who gave Washington such valuable assistance; the thoroughness of Germany in the precision of Von Steuben, who directed so efficiently the training and instruction of the American Revolutionary Army; the daring of Poland in the fearlessness of Kosciusko and Pulaski, who helped to win American independence; the ruggedness of Holland in the determination of Peter Stuyvesant and other hardy Dutchmen who were the early settlers of New York; and so on down the line, including the sterling traits of the English, many of which we see reflected in our national characteristics.

In Lafayette Square, in front of the White House, one is deeply impressed with the extent to which the spirit of other countries is woven into the American Flag. There are five statues in the square. In the center we see Andrew Jackson's monument, the other four, one in each corner, being those of Lafayette, Rochambeau, Kosciusko and Von Steuben.

East-West Plane Line Starts First Coast Run

Newark, N. J., April 5 (A.P.).—A trimotored National Air Transport plane took off at 9:08 a. m. today with six passengers, inaugurating the East-West new 31-hour line to San Francisco. The take-off had been postponed four times because of bad weather.

Piloted by Warren D. Williams, the ship also carried about 800 pounds of mail. Charles W. Dickenson, 73-year-old former pilot, was a San Francisco passenger. The first eastbound plane arrived from the Pacific Coast last night with twelve passengers.

China Denies Report Of Embargo on Wheat

Shanghai, April 5 (A.P.).—H. H. Kung, minister of commerce and industry, told the Associated Press today that the Nationalist government is not considering an embargo on foreign wheat.

He said the rumor had arisen in connection with the government's discussion of methods of preventing the possible dumping of Russian grain in China. Kung said, however, Russia had not yet attempted to unload any great quantities of grain here.

EVENTS OF INTEREST IN SOCIETY CIRCLES OF CAPITAL

Miss Fesler To Be Wed to Californian

Mrs. Hoover's Social Secretary Engaged to Mr. Lipman.

JUDGE AND MRS. BERT FESLER, of Duluth, Minn., announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Ruth Fesler, to Mr. Robert Lockwood Lipman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Lockwood Lipman, of Berkeley, Calif. The wedding will take place late in the spring.

Miss Fesler, who has been associated with Mrs. Hoover as social secretary for three and one-half years, has made her home in Washington for several years, having come as social secretary at the White House with the President and Mrs. Hoover. With Miss Mary Randolph and Miss Mildred Hall she formed the trio of young women who aided Mrs. Hoover in carrying out the social regime of the White House. With the resignation of Miss Randolph a year ago Miss Fesler and Miss Hall have, since that time, constituted the staff serving Mrs Hoover as social secretaries.

A graduate of Stanford University, Miss Fesler spent her college years on the West Coast. When Mr. Hoover, President-elect, and Mrs. Hoover made their historic journey to South America before Mr. Hoover's inauguration, they were accompanied by Miss Fesler.

Mr. Lipman, who was graduated from the University of California at Berkeley and from the Harvard Law School, is associated with the law firm of McCutchen, Olney, Mannon and Greene in San Francisco, where, with his bride, he will make his home.

British Ambassador Will Entertain for Visitor.

The British Ambassador and Lady Lindsay will entertain at luncheon today at the embassy in honor of the Rt. Hon. Montagu Collet Norman, governor of the Bank of England, who is making a brief visit in Washington to hold conferences with Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Andrew Mellon; Eugene Meyer, Governor of the Federal Reserve Board and other officials.

With Mr. George L. Harrison, governor of the New York Federal Reserve Bank, whom he has been visiting in New York, Mr. Norman will be the guest of Rear Admiral and Mrs. Cary T. Grayson while in Washington. Admiral and Mrs. Grayson have made no plans for the formal entertainment of their guests, as the length of their stay is undetermined and they are desirous of opportunity for informal discussion with officials.

The guests at the luncheon today will be the Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Mellon; Justice and Mrs. Harlan Fiske Stone, Rear Admiral and Mrs. Grayson, Mr. George L. Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Whitridge, of New York; Mrs. William Corcoran Eustis, Miss Monica Phillips and Miss Irene Boyle.

Tomorrow the Ambassador and Lady Lindsay will entertain at luncheon for the retiring Naval Attache of the Embassy and Mrs. Ritchie.

Marriage Near Middleburg of Interest Here

Miss Eleanor Woodruff Becomes Bride of Mr. Richardson.

Of great interest to Washington is the marriage of Miss Eleanor Woodruff, of New York, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Woodruff, of Towanda, Pa., to Mr. Dorsey Richardson, of Washington and Baltimore, on Saturday.

The wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Phillips, of New York and Westbury, Long Island, near Middleburg, Va., in the presence of immediate families and close friends. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. Shannon Montgomery, of Leesburg. Mrs. Phillips was the bride's only attendant and Mr. Allen W. Dulles, of New York, was the best man.

After a brief wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Richardson will divide their time between New York and London, where Mr. Richardson is engaged in the investment banking business.

Mrs. Richardson is a descendant of several families prominent in the history of Maryland and Pennsylvania and is a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution. She has appeared professionally on the stage and has been active in New York in interior decorating work. She began her stage career with a stock company in Philadelphia and was first starred with Otis Skinner in "Mr. Antonio." Her latest engagement was this season in "The Great Barrington."

Mr. Richardson, who is a graduate of Johns Hopkins University, '15, served in the United States Army during the war, and subsequently was an officer of the Department of State at Washington. He is a member of the Metropolitan Club of Washington, the St. James and the Bachelor Clubs of London and the University Club of New York.

Miss Florence Lyday's Engagement Is Announced.

The engagement of Miss Florance Lyday, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Clyde E. Lyday, of Lyon Village, to Mr. Raymond W. Colton, of Washington, was announced yesterday afternoon at a tea given by Dr. and Mrs. Lyday at their home. The guests at the tea included a group of young girls who are friends of Miss Lyday. No date has been set for the wedding.

Wilsons Give Luncheon at Hollin Hall

Mr. and Mrs. Gruhl Are Guests of Honor at Virginia Home.

Among the most charming of the Easter festivities yesterday was the small luncheon given by Mr. and Mrs. Harley Payton Wilson at their country home, Hollin Hall, in Virginia. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson recently reopened the house after passing several months in California, and have been entertaining over the holiday, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Gruhl, of New York.

The luncheon yesterday was served in the lovely breakfast room with its deep window looking over the formal gardens, and farther on over the spring-tinted hills of Virginia. The window itself was framed in Easter lilies and jonquils, and on the yellow-covered table were pink and yellow spring flowers. The drawing rooms were made bright with sprays of forsythia, fruit blossoms and jonquils.

Invited to meet Mr. and Mrs. Gruhl were Justice and Mrs. Peyton Gordon, Mr. and Mrs. Wade H. Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. John Washington Davidge and Mr. Julius Garfinckel.

At larger parties Mr. and Mrs. Wilson entertain in the guest house which they built a few years ago a short distance from the main house. The guest house overlooks the swimming pool and with its large and comfortable living room, attractive guest rooms and smart dressing rooms for swimmers, offers an ideal place for entertaining.

Princeton Glee Club Opens Annual Spring Tour Here.

The Princeton University Glee Club, which is scheduled to give a concert tomorrow evening at the Mayflower, left the university yesterday to begin its annual Easter tour through the Southern States, when programs will be given at While Sulphur Springs and Hot Springs prior to their arrival in Washington.

For several weeks the club has been steadily rehearsing its programs, so that it is now in perfect readiness to give its usual pleasing performances. Much credit is due Mr. Arthur Knox, undergraduate leader, for his excellent work in rounding out the glee club's program.

Immediately upon its return, the club will go to Philadelphia, where it will rehearse with Mr. Stokowski, of the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra, for the concerts which it will present jointly with that organization, April 10 to 13.

The Easter trip and Philadelphia concerts will round out a very successful season for the Princeton Glee Club, as it has given many concerts during the winter months in New York and other Eastern cities.

Claudel to Go To New York For Concert

Ambassador Is Patron of French Colony's Annual Ball.

M. Paul Claudel, the French Ambassador, will go to New York on Saturday, accompanied by his staff, as the special patron of the annual gala concert and ball of the French colony, to be held under the auspices of the French Veterans of the Great War in the grand ballroom of the Hotel Roosevelt that evening.

Leading the assembly of talent on the concert program will be Maurice Chevalier, who was decorated last year by the French veterans for his outstanding service on behalf of disabled veterans and their families. Wounded and taken prisoner during the World War, he passed some time convalescing in a German camp.

Other artists will include Miss Ruth Miller, soprano, and M. Mario Chamlee, tenor, both formerly of the Mertopolitan Opera Company; Georges Barrare, flutist, and Maurice Jacquet, pianist from the Paris Conservatory of Music; Louis Rigo Bourlier, barytone, of the French Royal Opera at The Hague, and Miss Odette Myrtil, French national lyrist.

Among the patrons, besides Ambassador Claudel, will be M. Maxine Mongendre, Consul General of France, and his staff, including M. Henri Job and M. Garreau Dombasle. The guests of honor will include Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Cartier, Mr. and Mrs. F. Wildenstein, Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Harvey, Col. and Mrs. George W. Burleigh and J. T. Johnston-Mali, Consul General of Belgium.

The dancing will be under the direction of Francis E. Loubet, who will conduct his French Symphonic Dance Orchestra. A buffet supper will be served at midnight.

The proceeds of the ball will aid a fund for the widows and children of French soldiers who lost their lives in the World War and for French soldiers in this country who, on account of war disabilities, are not able to make adequate provision for themselves. The relief bureau's office is in the Salmop Tower.

Mrs. Robert J. Burdette, of California, Visits Capital.

Mrs. Robert J. Burdette, of Pasadena, Calif., is visiting in Washington and is at the Mayflower. She is accompanied by her granddaughter, Miss Emma Wheeler, who attends Westridge School in Pasadena.

Commander G. S. Burrell will be among those to entertain at dinner preceding the United States Navy and Marine Corps ball to be held at the Willard Wednesday.

Miss Elizabeth Wainwright Bull, daughter of Col. and Mrs. Henry Tilghman Bull, will entertain a party of young people at dinner at the Shoreham Hotel this evening, the guests remaining later for supper dancing. Miss Bull's engagement was recently announced to Mr. Robert B. Wolf, of New York.

Hager, Mrs. John Heffernan, Miss Margaret Loughran, Mrs. A. E. Murphy, Mrs. Elmer Murphy, Mrs. J. J. Noonan, Mrs. Frank McIntyre, Mrs. P. J. McGovern and Mrs. W. V. Roach.

The B. V. M. Sodality of St. Matthew's Parish will sponsor a concert and dance at the Mayflower Hotel Thursday evening. Among features on the program are selections by Mr. George O'Connor and the Glee Club of Catholic University.

The following are members of the floor committee:

Mrs. John Hauber, Mrs. Bryan Huyck, Mrs. James Efler, Mrs. P. F. Hannan, Mrs. George McLeod, Mrs. William Franklin, Miss Mary Mangan, Miss Katherine Griffin, Miss Dait Daly, Miss Florence Eichen, Miss Catherine Burke, Miss Nellie Craven, Miss Mary Ryan, Miss Annie Donlin, Miss Rose McCarthy, Miss Mary G. O'Connor, Miss Catherine Hannan, Miss Eleanor Bettley, Miss Mathilde Haney, Miss Hughes and Miss Hortense Rouche.

Bohemian Life Will Feature Club Benefit

Columbian Women Will Picture Latin Quarter of French Capital.

The gay and carefree spirit of the Latin Quarter will pervade the entertainment to be given by Columbian Women of George Washington University at the Arts Club on Friday and Saturday as a benefit for their scholarship fund.

The program of entertainment to be staged in the gallery of the Arts Club has for its inspiration Henri Murger's novel of the life of the art student in seventeenth century Paris, "Bohemian Life," which supplied the story for Puccini's tuneful opera, "La Boheme."

The following events for "A Bohemian Evening" are announced, "with apologies to Henri Murger," in the program for the benefit:

"At 8 o'clock, the salons will be open; brisk and animated conversation.

"At 8:15 o'clock, grand entree and promenade through the salons by the clever performers.

"At 8:20 o'clock, a distinguished vocal artist and student of Mme. Anne Goodhue will perform

"At 8:30 o'clock, original interpretation of the dance by Mlle. Marion Chase and Monsieur Lester Shafer and their Denishawn group.

"At 8:45 o'clock, first reading of a memorial by Mme. X. Femmes des Lettres de l'Ecole de Mme. Anne Tillery Renshaw.

"At 8:55 o'clock, the Troubadours of the George Washington University will imitate the atheletic games of the age moderne.

"At 9:15 o'clock, a discussion of the comparative merits of modern philosophy and Voltairian metapolitics, by a renowned speaker.

"At 9:45 o'clock, 'The Second Memorial,' a symphony, by four foreign princesses from the Carmody Studios."

Stage arrangements for the program have been made by Mr. J. Milnor Dorey, of the Community Drama Guild, and lecturer on play production in the George Washington University.

The costumes of the group of George Washington University.

The costumes of the group of George Washington University sorority girls who will act as ushers and assistants, have been designed by Miss Harriet Garrels in the style worn by "Mimi" in the opera.

Patronesses for the benefit include Mrs. Cloyd Heck Marvin, Mrs. John B. Larner, Mrs. Walter R. Tuckerman.

WHILE the synchronization experiment of the National Broadcasting Co. has improved reception and program service in the three cities affected—Baltimore, Hartford and New York—it has increased fading in some nearby localities, according to Dr. C. B. Jolliffe, chief engineer of the Federal Radio Commission.

Weather conditions have been unfavorable, however, for all broadcasting recently, Dr. Jolliffe explained, and consequently the synchronization scheme has not had a fair test. The engineering division of the commission and radio supervisors of the Department of Commerce are watching the experiment with great interest.

Change in the antenna design, to curtail the emitted sky-wave and to emphasize the ground wave, would effect an improvement in the synchronized hook-up, the chief engineer believes.

Station WBAL, of Baltimore, is synchronized on alternate days with WJZ, of New York, while WITC, of Hartford, is synchronized with WEAF, of New York. Both the stations, able to operate full time under the plan, report very few complaints. On the other hand, they are receiving daily hundreds of letters of commendation.

The adventures of little Orphan Annie, the comic strip character created by Harold Gray, will become a daily feature over the WJZ network, beginning today at 5:30 p. m.

TWO Army Day observances will be broadcast over the national networks today. From the portico of the State, War and Navy Building, Gen. Douglas MacArthur, chief of staff, will explain the "Purposes of Army Day" (WMAL, 12 noon). From New York City, Maj. Gen. James G. Harbord will speak briefly (WRC, 10:30 p. m.).

The widely discussed "Bolero" will be presented by Howard Barlow's Orchestra tomorrow night (WMAL, 9:30 o'clock). Maurice Ravel's intricate arrangement of an unforgettable tune of sixteen bars played by each section of an orchestra against a continuous side-drum rhythm is to be preceded by Mozart's overture to "The Magic Flute" and the finale of Beethoven's "Symphony No. 8."

The rendition of Wagner's "Parsifal," under the direction of Walter Damrosch on Good Friday night, stands out as one of this active conductor's most exquisite contributions to radio music.

A recital of Jeanette Vreeland, soprano, will augment Eugene Ormandy's orchestral concert on Wednesday night (WMAL, 10:40 o'clock).

Ruth Chatterton, stage and screen actress, will actuate a microphone from Hollywood earlier the same night (WMAL, 8:30 o'clock).

Hal Kemp and his orchestra, absent from the air for several months, will return today (WRC, 12:15 p. m.)

AN immediate success among listeners who enjoy the old mountaineer tunes, is predicted for the Cumberland Ridge Runners, straight from the Kentucky hills, who made their debut over Columbia last Saturday night.

The Ladies Choral Club, of the Washington Missionary College at Takoma Park, D. C., directed by Verna Schuster-Metcalfe may be heard Wednesday afternoon (WRC, 2:15 p. m.)

A new song, which he predicts will soon become a hit, will be introduced by Guy Lombardo in his broadcast tonight (WMAL, 10 p. m.)

A book about "Radio Writing" by Peter Dixon, will be ready shortly. It includes manuscripts of some of the NBC's most popular dramas, including "Harbor Lights" "Station KUKU, "Skyscraper," "Famous Loves" and "Raising Junior."

ANALYSIS of fan mail responsive to nightly concerts of Pryor's Band, indicates that "Stars and Stripes Forever" is the best-liked. Listeners of the older generation, however, are voting for the "Washington Post March." Of Pryor's own composition, his "The Whistler and His Dog" is the favorite.

Dame Fashion Interprets the Mode

Afternoon dress in deep red satin, Hindu style, with gold and black embroidery and silver metal belt. Worn with a brown veiling hat trimmed with colored metal plaques. (Courtesy of Suzanne Talbot, Paris.)

PARIS, April 5.—Every once in a while, that is every five or six years, the mode calls attention again to scotch plaid. But it is generally more talked about than worn. Perhaps that is because, charming though it may be, one tires of it quickly. However, this spring plaid promises to be popular, but will be almost always used in combination with plain material.

Now, the woman who can have only one morning or sport costume, if she is wise, will use plaid discreetly for a lining or for a scarf. She will choose just such a costume as I saw in the Premet collection. It consisted of a one-piece dress and a little straight jacket in a dark red woollen fabric. The jacket, which had the new elbow sleeves, was lined in white and red plaid silk, and a scarf of the same plaid was worn around the neck. In the same house a bright blue sport frock had a silk plaid scarf in matching blues tied in a jaunty bow about the neck. A plaid flower with its matching scarf brightened a navy-blue jersey frock. These touches of plaid I thought very new, fresh and youthful.

If you prefer you may decide upon one of the charming short-sleeved blouses in silk plaid to wear with a tailored suit in plain wool. A blouse has an obvious advantage over trimming—it is so easily changed when one tires of it!

If you are a real lover of plaid, or can have two or more morning costumes, I saw a costume at Lucient Lelong's which had a double-breasted, belted jacket in navy-blue wool, and a pleated skirt and detached scarf in navy blue plaid.

* * * *

Maybe you think you don't want an evening scarf, but you're wrong—because this particular one that you can make for yourself by just sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post, has more uses than you can imagine until you see it. It's an evening scarf to be sure, but if you were lucky enough to have it in your wardrobe you'd find ever so many times when you'd want to slip it around your shoulders in the afternoon, or over your nightie when you're being a sick-a-bed lady and having visitors. This illustrated leaflet, a stamped self-addressed envelope and a yard and a half material, and you make the evening scarf and another simple little bed jacket out of the pieces.

Susanne Talbot has the reputation of creating slightly theatrical but extremely artistic gowns inspired by the costumes now no longer worn by the women in different countries in the world. But personally I think that she has a decided flare for modernizing these costumes to the extent that they can be worn by a modern elegante quite safely and not look too picture-bookish. For example, I sketched an interesting afternoon gown of hers today, in dark red satin, which is decidedly Hindu in inspiration, as you can see from the lines of the dress and the embroidery. The embroidery was in gold silk and black and the belt was a sort of silverish metal. And with this model was worn a most interesting silk mesh hat which looked really like a draped veil, since there was nothing on it to indicate that it was a hat. In color it matched the gown, and right in the center of the forehead and at the sides was a trimming of three colors of metal in plaques.

Did you read Dare's weekly fashion letter yesterday? And didn't you enjoy it? There'll be another one in next Sunday's Washington Post.

Wives of Tomorrow

FRANCES M'DONALD

The Secret Marriage.

DEAR Frances McDonald: Two years ago, I was secretly married by a justice of the peace. My parents did not like this fellow, so we agreed to keep everything quiet for a while.

Don't you think two years is too long a time? I've given up! I have found out that he would never care to have things otherwise. Oh—he's so satisfied. Don't you think that he should live up to his promises and assume some of the responsibilities?

The whole thing is ruining my health. I've turned against him. He'll probably be willing to make a home for me if he has to, but how can I live with him now—feeling towards him as I do?

Have I any grounds for a divorce? I would not want any publicity as it would hurt my parents.

He has never supported me, and has refused to make a home for me. He is in very comfortable circumstances. He says he will never let me be free to enjoy life with other fellows. I meet nice fellows every day in the week, but can not go out with them. Have I the right to refuse to go out with him?

Maybe I am altogether wrong. Please tell me what you think of the whole situation. Will you advise me, as I can not let anyone know until things are straightened out a bit.

AFRAID.

The objections of your parents seem to have been well founded. Of course you have grounds for divorce—and should seek one.

Stop fearing what people will say. He is taking advantage of that fear in you. You certainly are entitled to the right to find a real man. And you can find nowhere one who will be less a man than this one. Tell him that you are going to divorce him.

You do not state your age but regardless of age you should confide in your parents. It is the most bitter thing in life tenderly to care for a child and then suddenly find that child is a stranger. To your parents your are still the child they tended in babyhood. Your every heartache is theirs as you are theirs. You can not sever yourself from them and should not try. Tell them all that has happened and tell them that you wish to be free. Had this man been dealing with a girl whose family had to be reckoned with, he would not have had things so much to his liking the past two years. As it is he has imposed upon what to him was your helplessness. But you are far from helpless. Your parents are far more interested in you than either you or he could believe possible. The young know nothing of the tie that binds the child to the two who watched its first faltering step. No mere mistake can sever that tie.

With regard to publicity. There need be none. Have your father attend to the matter of a trustworthy attorney. He will do the rest. Divorce is an everyday matter.

What Today Means to You

"ARIES."

IF April 6 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:30 to 11:10 a. m., from 2 p. m. to 4:18 p. m. and from 7:45 p. m. to 9:15 p. m. The danger periods are from noon to 1:30 p. m. and from 6:10 p. m. to 7:30 p. m.

The planetary aspects of April 6 predict variable conditions and perplexing moods. Only those who can rise superior to environment and who can maintain equilibrium in spite of oscillation should tempt fortune by fresh endeavor. All others should remain quiescent.

Children born on this April 6 will be just, faithful and capable of great self-sacrifice. Their happiness will consist more in doing for others than in pursuing selfish interests. They promise to become deservedly popular, and their friends will be legion. They will be affectionate and loyal.

If you were born on an April 6 you are quite clever, self-willed, persistent and determined. In spite, however, of exceptional strength of character, you often deprive yourself of final victory by passivity, when, in order to achieve your purpose, action is essential. This rather contradictory temperament is not a result of weakness or lack of vision, but it is only attributable to natural kindness of spirit and an inborn fear of hurting others.

You, although willing to sacrifice time and pleasure for the sake of a pet plan or project, are always careful to surround yourself in your home with everything that provides ease and comfort. After any strenuous effort, you needs must have a peaceful shelter in which to create your own environment, instead of permitting environment to influence you.

You possess a strong personality—more compelling than persuasive. You are loyal only to those who are loyal to you. Your nature is a grateful one, and though rather independent of favors, only accept them when they can be generously repaid. Life holds in store for you many successes and few disappointments.

Successful people born April 6:

James Mill, historian and political economist.

Harry Houdini, magician.

J. Warren Andrews, organist.

Camille Pierre Dadant, apiarist.

William R. King, vice president under Pierce.

Alexander S. Mackenzie, naval officer.

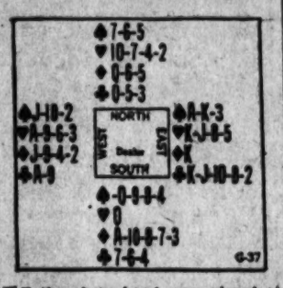
FOUR QUEENS FAIL TO TAKE A TRICK.



IF the above hand were played at Auction Bridge, East would bid one Club after three passes. South would pass again, West would bid one No Trump and hold the contract. East on the first round might bid one No Trump in spite of his singleton King, which is not a No Trump bar; but the Club bid would be safer and, coming from a fourth hand, it would be recognized by West as a showing of considerable strength and a request to him—but not a command—to make a better declaration.

The hand was played at Contract; East made the same opening bid of one Club, South passed again, West bid one No Trump, and East three.

North's opening lead was the Deuce of Hearts from his only four-card suit, and South's singleton Queen was captured by West's Ace. Declarer, being able to place the three outstanding adverse Hearts in the North hand, led the Nine of Hearts to trick 2, and North covered with the Ten to get the lead into the East hand. East's Jack of Hearts won and he cashed his King and Eight, South discarding two Diamonds and one Spade, keeping his worthless Clubs intact to make the Declarer think that he had something in that suit.

To trick 5 East led the Jack of Clubs and West played the Ace when South did not cover. Although South might have the Queen of Clubs, there was a good chance that his failure to discard a Club has been a bluff. West returned the Club, East finessed and ran the suit, and Declarer had his game in hand—five Clubs and four Hearts.

Declarer then went after extra tricks. South, having been obliged to discard twice on the long Clubs, had been forced to bare his Ace of Diamonds in order to keep his Queen of Spades guarded; Declarer, reading the situation, led East's Spade Ace to trick 10 and Diamond King to trick 11. South was obliged to win trick 11 and lead a Spade at trick 12, which gave Declarer the two remaining tricks for a total of twelve.

YOUR NAME — WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

By HARRY A. DEFERRARI, PH.D.

THE family "Kearns" (also spelled "Kerns") has come down to us from several Celtic sources. However, it is generally a modern form of the Irish names "O Ciarain" and "O Ceirin," both of which mean "the descendant of the dark man." It is less frequently traced back to two other Irish sources, according to which it means "the soldier" and "the victory."

The family name "Kern" is of German origin. It is often a modern variation of "Gernaz," an old Germanic personal name. The real meaning of "Gernaz" is "eager," although the specific meaning of "eager for battle" was always implied. According to a more modern source "Kern" means "the kernel" and "the grain," and was sometimes applied to farmers. This name appears to be first recorded in 1280. A certain Uodalricus Kern is mentioned in a German document of that year.

The family name "Cavanagh" (also spelled "Kavanagh") is of Irish origin. The first person to bear this name was given it because he was fostered at Kilcavan, Ireland. "Kilcavan" means "the church of St. Kevan." The personal name "Kevan" is also of Irish origin, and may be translated "gentle" or "handsome." Among the distinguished bearers of this name was the novelist Julia Kavanagh (1824-1877).

The family name "Lawler" (also spelled "Lawlor" and "Lalor") is of Celtic origin. In most cases it is the modern form of the original Irish "O Leathlobhair," which means "the descendant of the half-leper." In a few cases it goes back to the Irish nickname "Leathlabhra," which may be translated "the half-speaker" or "the mumbler."

Indoor and Outdoor Gardens

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

DISH GARDENING.

EVEN with spring at hand there is no abatement of the popularity of the dish garden. Every one either has or is making one of these miniature gardens. A few years ago, when we lived in large houses, palms and rubber plants were popular; then when we began building smaller houses, ferns and other low-growing plants began to take the place of the palms.

Today, when we are moving into apartments where space is even more limited, we are discarding ferns and growing cacti and succulents, arranging them in every conceivable sort of a container. These miniature gardens are not only decorative but they are inexpensive and fascinating.

So popular have the designing and making of these miniature bits of Japanese landscape become that a recent book on the subject is having as large a sale as some of the old, well-established books on other types of gardening.

Almost any porcelain container that will hold two or three handfuls of soil will make a dish garden. The wee bridges and pergolas, the storks and the jinrikishas may be purchased for less than 25 cents. Miniature lakes or winding streams can be made from bits of looking glass. Or should you want more realistic effects, you can convert a glass coaster into a beautiful lake by filling it with water. The most beautiful dish gardens have some of the pebbles or pieces of stone covered with moss. You can use moss from the woods or purchase green sphagnum moss from your florist.

Every dish garden must contain living plants. It is this stage of the work that puzzles the amateur, and no wonder. The array of plants that are being offered by the growers is legion and each variety is both interesting and beautiful. This is a case where you must exercise judgment. Do not be influenced by the grotesque appearance of the plants; be governed by their needs.

For example, English ivy and ferns require a great deal of moisture and also root room. Cacti or succulents do not. Therefore it is unreasonable to expect them to live under the same conditions in the same container.

All the crassula, sansevieras, some of the sedums and the Japanese evergreen are well fitted for growing in the same dish. The Japanese evergreen is the arid plant with the thick, woody stem and a cluster of glossy leaves at the top. It is known botanically as diffenbachia sequine. It is used to take the place in the landscape of the palm tree, under which the diminutive Japanese figures look quite in proportion. So little nourishment can be taken from the handful of soil in which the plants grow that it rarely outgrows its surroundings.

All the plants I have mentioned will live in sun or shade. In sun they may even grow a bit.

(Copyright, 1931.)

All readers' questions on growing and care of indoor and outdoor flowers and floral decorations for social functions will be answered by Miss Kift, directly in this column if addressed in care of The Washington Post, or directly to readers if a self-addressed, stamped envelope is supplied.

FORT MYER TROOPS OBSERVE ARMY DAY

War Secretary Will Review Third Cavalry and Sixteenth Field Artillery.

Army Day observances today will center at Fort Myer, where Patrick J. Hurley, Secretary of War, will review the massed commands of the Third Cavalry and the Sixteenth Field Artillery, led by Col. Harry N. Cootes. The parade will begin at 10 o'clock.

The Secretary of War, who is an enthusiastic horseman, will receive the honors of the mounted troops astride one of the Third Cavalry chargers.

This will be the fourth annual observance of Army Day, which is sponsored by the Military Order of the World War, every April 6, the anniversary of the entry of the United States into the World War.

A luncheon will be given at the Carlton Hotel, at which Secretary of Interior Wilbur will speak. Music furnished by the Army Band before and after the luncheon will be broadcast over a Nation-wide hook-up.

This year governors of 28 States have issued proclamations on Army Day. Large parades in New York, Philadelphia and Worcester, Mass., will feature Army Day observances in the East.

SOCIETY

Mrs. Gilbert Grosvenor, Mrs. Douglas P. Birnie, Mrs. Clarence Aspinwall, Mrs. Charles H. Woodhull, Mrs. John Hays Hammond, Mrs. Charles R. Mann, Mrs. Joshua Evans, jr., and Mrs. A. Lisner. Miss Elizabeth Peet is chairman of the patroness committee.

In charge of the group of ushers and assistants are Mrs. Robert McSwain Fowler and Miss Margaret Maize.

Miss Sally Darby Is Wed To Ted Robinson, jr.

Miss Sally Price Darby became the wife of Ted Robinson, jr., son of the Cleveland newspaper columnist and poet, yesterday in an Easter wedding at the bride's home, 1748 M street northwest. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hayden, of Richmond.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father Edward Roache, of St. Matthew's Church, in the presence of a small group of friends and relatives. Miss Mary Harper Darby, her sister, was the bride's only attendant.

After April 15 the couple will be at home at 1936 East Fifty-eighth street, Cleveland. Mr. Robinson, who is an alumnus of Harvard, is a member of the Cleveland Plain Dealer's editorial staff. Mrs. Robinson formerly was an instructor in costume designing at the National School of Fine and Applied Arts.

Mrs. Edward Campbell Shields, president of Flanders Field Unit of the Women's Legion, assisted by Mrs. Ivan Bass, chairman, has invited Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Ben H. Fuller, Rear Admiral and Mrs. Bullard, and Mrs. Acheson S. Hassem, national vice president of the American Women's Legion, to be their guests of honor at the spring ball to be given at the Marine Barracks, Friday evening.

Mrs. Ivan Bass, chairman of the ball, will be assisted by Mrs. Frank Long, Mrs. Benjamin Soule Gantz, Miss Isabel McGee, Miss Matilda Haney and Mrs. Franklin King.

Miss Mary Howry entertained a small group at dinner at the Shoreham Hotel Saturday evening.

Mrs. William D. Thomas also entertained a company of 20 at the dinner dance at the Shoreham Hotel Saturday evening.

Gov. Stanley Wilson, Lieut. Gov. H. T. Johnson and State Representatives Piere, Smith, Bartlett, Merrill and Langley, all of Vermont, are spending the Easter holidays in Washington and stopping at the Burlington Hotel.

Miss Louise Brooks to Be Guest of Mrs. Stotesbury.

Miss Louise Brooks, daughter of Mrs. Lionel Atwill, and granddaughter of Mrs. E. T. Stotesbury, of Washington and Philadelphia, who is now making an extended tour of Europe, will return the latter part of May to be the guest of Mrs. Stotesbury.

Miss Brooks, whose debut was originally announced for this past season and postponed a year, will be a "bud" in Washington and Philadelphia next season.

Her grandmother is planning a preliminary series of parties for her this summer, and next winter on New Year's Eve will give an elaborate dinner dance in her honor at Whitemarsh Hall, the Stotesbury estate at Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia.

Author of "Lost Eden" Will Read Own Verse.

Mr. E. Merrill Root, author of "Lost Eden" and other works, will be the guest of honor and speaker at the Arts Club tomorrow evening. Mr. Root, who is professor of English at Earlham College, Indiana, will read from his own verse. He will be presented by Mr. Benjamin Musser, former editor of Contemporary Verse. Miss Anne C. Darlington will be the hostess.

Preceding the program Mr. Isaac Gans will deliver a five-minute address on "The Festival of Nations," to be held in Washington this month.

Mr. Root will be the guest of Mr. Ben de Mier Miller while in Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd P. Olcott entertained at dinner at the Shoreham Hotel Saturday evening, the party remaining later for the supper dance. Their guests included Mrs. Courtney T. Winter and her daughter, Miss Peggy Winter, both of Chambersburg, Pa., who are now house guests at the Olcott home. Miss Winter is on her Easter vacation from Penn Hall. Also in the party were Mr. Ralph Fowler and Miss Jean Addor.

There will be a special tea dance this afternoon in the palm court of the Mayflower for young men and women home from school for the Easter holiday.

Mrs. Jacob Leander Loose will entertain at dinner this evening at the Mayflower, later taking her guests in her box at the Polo ball.

The Ohio Girls' Club will celebrate with a birthday party tonight at the Thomas Circle Club, 1326 Massachusetts avenue.

The last of this season's dances is scheduled for April 18. All Ohio girls residing in Washington who are not members of the club are invited.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL.

THERE are probably a good many old-timers in Washington who will wonder where they have seen Bobbie Kuhn, appearing with Sylvia Clark, headliner of the current vaudeville bill at the Earle. Since Mr. Kuhn's activities are confined entirely to the orchestra pit, where not all in the house can get a clear view of him, more than a few, no doubt, will conclude that their recollections are harking back no further than five or six years ago at the B. F. Keith Theater, where this same act was accustomed to wow the customers from season to season.

For the benefit of those to whom this explanation will seem insufficient, it may be permissible to go back a bit deeper into the past to that remote day when Atlantic City was alive with cabarets—although they were not called that at the time. For a good many hectic summers the old Jackson Cafe boasted a trio of singers and instrumentalists who consistently packed them in. They were always billed as "The Three White Kuhns," and the present Mr. Bobbie Kuhn was one of them.

All this considerably antedates the inauguration of the present Volstead-ian inhibitions, under which—except for the ocean—Atlantic City is theoretically arid, but to all those who would like to have their memories refreshed as to the manner in which the "Three White Kuhns" achieved their hit, Bobbie might nevertheless appropriately preface his "Grown-Up Babies" number at the Earle with a terse "Here's how!"

Speaking of old familiar faces, there will be more than one of them at the National tonight, when Mr. Stephen E. Cochran launches the seventh season of his National Players. With so many established favorites returning to the scenes of their former triumphs, it would not be surprising if the first performance of "Let Us Be Gay" lasted all night, what with the welcoming ovations, time out for heart throbs and one thing and another.

Incidentally, unless all signs fail, the first-night audience at the National, come nightfall, will vie with any of the regular season in brilliance.

Some of the boys in the orchestra trenches evidently are inspired to a bit of waggishness by "The Stolen Jools" and the appeal for funds on behalf of the N. V. A. charities which it introduces. At one of the downtown theaters, for example, the musical background for the passing of the basket is "I've Got Five Dollars," which, so far as I am concerned, is an unwarranted display of optimism!

When the George Washington Glee Club, one of the best in the country, by the way, appears at the Fox, beginning Friday of this week, it will not in any sense be making its local theatrical debut. Years ago the club was frequently presented over the air from the stage of the Metropolitan Theater as a feature of the Crandall Saturday nighters, later played stage engagements at the Met and more than once crashed the big-time with full-week bookings at B. F. Keith's.

Although by the very nature of things, the personnel has completely changed with the passing of the years, the organization is still under the competent direction of Dr. Robert H. Harmon.

The boys can sing.

It is grapevined to me, perhaps a little belatedly, that Nelson Smith, long assistant manager of the Metropolitan under Fallas Broche, is now serving in like capacity at the Avenue Grand with Dan Reynolds. Mr. Smith is succeeded at the Met by Vincent Tompkins, at one time a member of the staff at the Earle.

Reverting momentarily to the current bill at the Earle, the irritating youngster appearing with William Gaxton in several amusing scenes in "Fifty Million Frenchmen," the screen feature, is Master Norman Phillips, jr., who not so long ago made a personal appearance at the same theater in association with his mother and dad, well known to both motion picture and radio audiences.

In case you want to ask Thurston, the magician, for his autograph at the Belasco this week, look out he doesn't pull that tear gas fountain pen of his on you!

Sunshine or no sunshine—and I wouldn't fool you—your new Easter duds certainly looked swell yesterday. Why don't you buy them?

$10,000 IS TO BE AWARDED ZAIN AD WRITERS IN TEST

monial letter setting out the honest merits of the firms cooperating, or even a poem, that will win the $1,000 or one of the $100 prizes. Submit as many ads as you choose about any or all of the concerns.

Wednesday, April 15, midnight, will be the deadline for the first week of the contest, and expert judges, all professional advertising men, will meet Thursday, April 10, to select the first week's winners. And don't forget there will be more than 175 who will receive prizes of merchandise each week, in addition to the weekly cash award of $100.

Use One Side of Sheet.

Take a piece of paper at least twice the size of a postal card. Use only one side of the sheet. Put the name of the concern about which you are writing in the upper left-hand corner. Then set down your advertising "hunch" in writing a slogan, a poem, an essay, a testimonial or a regular ad. We know there are going to be lots of good ones. Put your own name on the reverse side of the paper and on the envelope, and mail it.

It's awfully simple, isn't it. And it's going to be lots of fun, too. You read ads every day. Try to write one.

We have a suggestion to make. Drop around to one or more of the companies participating and get material for an intelligent ad. You will be doing them a service. They want to learn more about the features of their products that appeal to the public, and you need to know more about the story behind them.

In writing about the Federal-American Bank, one of our advertisers, you might work into your ad some of the progressive qualities of the bank that made it the originator of the monthly bank statement, and the first banking institution in town to use the cageless window. John Poole, president of the bank, invented them. The bank has incorporated all the latest features in banking equipment.

In advertising Rizik Bros.' store at 1213 F street northwest, you should keep in mind the high-class nature of their product, the originality of their merchandise and the beauty of their store. Rizik Bros. usually is ahead of the times in styles.

Coffee Easy Subject.

Wilkins Coffee ought to be an easy subject for any ad. There is the aroma, characteristic of Wilkins Coffee only; the taste and freshness, features that make it distinctive. Then, too, it should be remembered that it is roasted, blended and put up here.

In D. J. Kaufman's, dealers in exclusive men's wear, our amateur ad writers will find another good subject. Here is a story well known to Washington's older residents, one that has grown because of service, honest dealing and the quality of their goods, from a little Pennsylvania avenue shop to a large store with branches.

The handsome new building at 3407 Connecticut avenue, just occupied by the plumbing firm of Thomas E. Clark, will provide excellent material for all of our ad writers. The new showroom, with its display of bathroom fixtures suitable to every type of home, should furnish a real advertising inspiration.

Radios Groan as Russian Sets Industry to Music

London, April 5 (A.P.)—Russia's five-year plan set to music as "The Factory," has been given its radio debut in England. Composed by Alexandre Mossolov, the piece purports to record the clashing noises of an industrial plant.

The sketch starts in rhythm predominantly bass, with bassoons, bass trombones, tuba and double basses blotting out darting wisps from the clarinets and violas. Gradually the rhythm modifies into the dull heat of a giant hammer. Next the score called for six solo horn players' efforts. Staid London is still scratching its head.

Scotch Barber Stops Hobos' Cheap Shaves

Lochgelly, Scotland, April 5 (A.P.). A barber here has quit shaving tramps for tuppence. It's nae canny. Twenty-five years ago he shaved a dusty knight of the road who swore he had only two pence. The barber took it. Since then hundreds have turned up, vowing they too had only tuppence.

He didn't like to turn away customers, even a tuppeny one, but after 25 years he concludes there's no money in it.

Rules and Details of The Post-Zain $10,000 Ad-Writing Contest

1—$10,000 in prizes to be distributed over seven weeks of amateur ad writing.

2—$1,000 in cash will be given for the best ad written by an amateur during the entire Post-Zain ad-writing campaign. To compete for this prize it will be necessary for contestants to write at least one ad about each of the 35 firms participating in the ad test.

3—Grand weekly award of $100 will be given each week for the best ads during six periods of the ad-writing contest.

4—Five merchandise prizes for each of the 35 concerns will be given weekly during six weeks of the campaign.

5—Ads for the first week of the Post-Zain ad-writing campaign must be received prior to noon, Wednesday, April 15.

6—Ads submitted in competition for the grand award of $1,000 must be received prior to midnight, May 27.

7—Anyone anywhere may compete for the prizes with the exception of newspaper employes and members of the advertising profession.

8—There are no obligations. No coupons to clip, no entrance fees to pay, no subscriptions to buy. One person may submit as many ads as he chooses. The more ads you write, the more prizes you may receive. The Post-Zain ad-writing contest may be entered at any time. Ads may be written about one or all concerns.

9—Write your ideas on one side only of a sheet of paper at least twice the size of a postcard. Place the name of the concern about which you are writing in the upper left-hand corner of the page. Place your own name and address, also telephone number, on the reverse of the advertisement and the envelope. Your contribution may be a slogan, a poem, a regular advertisement, a letter of testimonial, or an essay.

10—Winning advertisements will be selected by a committee of advertising experts. In the event of a tie, awards will be made to both.

11—All advertisements received become the property of the concerns about which they are written.

Ad-Writing Suggestions

Prizes are given for ideas, not for grammar, spelling, punctuation, art work or layout.

Your ideas are likely to be new and original; your idea may win one or more prizes.

If you are not familiar with the advertisers about whom you are asked to write ads, study their service and merchandise; visit their shops, ask questions, and then jot down your ideas simply. Be brief and to the point.

If you can write a letter, you can write an ad. Get members of your family and your friends interested. Encourage them to write winning ads.

HADLEY IMPRESSIVE IN 6-INNING VICTORY OF NATS

Lott Winner Over Sutter In 5 Sets

New Orleans Youth Loses After Upset of Van Ryn.

Lott Stops Opponent's Rally to Win in Thrilling Match.

NEW ORLEANS, April 5 (U.P.).—George Lott, of Chicago, devoting a good part of a brisk Easter afternoon to un-Easterlike remarks to the ball, his racket and the gallery, defeated Cliff Sutter, New Orleans, 6—4, 6—2, 4—6, 1—6, 6—4, to win the singles championship of the New Orleans Country Club invitation tennis tournament.

In a twice-postponed semifinal match, Sutter had advanced to the finals by defeating John Van Ryn, Philadelphia, 6—0, 6—1.

What started out as a walkaway for the Chicagoan ended up as one of the hardest-fought matches ever played here. Lott won with a faster, more smashing game than Sutter showed, and by equaling and at times surpassing Cliff's steadiness in volleying. In the first two sets Sutter's placements were way off, and threw away point after point, either netting the ball or driving it far out of court.

Lott more than matched Sutter's ability to extend rallies until his opponent was out of position. In addition he showed a more baffling change of pace. That is, except in the third and fourth sets.

Sutter Discards Caution.

In the third set Lott had a 3-1 advantage when Sutter, discarding his cautious deep court volleying, began matching him in daring net play and a varied repertoire of returns. Lott remained in good spirits until three or four net balls bounded on the right side of the court for Cliff during heated exchanges.

Then Lott began drop-kicking balls over the backstops when he dropped a hard point. As the set continued to an ultimate victory for Sutter he began good-naturedly muttering or shouting uncomplimentary things about his luck and play. In the fourth set he protested the noise made by the gallery during a protracted rally. Some one gave George a Bronx cheer and he started for the gallery. After that things were quiet and he went on to drop the set, 1—6.

Both were tense as the final set began with Lott's service. He won a love game, but Cliff came back to win the next; game-30. Lott again won a love game. The fourth game went to deuce four times before Sutter made it 2-all. Lott took the next, another deuce affair, but again Sutter came back to win, game-15.

Sutter Again Stages Rally.

Lott won his third love game of the set to bring the score to 4—3, but once more Sutter took his service after the game was dueced three times. Lott's next service went to deuce twcie before he made the score 5—4.

The final game was over quickly. Sutter, serving, netted one return, batted another out of court, took one point and lost the next when Lott chopped a fast one by him. At set-point Cliff served a fault, and sent the next one over easy. Lott followed his return to the net and dropped Cliff's drive from deep court just over for the match.

French Turf Feature Won by La Fregate

Auteuil, France, April 5 (A.P.).—With President Doumergue among the chic Easter crowd which attended the race named in honor of his office, a rank outsider, La Fregate, won the Prix du President dé la Republique Steeplechase today. The race, over a 2¾-mile course, is one of the most important steeplechase handicaps of the French season.

La Fregate, by Ingrid, out of Jus d'Orange, finished a head in front of Huegon in the thrilling race, with Poisson d'Avril a short head behind the second-place horse. Twenty-four horses, 4 to 9 years old, started.

The second favorite, Millionnaire Second, stopped.

The race brought $10,000 and a $1,000 Sevres vase, presented by President Doumegue to thr winning owner, Gustave Beauvais. La Fregate paid 159 to 5 in the mutuels.

Shepherd College Nine Opens on Wednesday

Shepherdstown, W. Va., April 5.—Coach John Newcome's Shepherd College Baseball Team will open its season next Wednesday, facing Joe Cambria's Middle Atlantic League outfit. In order to be in the best possible condition for the tilt with the pros the Shepherd squad remained here during the Easter holiday season, working out daily.

The Shepherds' schedule calls for games with several of the fastest teams in the Tri-State district. All but two of last year's regulars are back in the fold.

BOB RICE GETS JOB.

Special to The Washington Post.

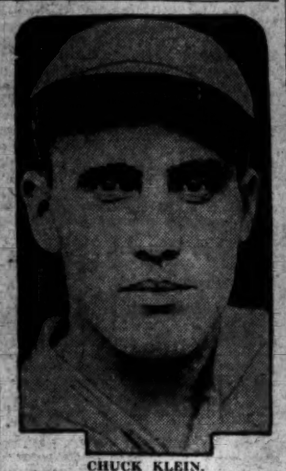
Martinsburg, W. Va., April 5.—Bob Rice, who managed the Waynesboro Club of the Blue Ridge League last season, will be at the helm of the Keokuk, Iowa, team during the 1931 campaign, it has been learned here. The year before last Rice managed a Middle Atlantic League club.

WORMSLEY SHOWS FORM.

Despite the threatening weather, Manager Willie Giascoe's Phoenix-Blue Coal nine took a strenuous work-out on the Rosedale Playground diamond yesterday. Benny Wormsley shapes up as the leading mound prospect for Giascoe's team. The Coal Dealers will drill on the same field again Wednesday at 5 p. m.

Chuck Klein, Phils' Slugger, Accepts 3-Year Contract

Player Said to Have Signed for $40,000 for 3 Seasons.



CHUCK KLEIN.

PHILADELPHIA, April 5 (A.P.).—Chuck Klein, the Phillies' hard-hitting outfielder, signed a three-year contract today after a brief conference with club officials. The hoosier home-run clouter had been a persistent hold-out this spring and did not report while the Phils were in training in Florida.

Neither Klein nor Lewis O. Buch, president of the Phillies, would discuss the terms of the contract, but it was understood from those close to the management the played would receive more than $40,000 for the three years. Klein had demanded $14,500 for this season.

With Klein back in the fold, another hard-hitting fielder, Buzz Arlett, from the Coast League, will be shifted from right field to left in the Phillies line-up. Hal Lee, a recruit from Mississippi, is the probable choice for center.

Phil Collins, capable pitcher, is the only remaining Phillies' hold-out.

Manager Shotton said he was confident he would be in line before the season opens.

HIGH SCHOOL NINES HARD AT WORK

TENNIS.
Wednesday.

Eastern vs. Episcopal, at Alexandria, 3 o'clock.

WITH baseball, tennis, track and field on the program, it is a week of varied sports the high school athletes are about to enter; but track and tennis are snowed under in importance as the coaches begin to utilize the scant week or so of grace before the high school baseball series starts in an effort to knock the rougher edges off their outfits and whip the remains together into something resembling an organized unit.

Molding a team will be a serious task in two instances, Tech and Business. Both teams have been out for organized practice but once this year, Business engaging Episcopal yesterday in their first appearance of the season.

The series is due to start Friday of next week at Eastern High field. The first game brings together those venerable rivals, Central and Tech. However, if matters baseball do not loosen up at Tech there will be little of note connected with the game except the traditional background.

3 Teams in Games This Week.

While Eastern, the defending champion, and Western, a perennial challenger, will concentrate this week on open practice, Central, Tech, and Business have scheduled contests. Central's outfit promises to derive the most benefit from their preseries play this week, being on the books to engage the Washington and Lee Freshmen at Lexington Thursday and the Virginia Freshmen at Charlottesville Friday.

Coach Ty Rauber has called a drill for every morning this week at 10 o'clock at Central Stadium in an effort to cut down his squad to a number suitable for traveling purposes. Rauber has been aided in his duties by several Central players, who have gone ineligible of late. Cumberland, infeilder, is the most notable of these.

Tech is slated to open up the local scholastic season Wednesday against Emerson on the Monument Grounds. Coach Edwards, of the Manual Trainers, has made no effort to pick a line-up for the game, but, on the other hand, has been attempting to find dry places in the Tech field on which to practice. Emerson this year will be under the direction of Assistant Coach Keller, who understudied for Coach Sanborn during last year's football season.

Business Plays Gonzaga.

Business doubtless will have its hands full Wednesday afternoon in its game with Gonzaga on the Monument Grounds. Gonzaga is in pretty fair shape, having been out about ten times on the old Terminal field. Coach Mitchell has whittled his squad down to nineteen players. Gingras, after a shaky start, has just about clinched the first base post, while Fitzgerald and Mills, at second and short, know no surpassers in the high school for fielding. Lynch is on third. The infield is the only definite part of the Purple team, but Mitchell will find suitable players for the other posts.

Gonzaga drops down to Manassas Friday for a game with Swavely. Mitchell expects to uncork Cleary, his "dark horse" pitcher, at the Swavely School.

Eastern's track team, still the best in the local business despite the loss of several major stars, goes into its first outdoor meet Friday when Episcopal's track and field men are encountered at Alexandria. Coach Mike Kelley has had his boys out every morning since the holidays began and is looking forward to a victory by a comfortable margin.

Coach Dan Ahern, of Western, is working out a squad of 20 youngsters at Western Field, attempting to form the nucleus of a 1932 team. Next year the Westerners will have their own field, with a track, a baseball and football field and stands for 2,600 people, located about a block and a half from the school. Ahern has uncovered nothing startling in the way of talent, and Western may look forward to another unfruitful year, so far as laurels are concerned.

Led by Gilbert Hunt, recent winner of the Maryland indoor boys championship, Eastern's Tennis Team opens its season Wednesday at Episcopal.

VIRGINIA NINE IN 3 HOME CONTESTS

Fletcher, District Boy, Gains Berth as Pitcher.

Special to The Washington Post.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., April 5.—Virginia's baseball team has three games at home this week. Hampden-Sidney College comes here for a contest on Tuesday. Then follow the first of the Tri-State League games with Washington and Lee on Thursday and North Carolina on Saturday.

Much more interest than usual is being shown in the development of the baseball club despite the fact that all three games played so far have been lost. Hope runs high that the season as a whole will be a great success.

Under the coaching of Gus Tebell the diamond candidates have shown the same aggressive spirit that was displayed by the basketball team. In the last game with Yale, for example, the Cavaliers let in five runs in the first inning. Despite this handicap the Virginians tied the score in the seventh, forced extra play until the eleventh when a home run over the fence won for the Elis.

Ward Brewer and George Fletcher, of Washington, D. C., appear, after a week of action, to be the best men on the mound staff. Both are on the squad for the first season. Brewer, who won his letter in football, was expected to perform well in the box, but the unsovering of Fletcher came as rather a surprise.

Fletcher did not play regular as a freshman last spring. He was called on to go in as the fourth pitcher against Dartmouth in two innings. Two runs had been scored and two men were on base when he went to the mound. He retired the first three men to face him.

This youngster pitched the first game against Yale and held the Elis to four runs. Coach Tebell considers him a pitcher of unusual promise.

New York Soccerists Win in Series Opener

New York, April 5 (A.P.).—The Fall River Soccer Team, now moved to New Yor to become the Yankees, easily defeated the Chicago Bricklayers, 6 to 2, today in the first game of the National Challenge Cup series for the Dewar Trophy, emblem of the soccer championship of the United States. Although the team has changed names, it must carry the old title through the cup series.

Fall River, winner of the trophy last year and Eastern champions this season, had all the better of the game. At half time the Easterners led, 3 to 0, as Patenaude, Fall River center forward, booted three goals. He completed a great scoring feat by making two more tallies in the second half. McPherson scored the other goal for the winners, while Cuthbert and Greenlees tallied for the Bricklayers.

A crowd of 15,000 fans watched the first game of the series, to be decided on a 2 out of 3 basis. The second game will be played in Chicago next Sunday.

Gar Wood Will Seek New Speedboat Mark

Miami Beach, Fla., April 5 (A.P.).—Gar Wood, first to travel 100 miles an hour on water, came to Miami Beach today to prepare his Miss America IX for an attempt to regain for America the world's speedboat record, now held by Kaye Don, of England, with a mark of 103.49 miles an hour.

Wood piloted his broad-beamed Miss America over the still waters of Indian Creek here on March 21 at a speed of 102.56 miles an hour.

On his arrival today he went immediately to his home on Indian Creek. He could not say when he expected to be ready for his run.

Indians Divide In Two Games.

Shreveport, La., April 5 (A.P.).—The Cleveland Indians split into two squads today, one winning from Shreveport, 11 to 5, while the other lost a twelve-inning decision to New Orleans, 9 to 7.

Wesley Ferrell failed to last through his second nine-inning trial, retiring in the fifth, when Shreveport pared his six-run lead by three. Averill and Hooks made home runs in that game.

Orel Hildebrand, Indianapolis recruit, pitched the last two innings at New Orleans and was hit for the winning runs. Young Mel Harder failed to last nine innings, retiring in the eighth when the Pelicans made five runs.

Ruth's Long Clout Aids Yankees.

Nashville, Tenn., April 5 (A.P.).—Aided by one of Babe Ruth's rare spring training home runs the New York Yankees trounced Nashville today 14 to 5. It was a close game up to the ninth inning, when the Yankee bludgeons connected with Milstead's offerings for eight runs. Byrd, of the Yankees, and Stumpf, of Nashville, also hit homers. Roy Sherid pitched the entire distance for New York, allowing ten hits.

Kansas City, April 5 (A.P.).—The St. Louis Browns bunched ten hits to good advantage here today to defeat the Kansas City Blues, 4 to 1. Stewart, Gray and Stiles limited the Blues to five hits. The long rest imposed on the Browns by unfavorable weather seemed to have a good effect, only one error, that by Levey on a hard chance, being charged against them. The score:

CLESTON FRENCH— SCORED ALL POINTS MADE BY BOTH SIDES IN A BASKETBALL GAME WON BY WASHBURN JUNIOR HIGH OF MINNEAPOLIS - 3 TO 2
SUGGESTED BY NORMAN FINCH
© McClure Newspaper Syndicate

CLESTON FRENCH is star center of the Seventh Grade Intramural League basket ball team at Washburn Junior High in Minneapolis. This year, in a hotly contested league game, he performed a feat that probably ranks as one of the most unique in basket ball. Early in the game French put his team ahead, 2 to 0, with a field goal. A short while later a player of the opposing team tried for a free toss and missed. In the melee French became over-industrious and accidently tapped the ball into the opponents' basket, making the score 2 all. At the end of the fourth quarter the score was still a tie, necessitating overtime periods. Near the close of the second over-time period French was awarded a free throw and made it good, scoring the winning point for his own team. Thus, in the 3-to-2 victory, he had scored every point in the game.

Twelve years ago Leon J. Lentz dropped some cherry seeds in the hollow of an old chestnut stump. Some of the seeds took root and today, growing from the stump, is a wild cherry tree that stands some 15 feet high.

The tobacco hornworm likes to chew tobacco so much that it is a serious menace to tobacco growers. If precautionary methods were not taken against this worm, production of tobacco in the South would be affected to such a degree as to influence the cost of cigarettes.

Decline in Football Interest Is Expected To Result From Passing of Knute Rockne

Notre Dame's Coach Brought Game Into Big Money Class.

CHICAGO, April 5 (U.P.).—Knute Rockne's death ended the career of football's most colorful individual, and followers of the sport are considering the effect that Rockne's death may have on the gridiron game.

Success in sports—the big gates, the public appeal—is largely a matter of personalities who can furnish the "punch."

Jack Dempsey, the killer of the ring, and Tex Ricard, the picturesque showman, combined to produce the golden era of boxing.

Babe Ruth, mightiest slugger of baseball, is credited with attracting unprecedented interest in baseball in recent years.

It was Rockne who fashioned football teams with the punch, which caught the public imagination and started football's "big money" and "overemphasis" era. His teams attracted record crowds wherever they played.

Notre Dame Drew 500,000.

Even last season, when football receipts fell off in several sections of the country, Notre Dame played to more than 500,000 spectators in ten games.

Rockne credited the shift and the forward pass with attracting public interest to football. Many other prominent coaches have long fought against the shift, and, with Rockne gone, this integral part of the game may not survive their attacks.

If the antishift agitation is successful—and if Rockne's contention was correct—football may suffer. "To abolish the shift or the forward pass would be a disastrous blow to football," said Rockne in one of his talks. "The shift has the elan of the Cossack and the rhythm of the Chester Hale girls. It gives the small, clever fellow a chance to play on even terms with the big bruising fellow."

Theer is speculation in many quarters as to the effect of Rockne's death on Notre Dame football. Many of the players from the 1930 team who will be back in 1931 and 1932 will keep Notre Dame's spirit burning brightly in memory of Rockney.

Lure of Rockne To Be Absent.

Notre Dame's football men came from every part of the Nation, attracted by the genius of Rockne. Without Rockne it seems safe to assume that many players who ordinarily would have been attracted by him will now go to schools in their own vicinity.

As for Notre Dame's next football coach, he is certain to be a man developed by Rockne. Harry Stuhldreher, quarter back of the "Four Horsemen," and now Villanova coach, seems to be the popular choice among Notre Dame men. However, there isn't likely to be a selection made until after the 1931 season. Heartily (Hunk) Anderson, guard on the 1920 team—called by Rockne his greatest eleven—and first assistant last season, probably will bridge the gap until a successor is named.

Thousands Visit Grave Of Departed Coach

South Bend, Ind., April 5 (U.P.). The flower-banked grave of Knute Rockne in Highland Cemetery was a mecca today for thousands who came to stand in silent reverence to the great coach.

Roads leading to the cemetery were blocked for miles with slow-moving lines of traffic carrying those who were unable to get within blocks of the grave during the funeral Saturday.

At the Rockne home a few intimate friends remained with Mrs. Rockne and the family.

Memory of Leader to Spur Teams for Some Time.

Rockne credited the shift and the forward pass with attracting public interest to football. Many other prominent coaches have long fought against the shift, and, with Rockne gone, this integral part of the game may not survive their attacks.

Yale and Dartmouth Seek Return of Coaches to Bench

NEW YORK, April 4 (U.P.).—The pendulum of agitation against coaches of the Eastern Intercollegiate Baseball League directing their teams from the bench appeared to be swinging back toward the mentors today when two more members of the circuit protested against the removal of the tutors to the stands.

Yale and Dartmouth are the latest members of the league to indicate a preference for having play directed from the bench by coaches. Previously, Columbia, Princeton and Pennsylvania had protested the move designed to let the boys run their own sports.

Pay Vincent, Yale captain, and R. A. Rolfe, leader of the Dartmouth nine, telegraphed Columbia's 1931 captain, Ed Obey, that they desired the return of their coaches to the bench. As a result the schools have sent a joint request to Romeyn Berry, of Cornell, president of the league, to hold a meeting of league officials to see if the league's rule calling for coaches to sit in the stands while their teams are playing can not be repealed.

The decision to remove all coaches from the bench came at a meeting of league officials a year ago. Previously several of the schools had adopted agreements whereby the captain of the team would give what orders were necessary.

The belief that coaches were becoming too much a part of college athletics is believed to have prompted the move of the intercollegiate officials.

However, from the first vigorous protests have greeted the legislation. This season, under the leadership of Obey, captains of the teams in the circuit polled their squads for sentiment in regard to whether they wished to have their play directed by their coaches. The captains of the Yale, Dartmouth, Princeton, Pennsylvania and Columbia nines found that practically every man on their squads was in favor of returning the coaches to the bench.

With five of the eight teams in the league on record for the return of the coaches, it appears likely that the legislation of last season may be repealed should a meeting of league officials be called.

Puppy Trials Booked By Shenandoah Club

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., April 5.—Annual spring puppy trials of the Shenandoah Valley Field Trial Club will be held April 27 near Front Royal, Va., according to an announcement today by officers of the association. Headquarters will be at Massanutten Lodge, regarded as an ideal place for an event of this kind. The running will take place on Mrs. Johnston's farm, a short distance from the lodge. The farm is so situated that the acreage of over 500 acres can all be seen from the gallery. Good horses can be obtained for those who wish to ride, if applied for in advance. There will be two stakes, the senior stake for puppies whelped on or after January 1, 1930, and the junior stake, for puppies whelped on or after May 1, 1930. The trials will be open to residents and nonresidents alike, and a large entry is expected. Judges are to be Matthew Trimble, jr., Kensington, Md., and Harry B. Mitchell, Herndon, Va.

Nats Gain Early Lead at Expense of Lynn Griffith.

Hayes, H. Rice and Bolton Get 2 Hits; Test for Firpo.

By FRANK H. YOUNG
(Post Staff Correspondent).

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 5.—Against fine pitching by Irving Hadley, the Chattanooga Lookouts, Washington "freshmen," looked the part when facing the "varsity" here this afternoon in a six-inning game halted by a combination of rain, sleet and snow.

The final count was 7 to 2 with the Nats leading all the way.

Hadley held the Lookouts to six hits and did not grant a run until his team had given him a substantial lead. Then he let down and the crowd of 2,500 was given two opportunities to cheer, in the fourth and sixth, each of which netted a Chattanooga run.

Lefty Lynn Griffith, optioned to the Lookouts yesterday, faced his former mates and got away badly. Of the three hits, which, with two walks and a double steal, gave the Nats four runs in the second, none of these blows was an honest to goodness one. In the fourth, however, after two were out, the big left-hander was hit hard and often for three more runs.

Phelps Gets Pair Of Hits.

Hayes, Harry Rice and Bolton headlined the Nat attack, in which every member of the Johnson cast took part except Bluege. This trio got two hits each. Treadway, a former Nat, and Phelps, a Washington boy, showed the way to the Lookouts also with two safeties each.

Griffith walked West and Bluege, first two up in the second, and scratchy singles by Bolton, Hadley and Hayes drove three runs over, the fourth being recorded when Hadley counted on the front end of a double steal.

Two were dead in the fourth when Harry Rice, Manush and Cronin singled and Judge doubled to give the Nats their other three runs. The Lookouts broke the ice in their half of this round as a result of Treadway's double, a walk and Phelps' single, and called it a day two frames later, when, after two were gone, Boss doubled, Burns and Phelps singled and Felix coaxed a pass.

With the sacks loaded, Kingdon rolled to Hayes for the third out and Umpire Grafian ruled a "technical" to save the players from both teams from further punishment at the hands of the weather man.

Marberry Faces Test Over Route.

Much interest will be attached to tomorrow's National-Lookout games, for Manager Walter Johnson plans to call on Big Fred Marberry to go the route. Just how "Firpo" goes this season will count heavily in the Nats' chances in the race.

Last year he was not ready, and the result was that he did not turn in a victory until the last week in May.

In the hope of having him fit when the 1931 gong sounded, Marberry was allowed to go to Hot Springs for a course of baths and some preliminary work before reporting at Biloxi. This, in Manager John's opinion, proved to be just so much lost time, as the big Texan showed up a week later than the others and considerably overweight.

Marberry has participated in but two exhibition games, being pounded badly in one and was wild as a March hare in the other. Nevertheless, in his second start, he gave evidence of having regained much of the speed which made him a great pitcher in the past, and has been working like a Trojan since. He declares he is several pounds lighter now than he was when the 1930 schedule ended, and that he is ready.

MUTUEL PLAY AT BOWIE NEARS PROSPEROUS STAGE

Saturday Set Mark With $500,000

Kindergarten, Prince Georges Features This Week.

No Outstanding Two-Year-Olds Shown This Season.

By J. B. SNODGRASS.

WITH more summer-like weather for this week, and good cards promised, including the kindergarten for 2-year-olds, and the Prince Georges handicap, spring edition, a prosperous windup of the Bowie meeting is not improbable.

With one week of the meeting past, there is a more optimistic view of the season as a whole. This is due to the large crowds of Friday and Saturday, which came when the weather was more pleasant, and the parimutuel returns showed a large increase over the opening days. Friday the "hurdle" was slightly over $421,000 and Saturday it passed the half million mark, which began to recall flush times. On Thursday, it climbed above any of the preceding days with $334,000 in round numbers.

Vander Pool Winner Last Year.

The kindergarten was won last year by Vander Pool, and Equipoise got his start in Maryland. So far at this meeting no 2-year-old that appears as good by a mile has looked through a bridle at Bowie. The juveniles that raced in the South since January 1 seem to be a poor lot. Only one has been able to win at this meeting, Lorraine S., which earned brackets yesterday. The best 3-year-olds have not been out so far. Equipoise is at Havre de Grace awaiting the Chesapeake Stakes. He will have two races before the Preakness, according to Freddie Hopkins. He is doing fine, while Vander Pool is going strong at Pimlico, as his mate. Chief interest is in these three among the big stake candidates quartered in the Old Line State.

Equipoise is going to prove as a 3-year-old that he was entitled to the honor of the 2-year-old championship last year, because he raced from Bowie in the spring to Bowie in the fall, while Jamestown, Vander Pool and others were on the shelf. He is a tough colt, and a good one.

Dates for Pimlico Announced.

The book of the spring meeting at Pimlico is out. This rich session will begin on April 27 and close May 9, on which date will be run the famous Preakness, with $50,000 added, and on the following Saturday in Kentucky will be renewed the fifty-seventh Kentucky Derby, several horses running in the Preakness having time to also start in the Derby. Equipoise, Mate and Twenty Grand will start in both, according to present plans. Besides the Preakness, some of the chief stakes at Pimlico are:

April 27—Pimlico Home Bred, $2,500 added.

April 28—The Jennings, $3,000 added.

April 30—Green Spring Valley Steeplechase, $3,000 added.

May 1—Pimlico Oaks, $3,000 added.

May 2—Dixie Handicap, $15,000 added.

May 5—Pimlico Nursery, $5,000 added.

May 7—Billy Barton Steeplechase, $2,500 added.

May 8—Pimlico Spring Handicap, $3,000 added.

Graded handicaps, overnight, will be run on May 6.

Some idea can be formed of the crop of 2-year-olds in the Nursery on May 5.

Remillard May Leave East.

Pat Remillard, the riding sensation here, who has as many birthplaces as a candidate for President, may have to quit the East and ride in Kentucky, much against his will, after this week. W. W. Finn, who holds his contract, notified the lad that he wanted him at the Lexington meeting. Remillard called Finn on the phone last night and was informed that Finn had turned down an offer of $12,500 for his contract. W. J. Potter, who has a lease on Remillard until April 16, has endeavored to have the lad remain in Maryland to the end of the season, May 9. There is a big demand for the young rider in the East. He is the leading rider at Bowie, with nine victories against seven for A. Robertson.

He has the advantage yet of his apprentice allowance and rides at 105. He is nearing 20 and gives his birthplace as Beresford, S. Dak. He said racing in Maryland stands out. He has won 50 races since his first victory at Bainbridge Park, Ohio, last year. Most of his racing has been in New Orleans. Several large Eastern stables are after Remillard's contract. He has brains as well as skill and courage.

ORIOLE INSECTS WIN.

The Washington Oriole Insects lauched their 1931 campaign with an easy 20 to 7 win over the Hillcrest A. C. Etter shone for the winners, while Moore was best for the losers.

Godfrey, in Wrestling Role, Shows Wares Here Tonight

Former "Black Hope" of Ring Tackles Michaeloff on Cosmopolitan Program at Strand.

WITH big "Gawge" Godfrey in the featured role, the Strand Theater tonight will stage another of its wrestling programs that is catering to the newly-acquired following of the Graeco-Roman game.

Godfrey, the "Black Shadow of Leiperville" when he was in the prize ring knocking over the best of the heavyweights who had the temerity to meet him, will have as his opponent tonight in a finish match Ivan Micaheloff, as Russian as his name, whose proud affiliation used to be the Cossacks.

When Godfrey and Michaeloff take the mat htre will be almost a quarter of a ton of flesh in the ring for Godfrey does not find wrestling as exacting a weight master as fighting and his poundage has grown to 250, with the Cossak weighing just a mite less. "Gawge," too, has found wrestling as easy to master as boxing, although he is aided sometimes by his big clenched fists which, it is said, he is unable to control in the clinches.

The Strand promoters have surrounded Godfrey and Michaeloff with a cosmopolitan supporting card featuring in the semifinal Washington's own "Dutch" Green and Paul Kohanski, of Poland. Mike Miller, billed as the American Legion champion, meets Charles Olsen, of Sweden, in another bout and in the curtain raiser, Tex Hamar, former University of Pensylvania football player, tackles Jack Connor, of the Old Sod. —Bowie Selections—

By J. B. SNODGRASS.

Bowie goes into its second week this afternoon and the spring meeting closes Saturday, and Havre de Grace opens its meeting next Monday, which will continue twelve days. Bowie was going strong Friday and Saturday of last week, with better weather, and two important stakes are to be decided this week, the Kindergarten and the Prince Georges Handicap.

The Aspirant Purse features the card today. Nine 4-year-olds and upward are to dance around the starting stalls at the 7-furiong chute. GERARD should win. Last Tuesday he ran away from Prometheus, and he takes off weight. He always was a fast horse and won many races while George D. Widener still owned him. The son of Ambassador IV now races for C. M. Kelly. The Rolling Plains Stable's SANDY may wake up any day. It is always a question whether to include or ignore him in selections. He holds a track record at Bowie. He moved fairly well in his race the other day and is tabbed for place. KADIAK, a fast winter horse, may be third, but THISTLE FYRN also may figure in the running.

FIRST RACE—In this Capt. Ral Parr's SINGLE SUN is selected. She is a dark chestnut filly by Single Foot—Sunburn. All remember the sire, Single Foot. He set a new track record here in his first race as a 2-year-old and became a big stake winner. This little daughter has speed to burn in workouts. She has never raced. MAJOR GENERAL, a Trojan colt, has never started, but is rated a contender in this dash. A. G. Weston's filly, JAFFA, should be close—as good as third.

SECOND RACE—BILL NORA is entitled to another chance, in view of the rough trip and bad ride the Snob II colt had in his only start last week. He is known to be fit and fast. JALPUR, a more seasoned juvenile, will be the favorite again, and may land the place, but is inclined to be a quitter. LAMPOON may surprise. This Lucky Hour gelding has speed.

THIRD RACE—BENISH WAY may surprise in the third. He has not raced in more than a year, but he is ready now. He cost a big price and sold for a song. G. C. Brenton owns him now, and has taken pains to bring him around. THEO ROCHESTER'S last race was a good one. He will have WICKER to beat for the place, and will be one of the favorites.

FOURTH RACE—SPECTACULAR should win the fourth race. In her last she beat Bounding Deep easily in Florida. Otto Torrell has a daughter of Sir Martin. WORKLESS, second to Frank Fullen at this track last week, should be the contender. EARL WARWICK has a chance and Remillard will ride.

SIXTH RACE—SAN PRESTO is much the best in the sixth, and had a conditioning race last week. With improved track he should never leave the race in doubt. This 3-year-old gave Bill Morris a tusale in the South, and beat Talented Prince. FOURTH WARD ran well the other day and should be the contender, with DELCO DEL best of the others.

SEVENTH RACE—MARY-DALE was beaten a nose by Shark last week, and finished in front of Nealon Kay. She should not miss in the seventh race today. FAIR BILL will figure in the race and should get the place. ISOSTASY, on recent races, is next best. Track will be good.

Charley Wilson, Braves, To Be Married Here

Greensboro, N. C., April 5 (A.P.).—The Boston Braves arrived here tonight from Macon, Ga., and will take on the Rochester Club of the International League tomorrow. The squad was in good condition.

Charley Wilson has an important engagement in Washington Tuesday and has been given the day off. He's going to marry Miss Maureen Collins, of Rochester, N. Y., on that day, but he'll be back at third base for the Braves on Wednesday, in the game with Washington.

NATS DEFEAT LOOKOUTS 7 TO 2

or is close to being ready, should be shown tomorrow, and with the season opening only ten days off, the answer will be awaited with keen interest. If Freddie is ready, his mates will be burning red fire in the mountains tomorrow night, for all agree that, if the Nats are to win out in the coming race, and most of them think they will do that little thing, they will have to have the big Texan's help from start to finish.

Former Nats Make Good in Minors.

Several former Nats seem to be making big hits here as members of the Chattanooga cast. Jimmy McLeod, substitute shortstop last year, has been shifted to second and is playing a bang-up game, while the slugging of Outfielder Gordon Phelps, a converted catcher, has caused the fans here to sit up and take notice. Leo Burns, a protege of Joe Cronin, is developing into quite a hitter, while Catcher Ed Kenna is regarded as a star in this neck of the woods.

The only disappointment is Outfielder Alvin (Jake) Powell. Shortly after recovering from a flu attack, he injured an ankle and, consequently, has been unable to do himself justice. His batting record in the Eastern League last year is such, however, that Manager Bert Niehaus is willing to wait for him for a while.

Pitcher Carl Fischer, who has been handicapped by a bad blister on one of the digits on his pitching hand, reports himself nearly ready to go again.

Shortstop Charley Montague, another protege of Cronin, will continue with the Nats to Washington and will be shunted to the Hagerstown Team of the Middle Atlantic League.

Nats Release Dashiell To Chattanooga Club

Special to The Washington Post.

Chattanooga, Tenn., April 5.—President Clark Griffith tonight announced the unconditional release of Infielder Wally Dashiell to the Chattanooga Club. Dashiell, it was thought, would be kept as a utility man.

However, he suffered a charley horse his first day in the Biloxi training camp and has been unable to play since. At first Johnson was willing to wait for him to hit his stride, but in the meantime Baxter Jordan has shown such a batting punch that Johnson today decided to pass up Dashiell.

North-South Amateur Tourney Starts Today

Pinehurst, N. C., April 5 (U.P.).—The six-day North and South amateur golf championship begins tomorrow with 150 competitors entered. The schedule calls for 36 holes of qualifying play, 18 holes Monday and 18 hole Tuesday, and four days of match play.

Eugene Homan, Englewood, N. J., Princeton University star, will defend his title against a score of outstanding collegiate golf experts, led by George T. Dunlap, jr., New York intercollegiate champion.

Other leading competitors entered are Forbes K. Wilson, York Harbor, Me., Yale star; Richard Wilson, Southern Pines, N. C., Georgetown; Ben J. Kraffert, jr., Titusville, Pa.; Howard Tryon, Elmira, N. Y.; J. B. Ryerson, Cooperstown, N. Y.; Robert A. Stranahan, Toledo; P. S. P. Randolph, Hempstead, Long Island, and John D. Chapman, Greenwich, Conn. George Voigt, New York, three times winner of the North and South title, was reported en route here for the tournament but had not arrived late today. If he enters he will be an outstanding favorite.

Red Sox Triumph In Tenth.

Columbus, Ohio, April 5 (A.P.).—Two-base hits in the tenth inning by Evar Swanson and Elmer Yoter provided the Columbus American Association Ball Club the winning run in a 5-to-4 victory over the Boston American League Yannigans here today.

Boston tied the score in the ninth inning when they touched Percy Lee Jones for two hits and one run.

Cardinals Nose Out Semipros.

Jacksonville, Fla., April 5 (A.P.).—In a game reduced to six innings by rain, the St. Louis Cardinals today defeated the King Edwards, a local semipro team, 1 to 0. The Cardinals scored another run in the seventh, but it was canceled when rain prevented continuation of play. Rhem and Hallahan did the flinging for the major leaguers. Justis and White, both young left-handers, held the Cardinals to three hits.

Oakland Pounds Tiger Hurlers.

Oakland, Calif., April 5 (A.P.).—The Oakland team of the Pacific Coast League hammered out fifteen hits against the pitching of Cantrell and Uhle for an easy 11-to-3 victory over the Detroit Tigers in an exhibition game here this morning.

Monte Pearson, Oakland rookie moundsman, let the Tigers down with eight hits, which were fairly well scattered.

Pirates Win From Missions.

San Francisco, April 5 (A.P.).—Ianing Charley Wood, Pittsburgh southpaw, settled down and brought the Pirates a 5-to-2 victory over the San Francisco Missions of the Pacific Coast League in a morning exhibition game today.

Andy Bednar pitched the last two innings for the National Leaguers and held the Coast League batters scoreless. The Pirates pounded Carter for twelve hits, one of which was a home run by Pete McClanahan, left fielder.

Olmsted Sets New High Mark For Sandlot Sportsmanship

Refused to Protest; Donates Watches for Champs.

By LEWIS F. ATCHISON.

THERE were many fans who thought Bert Olmsted was making a grave mistake when he refused to take advantage of a technicality to protest a game that meant the Capital City League championship of the senior loop to his team, last year. The excited followers of the Olmsted Grill nine wanted the championship at all costs, and it made no difference to some of them how the contest was won, as long as the victory came to their favorites.

The genial sponsor of the team wanted the flag, too, probably even more than the most rabid of his team's rooters. He had followed the boys in each league battle as they fought a neck-and-neck race with their rivals through the hot summer months, and when they gained the right to compete in the play-off for the title, his enthusiasm was unbounded.

But when the situation simmered down to the question of how his team should win its crown, Bert promptly vetoed the protest route. He realized that umpires are human and sometimes err in their decisions, and in so far as his opponents were concerned he figured that if they chose to use ineligible players his team would only fight that much harder to gain the verdict. If his boys were not good enough to win on the playing field he didn't want the game handed to them by any protest board.

Furnished Bats and Balls for Foes.

That decision caused his hopes of having a title-winning nine to be deferred for a time, but it won for him a host of new supporters. To further demonstrate the sporting blood in Mr. Olmsted, he even so far as to help some rival nines out by giving them bats and balls when they came to a game unprepared. At every game his team participated in there was a huge bucket of lemonade to quench the thirst of both the home and visiting teams. With the temperature and humidity of last summer still vivid in our minds, we can readily see why the victims of Olmsted Grill thought it a rather pleasant experience.

Last year was the first season that Mr. Olmsted ever dickered in sandlot affairs. He went into it simply to enable a group of enthusiastic youngsters to play ball in an organized league. It was not long, however, before his attention had ben arrested by their dash and earnestness. Much the same as a youngster who sticks his toe in the water rather timidly, and then, on finding it pleasing, plunges in, Md. Olmsted soon found himself taking an active part in the affairs of his club.

Watches to Spur Players.

He was so impressed with the spirit of the entire league he thought it only appropriate that the winners should receive, in addition to the gold baseballs furnished by The Post, another prize, one that would be useful as well as ornamental. This year, in addition to the prizes awarded by The Post, each member of the winning team will receive a handsome Gruen wrist watch, the contribution of Mr. Olmsted.

All in all, it loks like one of the most exciting races in the annals of the Capital City League, with the restaurant boys out to avenge last year's loss, and the rest of the teams casting a longing glance in the direction of the watches.

Max Schmeling Starts On Tour of Midwest

Excelsior Springs, Mo., April 5 (U.P.).—Max Schmeling, world heavyweight boxing champion; Joe Jacobs, his manager, and their entourage left tonight on a midwestern exhibition tour with plans for this summer's titular bout with W. L. (Young) Stribling still indefinite.

Jacobs said he would meet Sheldon Clark, of Chicago, president of the Madison Square Garden Corporation of Illinois, in South Bend, Ind., April 15, to decide definitely the date and place of the championship fight. Schmeling will appear in an exhibition at South Bend on that date.

BUSINESS FACTORS REMAIN UNCERTAIN

Increase in Car Loadings and in Power Use Hopeful Spots.

New York, April 5 (A.P.).—Business has stumbled into the second quarter of the year in a welter of conflicting trends.

In the past week, steel production has experienced its first setback since the first of the year, and automobile-making schedules for April are conservative. For the fourth week on end, however, freight car loadings have shown a fair gain and electric power consumption has moved up above the level of two years ago for the first time this year. No important statistics on building appeared during the past week, but most estimates indicate that April will achieve a somewhat better than seasonal gain over March.

The second quarter of the year usually sees a slackening tendency in general industry, a tendency which is reversed in the third quarter, after the midsummer lull. The current quarter has started with business still at extremely depressed levels, but on the whole auspiciously.

End of Drought Reassuring.

The breaking of the drought conditions in the Central West is widely hailed as decidedly reassuring. Commodity prices, most indices show, have eased further, and agricultural products in particular have failed to show recuperative power, but historical data indicate that commodity prices are unlikely to recover until some months after general business has turned upward.

The steel industry is being influenced primarily by smaller orders from the automobile manufacturers. Week-end estimates indicate that the Youngstown area will cut operations further this week, running at about 45 per cent of capacity, against 48 per cent last week. Early last week, Iron Age placed the entire industry at 55 per cent, as reduced from 57 in the preceding week. The trade is growing somewhat dubious over the higher prices announced for this quarter.

While April automobile output is expected to exceed 300,000 units for the first time since last June, the trade was talking of a 400,000 unit output for this month a short time ago. March output appears to have been a little over 280,000 units. The care with which the industry is guarding against overloading its dealers is maintaining a healthy condition.

Easter's Aid Felt.

The gain in freight car loadings for the week ended March 21 was more convincing than that of the previous weeks, since it was mainly due to a large upturn in shipments of miscellaneous freight, while the gain of the second week of March was caused by a special movement of coal. The early date of Easter was undoubtedly a factor, however, in the better than seasonal showing of freight movement.

Easter has given retail trade the best period of the new year, although results in the aggregate appear to have been somewhat under last year. As is usual the week before Easter, wholesale markets have experienced a let down.

Probably the next stimulus to retail trade will be a few weeks of warm spring weather, which should facilitate the movement of seasonal merchandise.

Stocks and Bonds Advance After Drop Early in Week

Rally, Due Primarily to Profit Taking by Bears, Checks Most Persistent Sag Since December; Net Loss Is Small.

New York, April 5 (A.P.).—With the spring impulse to business recovery losing its force, the financial markets again wavered this week.

Both stocks and bonds were under pressure during the early part of the week, but manifested a better tone as the week ended. A late rally in share prices was the first decisive interruption in a fortnight of declines, checking the most persistent sag that has been seen since December.

It appeared to be due primarily to profit-taking by bears, so the week closed with mists of uncertainty still hovering over the list. Net loss for the week shown by the price index of 90 shares was only 1 1-3 points.

The bond market was under the shadow of the drastic impairment of railway revenues, as reported for February, and prospect of heavy Government borrowing. The Treasury is planning a new offering, presumably of certificates, next week. Estimates of its probable size vary from $250,000,000 to $400,000,000. Investment funds continue relatively plentiful, however, and bankers are not worried over the future of the bond market.

Call money was a little firmer during the week, touching 2 per cent, as the month-end settlements were felt. Brokers loans dropped $33,000,000.

The sag in share prices showed some signs of leveling out, but this may have been due to the quiet caused by the Good Friday holiday. Some observers felt that a selling climax may be necessary to clear up stock hanging over the market. A climax of that sort, however, is not an inevitable sequel to a protracted decline. The list may drift into a period of extreme quiet.

It now seems apparent that the vigorous pool activity of February and March was altogether too optimistic. It had historical experience in its favor, for a major upturn in business seemed due after eighteen months.

Wall Street now expects further bullish demonstrations before August, when the next seasonal impulse will be felt in industry. So many false starts have been made, however, that faith in equity shares has undoubtedly been impaired.

Commodity prices have been under considerable pressure during the week, but losses have in the main been small, and an encouraging resistance to depression seems to have developed. A brisk upturn in commodity prices, unlike stocks, has not in the past been the usual forerunner or even the companion of rising business. Commodity prices, in the light of economic history, are not likely to turn upward until some time after business recovery has been clearly evident.

CURB SALES RULED BY PROFESSIONALS

Prices Trend Downward on Short Pressure and Profit Taking.

New York, April 5 (A.P.).—Depressed by short selling and scattered liquidation, the curb market was reactionary last week. Disappointment in speculative circles over the failure of business to live up to the optimistic prophecies heard earlier in the year was translated into an almost steady downward movement which put prices at successive new lows for the reaction, although there was some covering at the week-end.

The market was dominated by the professional trading element, which found the resistance less impressive than in earlier stages of the decline. Bull pools appeared to be disbanding, especially in the utility group, and there was some strenuous profit-taking in high-priced specialties.

Aluminum of America made a wide sweep. After selling as high as 202, or close to the year's top, it reacted about 40 points from the 1931 maximum when the earnings statement appeared. Parker Rust Proof also broke sharply and there was a sizeable sag in Great Atlantic & Pacific.

Strong features included Agfa Ansco, common and preferred, the latter rallying more than a dozen points. Cord was bid up at the week-end coincident with the rise in Auburn. For the most part, however, the specialties were in supply. Aviation stocks were sold following the Kansas disaster on Tuesday. Utilities softened extensively. Electric Bond & Share sold several points below 50 and both American Superpower and Niagara Hudson gave ground.

Oils were affected by slow selling which put most of the standards down to new lows. Investment trusts were rather emphatically soft.

Public Service Company
OF NORTHERN ILLINOIS
First Lien and Refunding Mortgage 4½% Gold Bonds, Series F
Due April 1, 1981
Price 97½ and Interest, Yielding about 4⅝%

The following is summarized from a letter from Mr. Samuel Insull, Chairman of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois:

Business: The Company serves 319 communities situated in a compact area of Illinois, embracing the wealthy suburban territory tributary to Chicago and the surrounding widely diversified manufacturing and agricultural districts. Electric service is rendered in 317 communities, gas in 103, water in 5, and heat in 3.

Equity: The First Lien and Refunding Mortgage Gold Bonds precede Debentures, and dividend-paying Preferred and Common Stock having a combined market value, as indicated by recent quotations, of over $150,000,000.

Purpose of Issue: The proceeds from the sale of these Bonds together with funds provided from other sources will be used to retire $37,250,000 bonds and debentures bearing higher coupon rates, and for other corporate purposes.

Income Account: For the 12 Months Ended December 31, 1930, Gross Revenue (including other income) was $37,097,656; Operating Expenses, including Maintenance, Taxes, and Rentals (but not including Depreciation, Amortization of Debt Discount, etc.) were $21,575,573; and Net Earnings were $15,522,083. The annual interest on the entire mortgage indebtedness of the Company in the hands of the public, including the present issue, will require $4,548,230.

A circular more fully descriptive of this issue will be sent upon request.

HALSEY, STUART & CO.

Who Are the Champion Bridge Players of Washington?

The question has never been answered to the satisfaction of Washington's 25,000 bridge enthusiasts.

An opportunity to settle all arguments is now offered by The Washington Post.

Contract and Auction fans will be given a chance to test their skill.

The champion players of Washington, including a 25-mile radius, will be known, and rewarded with trophies donated by The Washington Post.

Separate tournaments will be provided for both experts and average players so that full opportunity will be given the newcomers to the game as well as the seasoned players to demonstrate their ability.

Details of the Tournament Will Be Developed Daily in The Washington Post

1. The tournament will be held May 14, 15 and 16 at the New Shoreham Hotel.

2. Entries will be accepted from persons living in Washington or within a twenty-five (25) mile radius.

3. Play will be conducted for teams of four, teams of two or individuals; or such parts of the foregoing plan as entries warrant.

4. The conduct of the tournament will be in the charge of a committee on arrangements. The committee's action in accepting entries, making rules and governing play shall be final.

5. Prizes to the winning teams and individuals will be awarded by The Washington Post.

6. The tournament will be divided into two classes: Class A for advanced players; Class B for intermediate players.

7. Play in both classes will be provided in both contract and auction bridge. Entrants should designate which form of the game—contract or auction—and which class they desire to enter.

8. Clubs and other organized groups of bridge players may enter one or more teams in any classification of the tournament.

HOW IT BEGAN

By Russ Murphy and Roy Sercombe

How Felt Was Discovered
Clement, an early bishop of Rome, once found his feet so blistered from long continued travel that he was forced to put a little wool between his sandals and the soles of his feet. The moisture and pressure of his feet worked the wool into a compact substance, and the bishop, observing its useful nature, introduced it into the manufacture of wearing apparel.
Feed a Cold And Starve A Fever
Our ancestors used to say "Feed a cold and you will have to starve a fever." Then they changed it to our present expression, which they understood as a brief way of saying the same thing, but we sometimes make the mistake of accepting it literally.
Full Of The Old Nick
Odin, one of the Scandinavian gods, sometimes assumed the role of a destroying or evil spirit. In such cases, he was known as Old Nykers or Nickar. We've shortened it to Old Nick.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

RATS AND ANOTHER FEVER.

One of the worst human diseases is typhus fever known otherwise as ship fever, jail fever starvation fever. Highly civilized people live on such a plane of sanitation, personal cleanliness and nutrition that they are in no danger of typhus.

One of the outstanding triumphs of the World War was the protection of troops coming from America and northwest Europe against typhus brought to them by troops from Asia, Africa and east Europe. But typhus, denied entry to America north of Mexico by our standards of living, assumes one or another alias and, thus distinguished, sticks a foot through a crack in the nearly closed door. One of these aliases is Brill's disease. Another might with the same appropriateness, be termed Maxey's disease. Physicians who see cases of this form of fever sometimes call it malaria, sometimes masked malaria, sometimes short typhoid, and sometimes unknown fever.

Dr. Maxey, who is responsible for about all we know of it, found it in southeast Alabama. He decided that it was not spread by lice, as is ordinary typhus. He tied it up with rats, in some relation or other, hazarding the guess that it prevailed normally among rats, but that it occasionally found a way to bridge the gap from rat to man.

There is a blood test by which diagnosis of the disease can be made certain. And, what is of great importance, if a man has had Maxey's disease and recovered, as they always do, this blood test, made even a long time afterward, will prove the nature of the unknown fever.

Drs. Sheimire and Dove have recently supplied what may prove to be the missing link. In north Texas last year there was a considerable epidemic of this unknown fever. Blood tests proved the disease to be this form of mild typhus operating under an alias. Simultaneously the people of this vicinity had an epidemic of something like nettlerash. The rash was proved to be dermatitis, due to bites from a rat mite. Many houses had become infested with these mites and sufficient rat blood not being available, the mites had swallowed their pride and fed on the pure blue blood of Caucasian peoples. What is more to the point, Drs. Sheimire and Dove seem to have proved that some of these cases of Maxey typhus fever were infected by these mite bites.

MANY CAUSES OF BOILS.

Mrs. G. B. writes: What is the cause and cure of boils? I have had them the last three years on my chin, temple and arms. I have taken much medicine without results. They are worse in the spring, but likely to come any time.

REPLY.

There are many causes of boils. Among them are diabetes, diet too rich in starch and sugar, dirty skin, irritation of the skin, some exposure of the skin connected with the occupation.

I wonder if you do not have pimples, a variety of boils? If so, care in keeping the grease glands emptied and in keeping the skin clean is more effective than taking medicine internally. The best treatment consists in finding the cause and avoiding it. This may include dieting and care of the skin. Phage locally is the best remedy after diet and skin hygiene.

BUCK ROGERS, 2431 A.D. — What Had She Done? — More strange adventures in a full color page every Sunday. — By Phil Nowlan and Dick Calkins

We were to return to America at once with a treaty from Atlantis—but I couldn't find Wilma—Nudek flashed the alarm by Phonovision.
Search the airways!—even the seaways!
It shall be done!
We've got to find her!
Copyright John F. Dille Co. Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.
The next instant there flashed on the Phonovision screen—
Your submarine!!
And heading out of the air lock!—Wilma??
—And then—
Wilma!!
C-can you ever forgive me?—I-I-don't deserve it—Oh Oh! What have I done?
Yes, yes! What have you done?

Hello pups! You're a friendly little trick, aren't you. You'll have to get over some of that to make a good watch dog.
Pal go away!
Pals jealous of him!
Naughty dog Pal! Picking on a little three months old puppy!
Keep still, Pal! He isn't doin' you any harm.
I allus said Pal was almos' human.

Treasure Island
Robert L. Stevenson's classic filmed by Ed Wheelan
Episode 13
At the warning whistle from the hill, the pirates fled from the inn, leaving Blind Pew to shift for himself
Johnny, Black Dog, Dick!! You won't leave old Pew, mates,—not old Pew!!
And now several riders came suddenly around the bend and swept at full gallop down the road
In his utter confusion the blind scoundrel had dashed directly into the path of the coming horses and down he went under their thundering hoofs
Jim Hawkins who had seen all this from his hiding place, now hailed the riders who turned out to be revenue officers
We were riding this way when we met the boy from the Hamlet speeding to Dr. Livesey for help!!
Some of the officers now hastened to the shore but they were too late, the pirates had made good their escape
Meanwhile Jim and his mother returned to the inn, the interior of which was completely wrecked
Oh, my poor boy, we are ruined now!!
Not yet, mother dear, I have an idea!!
Another surprise here tomorrow!! 4-6

BOBBY THATCHER — Aunt Lottie — By George Storm

Before ma sees me I'll open my window and put this garter snake and good ol' snappin' turtle in my window and then come in through the front door
Can't get it open any further, ma must have put that nail in there to keep the window from rattling.
Nothin' to do but put 'em all here in Aunt Lottie's room and get 'em before she finishes supper.....
Hullo Aunt Lottie!
Mercy Flora! How this child has grown! Aren't you going to kiss your auntie, Ulysses?

THE GUMPS — Follow the Gumps in the colored Comic Section of The Sunday Post. — Ho! Hum!

Well—what do you want me to do?
What do I want you to do? What you ought to do—is get a job sitting down somewhere—why don't you apply for a position as a flag pole sitter? Only you wouldn't enjoy that because you wouldn't be able to lay down on the job—
Ho! Hum! I'm used to regular habits—I feel too lazy to work today—
Well—laziness—that's one of your regular habits—say—you're beginning to 'rouse my sympathy—
What a dog's life you live—come home when you're ready—track the mud in with your feet—curl up in the easiest place you can find—wait to be fed—and then Growl—

NEGRO HEALTH WEEK WILL BE OBSERVED

Washington Is to Take Part With 2,500 Other Communities.

The seventeenth annual observance of national Negro health week, inaugurated by Booker T. Washington in 1915, will take place here this week under auspices of the National Public Health Service, the National Negro Business League and the Commission on Interracial Cooperation. Washington has always ranked high among cities which observe this week formally. Several neighborhood clean-up campaigns have been organized for formal competition with other communities.

It is expected also that Montgomery County, Md., which has been awarded the county first prize on two occasions, will take active interest in the observance. A standard plan has been formulated for child clinics, programs of health education in schools, lodges and churches, and for distribution of health bulletins. Health units have been organized in various colored fraternities, under direction of Dr. Charles B. Fisher, wherein nurses are trained and graduated for public service.

More than 2,500 communities observed the week last year. A wider observance is expected this year. Since inauguration of the movement there has been a notable gain in Negro health, and a consequent decrease in insurance rates. Communities of the South have expanded facilities for hospitalization of Negroes and have, in many instances, added Negro physicians and nurses to their health departments. The Commission on Interracial Cooperation is eager to communicate with public spirited citizens who are willing to cooperate in promotion of this plan, not only for the current week, but throughout the year.

THOMAS J. OWEN & SON, Auctioneers.
1431 Eye Street Northwest.

TRUSTEES' SALE OF VALUABLE REAL ESTATE, BEING A TWO-STORY SEMIDETACHED, BRICK DWELLING, CONTAINING SEVEN ROOMS AND BATH, KNOWN AS 421 MADISON STREET NORTHWEST.

By virtue of a certain deed of trust recorded in Liber No. 5005 at folio 65, of the land records of the District of Columbia, and at the request of the party secured thereby, the undersigned will sell at public auction, in front of the premises on TUESDAY, THE SEVENTH OF APRIL, 1931, AT THREE-THIRTY O'CLOCK P. M., the following described land and premises situate in the District of Columbia, and being lot numbered One Hundred Forty-two (142) in Ethel M. Rutty's and others' subdivision of lots in square numbered Thirty-two Hundred sixty-three (3263), as per plat recorded in the Office of the Surveyor for the District of Columbia in Liber 94 at folio 33.

TERMS OF SALE: Said property is subject to a prior deed of trust securing an indebtedness of $5,750.00, and said property will be sold subject to said deed of trust indebtedness. Of the purchase price over and above said deed of trust, one-third is to be paid in cash and the balance in two equal installments, payable in one and two years, with interest at the rate of 6 per cent per annum, payable semiannually, secured by second deed of trust upon the property sold, or all cash at the option of the purchaser. Interest and taxes to be paid or adjusted to date of sale. A deposit of $250.00 will be required at the time of sale. All conveyancing, recording, etc., at the cost of purchaser. Terms of sale to be complied within thirty (30) days from day of sale, otherwise deposit will be forfeited and property resold at risk and cost of defaulting purchaser after five (5) days' advertisement of such resale in some newspaper published in Washington, D. C.

BABY'S LIFE CHANCE LESS IN WASHINGTON THAN IT IS IN NATION

Hazard of Child-Bearing Is Greater Here, Survey Report Shows.

SOCIAL AGENCY COUNCIL SAYS CLINICS ARE NEED

Increase in Field Nursing Service Is Additional Recommendation.

An infant born in Washington has less chance of survival and the hazards of child bearing are greater for mothers in the National Capital than in the United States birth registration area as a whole, the health committee of the Washington Council of Social Agencies stated yesterday after viewing the results of the health and hospital survey of Washington made by the American Public Health Association under the council's auspices.

To remedy this condition the council recommended at least one additional prenatal clinic, a greater intensity of clinic service and an increase in field nursing service.

The survey revealed that the percentage of infant deaths from causes related to the mother was much greater in the District of Columbia than in the birth registration area of the country. The percentage here was 53.7 per cent, while for the area it was 48.7. The percentage of deaths from these causes was greater in the white than in the colored groups here.

Death Rate Here Higher.

The average maternal mortality rate for three years studied was much higher in the District than in the United States birth registration area or in any city in the group studied, according to survey figures. These higher rates applied to both white and colored groups. The average white maternal mortality rate in the District was 1.4 higher than that in Baltimore and the average colored mortality rate was 4.9 points higher than Baltimore.

Infant mortality in Washington has declined considerably over a period of years, although in the last fourteen years, with the exception of 1919 and 1929, it was somewhat higher than in the United States as a whole, the report declared. Nursing services are only about one-half adequate for the existing need, it found.

The council recommends that funds be provided to make possible material increases in the medical and nursing staff for this type of work. The equivalent of the time of 22 nurses seems desirable for infant and postnatal work, the survey says.

A full-time nutrition worker to be employed by the department of health to conduct nutrition conferences and give food demonstrations to mothers attending the child hygiene conference is also urged.

Diphtheria Is Most Fatal.

Of the 2,490 diphtheria immunizations of preschool children last year were carried out by the Health Department, this number is only about one-third of what would seem practical of accomplishment in this age-group were the funds somewhat larger, the survey says.

"It is generally recognized that diphtheria is most common and most fatal in the preschool-age group. Consideration might be given to the possibility of doing more of this work in child hygiene conferences, although additional medical services will be needed for the purpose.

"About 10 per cent of the preschool-age children in the city are registered at clinics or by nursing organizations. This service scores 57 out of a possible 100 points."

Would Double Preschool Nurses.

Recommendations are made that funds be provided to double the nursing service of the Health Department in behalf of preschool children and that efforts be made to extend conference services.

To meet the pressing need of preschool children in the city the equivalent of the time of 27 nurses by all agencies combined would seem to be a desirable goal, the survey states. Increased efforts to secure protection against diphtheria by immunization measures annually of preschool children equivalent to 60 per cent of the average annual births are also urged.

"Annual medical examinations are made of a little over one-third of the entering school children in public schools, but the staff of physicians, dentists and nurses is inadequate to cover the entire first grade and kindergarten group or to include the fifth and sixth grade children," the report declares. "So far as this work goes, it seems to be well organized and it is gratifying to note that about 75 per cent of the parents are present at the time physical examinations are made.

More Play Grounds Are Needed.

"There is an opportunity to develop a more completely coordinated health education program in the public and parochial schools, but additional trained personnel would be required for this purpose. There is also need for larger playground spaces in the vicinity of elementary and high schools. School health services score 67 out of a possible 100 points."

The number of medical inspectors, school nurses and dental inspectors should be increased, according to the recommendation, to provide a thorough medical examination of all children entering public school for the first time and of children in the fifth and sixth grades, and to enable nurses to encourage the mothers to bring a larger number of children with defects to professional attention.

A more complete program of school health supervision is urged in parochial schools.

Operation May Save Girl Thrown by Horse

Nathalie Judson, 17-year-old student at Miss Madeira's School, 1330 Nineteenth street northwest, underwent an operation Saturday in Plainfield, N. J., to save her life. She suffered a fracture of the skull when the horse she was riding fell. Dr. K. Winfield Ney, of New York, performed the operation and declared the girl has a fair chance for recovery.

Miss Judson, who is from New York City and the daughter of William D. Judson, dry goods commission merchant, was home for the holidays and had gone to Plainfield to visit Adrianne Charles. They were riding together when the accident occurred.

EMISSARIES OF EASTER BUNNY

Arthur Ellis, Post Staff Photographer.

When the children of a less fortunate family of the District awoke this morning they found that the Bunny Rabbit had left them an Easter basket, the biggest and most elaborate of any that he had left. Girls of the Alpha Chapter of the Sigma Tau Gamma Sorority filled this big basket with dozens of colored and chocolate eggs and rabbits. Emily Pomeroy (left), Cornelia Reid and Ruth Duckett delivered the basket.

GUESTS ARE KILLED BY CHINESE GENERAL

Governor of Shensi Gets Rid of Bandit Leaders by Dinner Invitation.

Sian, China, April 5 (A.P.).—Being invited out to dinner to be shot is as sinister as it sounds.

It is exactly what happened to a group of brigand leaders of Shensi province, of which this city is the capital, when Gen. Yang Hu-Cheng, governor of the region, decided to get rid of them.

Chief among the victims was Gen. Chen Shou-Shan, commander of eight "independent," or brigand armies.

Although his forces were regarded as supporters of the Nanking government because Chen was opposed to Marshal Feng Yu-Hsiang in the 1930 civil war, they existed by banditry and controlled most of western Shensi.

Thinking that he might induce the new governor to see banditry from his viewpoint, Chen gathered several of his subordinate commanders and journeyed 200 miles from his stronghold to this city. The trip was just what Yang had been waiting for.

On the arrival of his visitors Yang ordered gates of the city shut and invited Chen to dinner. The brigand was shot from behind as he entered the dining room. His officers were rounded up and executed the next day.

Another brigand leader met the same fate a few days later. He was Gen. Yao, who combined the incongruous roles of bandit chieftain and curio shopkeeper in Sian.

Yao, too, was invited to the governor's house for dinner and was shot in the back. His curio shop, stocked with loot taken by his bandit gangs, was closed.

Despite the character of these little affairs, Gen. Yang has become popular with the masses. Even the Christian churches hereabouts have made something of a lion of him.

Invitations to his dinners, however, are seldom accepted, for the most honest people fear that the governor may have been misinformed about their characters.

London Restaurant Gives Dog His Day

London, April 5 (A.P.).—The latest things to "go to the dogs" are meals. A London restaurant, as the result of a controversy started in the "Letters to the Editor" columns in London papers, announces dogs will be fed as well as their masters. The sign heralding the policy reads:

"Dogs' dinners. Two pence (4 cents) for small ones. Three pence (6 cents) for large ones, and four pence (8 cents) for outsizes."

MOSCOW DIVORCE MOVING PROBLEM

Housing So Scarce Parted Couples Have to Continue Living Together.

Moscow, April 5 (A.P.).—Where to live after divorce is one of the newly pressing questions of Moscow.

It is an off-shoot of the housing problem, which has grown more acute as thousands of workers have been drawn to the cities by the government's big industrial projects.

Getting the divorce is easy. If there are no children either the husband or the wife signs a register, pays a small fee and the thing is done.

But with rooms at a premium, they must at present continue to live in the same quarters—or sleep in the streets.

By law each person is entitled to a living space of 85 square feet. A married couple therefore may have twice that area in which to move and have their being, but as things are a husband and wife who have a room to themselves are considered lucky.

In many cases four and five persons are quartered in the one room.

A woman who got a divorce after seven years of wedded life, related that she searched in vain for new living quarters. So she and her former husband had continued to live in the single room, although they had not spoken to each other for seven months.

The only escape from the impasse would be for each to discover a new mate simultaneously. Then there could be a general exchange of quarters that would solve the problem.

But life in Russia is just like that, with everybody hoping that one of these days, when the theories of Lenin become facts, there will be rooms for everybody and divorces will have happy endings.

Swift Kick Saves Life Of Woman on Track

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., April 5 (U.P.).—A swift kick is not usually the most pleasant of sensations but it resulted in saving a life here recently. Mrs. Martin Trudnak, Mocanaqua, was pulling a heavily loaded sled across the Pennsylvania railroad tracks there when a coal train approached.

In her hurry to cross the tracks, she caught the sled runners between the rails. As she pulled, the train approached, with Isaac Koons, brakeman, riding the pilot of the locomotive. The woman delayed and Koons, unable to reach her by any other method, kicked her clear of the cars. The train crushed the sled.

GIRL RESERVES PLAN THREE SHOWINGS OF TOY SHOP OPERETTA

First Performance Will Be Thursday Afternoon at Y. W. C. A. Hall.

ANNUAL UNDERTAKING IS CHILDREN'S BENEFIT

Cast Will Include 89 Girls From Senior High Schools of City.

For the fifth consecutive year, the Girl Reserves of the Y. W. C. A. will give a spring fairy operetta for the children of the Capital City, which this year will be entitled "The Toy Shop." It will be presented Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. It is written by Jessie L. Gaynor and is presented by 89 Girl Reserves from the senior high schools under the direction of Mary M. Burnett and Alice Sigworth Morse, of the Young Women's Christian Association.

Central High School Reserves will appear as the Doll Chorus, including Dorothy Fiske, Lorraine Lincoln, Frances Pryor, Beatrice Hoffman, Marjorie Fowler, Pat Wrightson, Margaret Lum, Jessie Redfield, Jean Harden, Yolanda Geraci, Verona Geraci, Helen Jones, Polly Wrightson, Alberta Heale, Margaret Hammond and Thais Spencer.

Eastern High School Reserves will offer two chorus groups: Japanese Dolls, including Marjorie Lipaki, Rose Callow, Dolores Abellera and Charlotte Battenfield; Gingerbread Men, including Jacqueline Kelly, Nola Stone, Ruth Kalderback, Alice Dorsey, Dorothy De Neale, Janet Walther.

Wooden Soldiers Group.

McKinley High School Reserves will be seen and heard as Wooden Soldiers, including Margaret Sniffin, Elizabeth Drees, Harriet Muce, Esther Rauch, Bobby Boyd, Jeannette Barnard and Suzanne Morse, who will appear as a jockey.

Business High School Reserves will do the Sailor Chorus, with Virginia Hulser, Marjorie Hunt, Margaritte Williams, Mildred Steele, Gertrude Feldman, Ruth Byrd, Elizabeth Driffmyer, Catherine Hubbard.

Western High Reserves will appear as the Candy Chorus, including Dorothy Harper, Evelyn Freeman, Frances Devers, Frances Dorr, Ansley Spalding, Janice Hale.

Alexandria Girls Take Part.

Reserves from the George Mason High School, Alexandria, Va., will appear in the operetta as Tin Soldiers, including Jeannette Michelbach, Eleanor Ziegler, Virginia Hitt, Edith Spaulding, Barbara Davis, Luta Davis, Jessica Buck, Irma Sturdyvin.

The parts of animals in the Toy Shop will be played by Ruth Stone, Ruby Arenz, Pauline Rogers, Virginia Grove, Charlotte Dyer and Alice Haley.

There will be two afternoon performances and one evening performance. The Thursday afternoon performance will be by invitation only, and the guests of the reserves on that occasion will be the boys and girls from various institutions and orphanages in the city, whom the Girl Reserves have learned to know through their annual Christmas activities and distribution of gifts from the real Toy Shop, which they conduct annually in order to repair and renew partly used toys given them by hundreds of persons in the city for the underprivileged children of Washington.

Children's Matinee Saturday.

The Friday performance will take place at 8:15 o'clock in the evening, and is open to the public, which is asked to purchase tickets at the Y. W. C. A. or from the Girl Reserves themselves. The final performance will take place Saturday afternoon and will be known as the "children's matinee." For this special performance, reservations are now being made by groups of boys and girls, from Miss Elsa M. Peterson or from the Young Women's Christian Association direct.

Beautiful costumes and attractive stage settings, designed and supervised by a committee of Washington women, including Mrs. William McClellan Ritter, Mrs. Harry Harmon Blee, Mrs. George C. Padgett and Mrs. Harry Norment, have been made under the direction of Miss Mabel R. Cook, Miss Dorothea McDowell, Miss Helen Middleton and Miss Ethel M. Quisenbury, of the Girl Reserve staff at the Y. W. C. A.

All three performances will take place in Barker Hall, of the Y. W. C. A., at Seventeenth and K streets.

$35,000 IS PLEDGED TO SYMPHONY FUND; MORE IS NECESSARY

National Orchestra Will Need $50,000 Guaranty by June 1.

24 CONCERTS PLANNED FOR 16-WEEK SEASON

Expected Receipts Counted On to Bring Budget to $77,500.

More than $35,000 has already been subscribed to the guaranty fund of the National Symphony Orchestra of Washington, it was announced yesterday by Mrs. Kate Wilson-Greene, who would be manager of the organization under tentative plans for its formation. A total of $77,500 will be required to organize and maintain it for one year, its sponsors say.

Not all of the $77,500 sum set as the minimum for maintaining the orchestra must be guaranteed at once, for part of the expense will be met with receipts from concerts, but a sum in the neighborhood of $50,000 must be realized by June 1, if the orchestra is to become a reality for Washington during the coming season.

Orchestra's Organization Group.

The organization committee of the orchestra is composed of Walter Bruce Howe, Nicholas Longworth, George Hewitt Myers, Corcoran Thom and Myron Whitney.

In their recent appeal for guarantors of the project they outlined a plan for an organization of 75 musicians, nearly alll to be residents of Washington, under the direction of Hans Kindler, internationally known cellist.

A season of 24 concerts during the season of 1931-32 is planned. Eight of these will be symphony concerts, eight popular concerts and eight children's concerts in a season of sixteen weeks.

Bank President Is Treasurer.

Robert V. Fleming, president of the Riggs Bank, is acting as treasurer of the organization. Unless the necessary amount is received to guarantee the orchestra by June 1, he will refund in full all amounts received from subscribers.

If public support of the concerts exceeds present estimates the committee says, the burden of the guarantors will be decreased accordingly and a pro rata refund will be made.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, April 5 (A.P.).—The Moody Seagraves interests, who built up the United Gas Co. system and are identified with various other business activities in the Southwest, have acquired control and assumed the management of the Saxet Co., to which they have just added the properties of Moody Seagraves Producing Co., and those of T. P. Morgan, oil producing units of South Texas. O. R. Seagraves, vice chairman of United Gas Corporation and chairman of Freeport Texas Co., has been made chairman of the Saxet Co.

Orders already booked have accounted for all production of electric refrigerators by Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co. for April, May and June, C. E. Allen, commercial vice president, said.

Despite numerous dividend reductions and omissions, the average yield on all cash dividend-paying stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange advanced from 7.29 per cent to 7.42 per cent during March, Moody's monthly compilation shows. Dividend changes last month affected 41 stocks, or 11 per cent of the 358 issues tabulated. Reductions totaled 26, while 13 dividends were omitted and two were increased.

Rails produced in the United States last year fell to 1,873,233 tons, compared with 2,722,138 tons in 1929, the American Iron and Steel Institute reports. The total includes girder and high Trials for electric and street railways and rails rerolled from defective and old rails.

For the first time in seven years exports of cattle hides exceeded imports during February, the New York Hide Exchange reports. February imports, the smallest in ten years, fell to 80,000 hides, against 107,000 in January and 380,000 in February of 1930. Exports in February rose to 85,000 against 74,000 in January and 68,000 in February, last year.

New securities scheduled for offering Monday include $1,000,000 City of St. Paul, Minn., 4 per cent bonds maturing April 1, 1932 to 1961, inclusive.

Ford, Bacon & Davis have been awarded the contract for construction of the last section of the natural gas pipe line from the Texas Panhandle to Chicago. The last link of the project, running from Rock Island to Joliet, Ill., will be 155 miles long and the contract calls for its completion by July 1.

A reminder that all drawn bonds cease to carry interest with the expiration of the year in which their drawing rights were drawn was issued by C. D. Tichard & Co. to holders of German revaluation (liquidation) bonds. The notice urges holders to register their numbers on undrawn bonds.

Clean-Up Drive Official Will Address Citizens

George J. Adams, executive secretary of the clean-up campaign committee, will address the Columbia Heights Citizens Association at the meeting at 8 o'clock tomorrow night in the assembly hall of Christian Church, 1435 Park road.

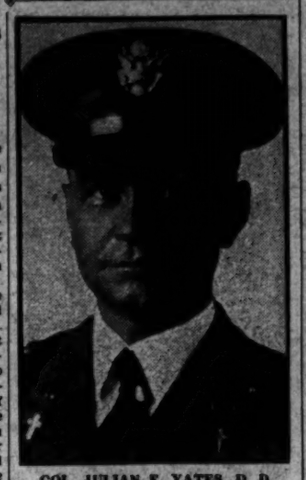
Committee reports and nomination of officers are included among business to be transacted. Albert E. Westrater is president of the association.

Suit Cases Stolen; Loss Is $400.

Two suit cases were reported stolen yesterday from automobiles in front of 2400 Sixteenth street northwest. They contained jewelry and clothing valued at $400. The owners were Helen M. Wilson, of 3621 Newark street, and Carrie R. Foulton, of 1732 Lanier place northwest.

Christ's Spirit Defies Men's Bars, Yates Says

Chief of Chaplains Cites Futility of Obstacles to Nazarene Teachings.



COL. JULIAN E. YATES, D. D.

Materialistic philosophy, which he said was an attempt to seal "within stone doors the spirit of Christ," was denounced yesterday by Col. Julian E. Yates, D. D., chief of Army chaplains, who delivered the sermon at the Walter Reed Hospital Easter sunrise services. Col. Yates' sermon in part follows:

"So they went, and made the sepulcher sure, sealing the stone and setting a watch."—Matthew xxvii:66.

"What an audacious challenge that was, when seen in the light of subsequent events! The rock-hewn tomb of the Nazarene who had been executed the day before by order of Pontius Pilate was sealed and made doubly secure with a guard of Roman soldiers. Across the heavy stone door was stretched a stout cord, fastened at right and left to the solid stone with seals of wax or clay, which doubtless bore the insignia of the Roman Empire. That the labor of sealing and setting a guard was done on the Jewish Sabbath indicated the desperate desire on the part of these devout religionists to stop once and for all this mad craze about the Nazarine whose crucifixion they had achieved.

Prejudice of Men.

"It is remarkable the lengths to which religious prejudice and frenzy will sometimes impel men and women. The enemies of Christ carried their antagonism to the most extreme measures. As a babe he had to flee for safety with Mary and Joseph into Egypt. When as a young man he began to go about doing good to people of every walk in life, to heal the sick and bring sight to the blind and gladness to the sorrowing, he was hounded and harassed wherever he went, until all the accumulated hatred finally accomplished his death by crucifixion.

"And as if this were not enough, the venom expended upon him in life followed him into the tomb, sealing and guarding his dead body. But there are still a few things which defy the strength and conceited ingenuity of man. In fact, most of the titanic forces of nature still stand as eloquent object lessons of man's smallness and weakness. Tornadoes and earthquakes down to date have pretty much their own way, in spite of man's boast of power.

Praise by Wrath.

Truly inspired were the words of the Psalmist when he said: "Surely the wrath of man shall praise thee." By all these precautions the enemies of our Lord were only setting the stage for the most portentous act in his career. For with the first red glow of the dawn on that first Easter Sunday the earth was convulsed under the tread of its Creator. The seal was snapped, the stone door rolled back, and the Roman guard lay prostrate on the ground. So began the Messiah's triumphs. And since that day no power under the sun has been able to bind his kingdom.

How prophetic of subsequent events in the world since that day was that dramatic episode! Although the same enemies have continued their efforts in a thousand different ways to bind and seal the spirit of the arisen Christ through all these centuries, their efforts have been futile. Let us examine a few of them.

When the prostrate form of Stephen lay quiet outside the gates of Jerusalem those who had stoned him thought they had silenced his voice and sealed his lips forever. When Nero had snuffed out the lives of Paul and Peter and their brethren at Rome by sword, faggot and wild beasts, he supposed he was sealing for all time the fate of that heretical sect called Christians. And through the ten great persecutions, three centuries long, culminating in the wholesale slaughter by Diocletian, these enemies made titanic efforts to seal and still forever the spirit of Christ in the world.

Eloquent in Death.

But what was the outcome? Stephen and Peter and Paul and that valiant army of martyrs were more eloquent dead than alive. Literally the blood of the martyrs was the seed of the church, for persecution only served to scatter the seed far and wide to spring into harvest in many remote lands. The chains of Xerxes were more able to stay the stormy tides of the Hellespont than were the enemies of Christianity to stay its triumphal march. And from that first Easter morn down to the present moment, in spite of fire and sword, calumny and reproach, in spite of all the seals and guards which have been inflicted upon it, the progress of Christ's kingdom on earth has been one triumphal procession.

But let not the faithful deceive themselves that the last vindictive onslaught of the enemy has been made. Every day finds some man, or group of men, trying to seal within stone doors the spirit of Christ, and placing themselves on guard to obstruct the roadway that his followers would take.

Some of the present day seals bear new names, but they are as old as creation. Would-be scientists, for instance, from age to age have clothed the old materialistic philosophy in new garbs and given it new names with the ever recurring hope of sealing up forever the thing we call spirit, and ending all of our delusions that we are anything else than animal. They say to us, "There is no such thing as spirit in man which expresses itself in what you call ideal and aspiration. And, moreover, man possesses no such faculty as choice. Every single thing that he does is a conditioned reflex, the product of chemical or mechanical forces." And here they stop, failing to tell us who or what is back of those mechanical forces of which they prate so glibly.

Teachings Lead to Crime.

In the dismal train of such a doctrine it is little wonder that crime increases by leaps and bounds. For if man is a robot, a Frankenstein monster, neither capable of choice nor as such responsible for his actions, why indeed should he worry about ethical standards? Let us eat, drink and be merry, for tomorrow we die!

That is the only consistent conclusion of such a doctrine. And no matter whether you call yourself by the modern name behaviorist or determinist or a simon-pure fatalist, it is the same animal philosophy which seeks to seal up and belie the spiritual in man. It is the same crude and half-baked fallacy which has persisted from ancient paganism to curse and deaden the race of men. Ah, what a menace such a creed holds for posterity if accepted and put into practice by men and women!

But in spite of its scientific pretentions it stands exposed and repudiated by the experience of men. For ever since this brute philosophy was first perpetrated upon a believing world a few heroic men have continued to catch the gleam and follow it, have been fired by high and holy ideals and have resolutely set their faces and chosen their way in the world. Their spirits have refused to be bound by chemistry or mechanics, in spite of all kinds of adverse circumstances and their pseudo scientific teachers.

NEW VATICAN CITY AROUSES CRITICISM

Appearance of Papal State Thought Spoiled by Modernization.

Vatican City, April 5 (A.P.).—Construction work involved in Pope Pius' modernization of Vatican City spoiled the appearance of the little papal state?

Italian artistic circles are divided into two camps over the question.

The critic Arduino Colasanti started it when he published an article taking papal architects to task.

He claimed that the pontiff's wish to have such modern conveniences as a radio station, an electric plant, a governor's building and a new picture gallery has resulted in the demolition of old buildings that added materially to the Vatican City's beauty.

Nothing From New.

Furthermore, he said the new structures have added nothing.

He also complained of other changes, new architectural design and of the use of a portion of the Vatican gardens as a site for the new picture gallery.

To all this criticism the Vatican replies as follows:

One must take into account the enormous difficulties of space which had to be overcome and the necessity for new buildings as a result of the Vatican's acquiring independence.

One must remember, too, that the immediate surroundings of St. Peter's were in a terrible state when the Lateran treaties were signed February 11, 1929.

Repairs Kept Back.

Italo-Vatican relations previously prevented either the Vatican or the City of Rome from making the necessary repairs and improvements.

The Vatican says further that when the Pope requested plans for the new constructions he ordered first of all that the Vatican gardens should not be touched.

The pontiff said that the "city of souls" must remain intact in its religious atmosphere, and possibly be extended.

The new structures, therefore, fulfill the necessity of maintaining the church in the forefront of true and sane progress and of procuring independent means of communication.

Many Leaves Needed For Average Apple

Amherst, Mass, April 5 (U.P.).—From 50 to 70 leaves are required to produce the average apple of good quality.

This was shown by experiments conducted by the Massachusetts Agricultural College. Some summer or early varieties require only 30 to 40 leaves, it was found. The investigations were carried on with the idea of forming a basis for the thinning of apples.

Taxes Drive Tourists Off French Sleepers

Paris, April 5 (A.P.).—Tourists are being taxed off the French railroads, directors complain. Rates themselves are reasonable enough, but taxes on the tickets, they say, are exorbitant.

As an example, a sleeping car ticket from Paris to Montpellier, a distance of 522 miles, costs $14 additional to the first-class fare of $13.80. And $9 of this supplementary $14 is tax.

Johnson to Talk At American U.

Howard President Plans for Address Here Next Sunday.

Dr. Mordecai W. Johnson, president of Howard University, according to announcement made yesterday by Emory B. Smith, will speak at American University next Sunday, and is scheduled to speak a fortnight later in the chapel at the University of Chicago. He has addressed recently the National Council of Jewish Women in Cleveland, as well as the congregations of the New Riverside Church in New York, and Pennsylvania State College.

It was learned yesterday from William Stuart Nelson, assistant to Dr. Johnson, that an address by Norman Thomas, socialist candidate for President, which has been advertised for April 12 at the university, is not on the regular schedule, but the probable result of a desire of a group of students to confer with Mr. Thomas.

The conference desired by students, it is understood, is to clarify the demarcation between Communism and Socialism, as Thomas sees it, involving "concrete proposals for bringing plenty, peace and real freedom to America, not indeed without suffering or struggle, but without a suicidal and self-defeating degree of violence." The conference has attracted interest because of recent allegations of Communist agitation by the university president.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

HOW TO TELL WHEN LUKE HAS BEEN DRINKING.

("A child's toy balloon is recommended by Dr. Rolla N. Harger to detect alcoholism. The subject breathes into the balloon and the air is then bubbled through a chemical mixture. If the man has been drinking the liquid turns from red to white." News item.)

NO. 1—The Sand Pail Test. Take a child's sand pail. Let the person you suspect has been drinking breathe into the pail. Seal pail and place in a cold, dry place. If he has had more than one drink of modern day liquor the pail will quickly turn into a paper container and then blow away.

• • • •

No. 2—Baby's Bank Test. This is similar to the sand pail test but is preferable in a case where the subject has been drinking synthetic gin. Let the man blow into the bank through the coin slot. If he has been drinking straight gin the bank will crumble inside of half an hour. If he has had any of that Scotch "just offa boat" the pennies in the bank will also crumble.

• • • •

No. 3—Little Willie's Bicycle Tire Test. This is quite popular, as so few homes have toy balloons around the house. If you think pop has been hitting it up again get him to blow up Junior's tire with his breath. (Of course, if he does this without an argument, it will be pretty clear that he is even worse than you thought.) After pop has blown up the tire, place it with the bicycle in the front hall. If you hear an explosion presently, which blows the bicycle through the front parlor partition, you will know that your suspicions are correct.

• • • •

NO. 4—Punching Bag Test. Escort the suspect to the bag and ask him if he will please blow it up so the children can play. After this has been done give the bag one good punch. If the suspect has had one or more drinks the bag should continue to bounce for eight hours, hiccoughing all the time.

• • • •

No. 5—Stuffed Dog Test. After father has come home from the club looking a little jittered, put him to bed and place a stuffed dog or any other toy animal on the pillow beside him. If dad has had any of that stuff they sell as prewar liquor today the stuffed dog will not only get out of bed but walk out of the house.

• • • •

No. 6—Paper Bag Test. Highly recommended for its economy. If you suspect a man has been imbibing freely ask him to blow up an ordinary paper bag. Place a guinea pig inside the bag and seal it. Open the bag in ten seconds. If there is any trace of the guinea pig the suspect can't have been drinking much.

NOTRE DAME.

Next October when the players
Out at South Bend fight the foe
There will be a phantom presence
In the battle's ebb and flow;
In the pinches and the huddles
When the crisis is acute
They'll hear orders in a whisper—
And they'll know they came from Knute.

MANY are the good stories told of Rockne and his men, but this department's favorite is the classic crack made to one of the Four Horsemen. This man had been unable to gain against a certain opponent. "The trouble is," said Knute, "that feller doesn't know who you are. Go out there and show him your press clippings!"

SPRING SONG.

This ode to spring I gladly type—
So far you're just a load of tripe!

BETTY COMPTON, actress, who was married on February 16 and parted on February 20, got a divorce in Mexico March 20, it is announced, on grounds of cruelty, personal violence and failure to maintain. If just goes to show that a woman will find out everything about a man if you give her plenty of time.

There is nothing like giving marriage a fair trial, Miss Compton, even if it takes hours.

Dentists are to be limited to six quarts of liquor a year by the new prohibition rulings. But a dentist may be able to get more, obviously, if he has a pull.

The Folies Bergere, famed for its nudities, is to be brought to New York, where it will seem pretty old fashioned if not puritanical.

World Rotarians To Convene in May

Capital Delegation to Visit International Session at Harrisburg.

The thirty-fourth district conference of Rotary International, to be held at Harrisburg, Pa., May 3 to 5, is to be attended by a large delegation of Washington Rotarians, it was announced yesterday by Henry N. Brawner, jr., president of the Washington Rotary Club.

Dr. David E. Buckingham is in charge of arrangements for the Washington delegation. Distinguished guests at the conference will include Gov. Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania, and Mrs. Pinchot; Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland, State Senator Ridgely P. Melvin, of Maryland; Gen. Edward C. Shannon, lieutenant governor of Pennsylvania, and Mrs. Shannon.

Arthur W. Winter, Rotary governor of the thirty-fourth district, will preside at all sessions. Other Rotary officials participating will be Clinton P. Anderson, third vice president of Rotary International; Charles W. Boll, conference chairman, and Dr. Leonard P. Fox, president of the Harrisburg Rotary Club.

Man Found Poisoned; Condition Held Critical

Emergency Hospital physicians last night pronounced serious the condition of Fred W. Jones, 45, who was found yesterday in the basement of the Colorado Building, Fourteenth and G streets northwest, suffering from poisoning. He lives on C street near Twelfth northeast.

L. E. Jones, the victim's brother who lives at the same address, made the discovery and summoned the fire rescue squad. After being given first aid, Jones was removed to Emergency Hospital. Police said he had been despondent over family affairs.

Oberammergau to Be Subject.

Dr. Irving S. Ketchum will lecture before the Business Women's Council at the Church of the Covenant Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock on "A Visit to Oberammergau." Mr. Gordon Scoville will speak in the devotional hour.

Talk to Be Given By Billy Sunday

Evangelist's Address This Afternoon Will Be Against Saloons.

The Rev. William Ashley Sunday, familiarly known as "Billy," will deliver one of his characteristic sermons against the saloon this afternoon at First Congregational Church, Tenth and G streets northwest. He is one of the four main speakers who will participate in a campaign by the Antisaloon League and today's engagement opens his program which will close in Minneapolis April 23.

Cities and towns in Maryland, Delaware, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Ohio and Illinois will hear the evangelist before his trip comes to an end. The league's purpose in the drive is to check opposition to the eighteenth amendment and Volstead act.

Francis Scott McBride, superintendent; Mrs. Mary Harris Armour, W. C. T. U. official, of Atlanta, and Len Spence, of Toronto, an authority on the Canadian liquor system, are the other three principal speakers.

Children Endangered In Fire Test of Bunny

Curiosity on the part of some little children to see if "bunny's hair would burn" resulted in narrowly averted Easter tragedy yesterday when fire broke out at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Plummer, 483 Missouri avenue northwest.

Fire apparatus was summoned and the blaze was extinguished before much damage was done. None of the children was burned. They all satisfied their curiosity, however, that "bunny's" hair will burn. In fact, all of bunny was burned.

$36 Taken From Under Pillow.

While William B. Davis slept peacefully at a rooming house on Indiana avenue near Third street northwest early yesterday mornin, a sneak hand slipped beneath the pillow where his head rested and extracted $36 in bills. When Davis awoke several hours later he told police about it. The theft had occurred, he said, after 1 o'clock.
